77TH CONGRESS FACES STORM ON AID FOR BRITAIN

New Session Opens Tomorrow.

Speaker Rayburn.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1 (AP).—With President Roosevelt's plan for lending war equipment to Great Britain and the whole question of American policy toward the European conflict providing a seething controversy, the 77th congress will convene Friday.

Altho technically a new session, it actually will be a continuation of the one which began a year ago, approved the beginnings of the nation's huge defense program, enacted the conscription law, quarreled endlessly over the Roosevelt foreign policy, and, at the insistence of house Republicans and a few Democrats, refused to adjourn.

Friday's program will be brief and formal. It will consist of the administration of the oath of office to new members, the election of congressional officers, and notification of the President that the session has begun.

Roosevelt to Speak.

On Monday Mr. Roosevelt will address the congress in person in the house. His "fireside chat" of last Sunday outlined his views on aid to England in general terms, and many expect his speech to congress to go into the details on which he did not touch then—especially regarding the "lease-lend" plan for helping Britain.

While that will provide the central controversy of the session, the double-headed question of federal finances—taxes and appropriations—already has taken on enormous stature. There is to be a new tax bill, and there is much disagreement as to what it should contain. Probably any hard work on it will be postponed until the March 15 income tax returns can be inspected. House committees, however, will make a start on the appropriations at once.

Other Issues Impend.

Other issues familiar to recent congress sessions undoubtedly will arise. One group already is laying plans for an effort to enact the Walter-Logan bill, increasing court jurisdiction over such federal agencies as the labor board, the securities commission, and the communications commission. It was passed a month ago, but President Roosevelt vetoed it.

Another group is arguing for modifications of the Wagner labor relations act, altho recent appointments to the labor board have cost this group some adherents. And the house will be called on to decide, early in the session, whether the Dies committee on un-American activities is to be continued and how much money is to be set aside for its work. Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] wants a million dollars.

BRITISH CENSOR EXPLAINS JOB AS NEWS RATIONING

LONDON, Jan. 1.—The man who watches over British cables, telephones, mails, and the radio stepped before the microphones last night and told why and how he did it. He is C. J. Radcliffe, acting controler of the press.

He described the censorship as "the rationing of news." He insisted there was no intention to hide ugly facts from the people, that censorship's only aim was to bar information that might help the Nazis.

He asserted that if the government permitted the announcement of town names after every bombing "it would enable the enemy to correct errors in navigation and be more accurate the next time."

Mexican Villagers Battle; Six Killed, Several Injured

JALAPA, Mexico, Jan. 1 (AP).—Six persons were reported killed and several wounded in disorders today in the nearby village of Altotonga. One report said the city hall was fired in a clash between opposing political groups while another version said the building was fired by prisoners who staged a jailbreak. Firemen left here for Altotonga, which is in Vera Cruz state.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 1 [Special].—Dr. H. M. Bannen, Rockford's marrying parson, performed 101 marriage ceremonies during 1940. The number increased his total to 7,850 since he came here April 1, 1896, as pastor of Trinity Lutheran church. Only 878 marriage licenses were issued here during the year, making Dr. Bannen's average one out of every nine ceremonies performed in the county.

RESERVE BOARD URGES BAN ON DOLLAR RIGGING

Seeks Avoidance of Inflation Peril.

ANNUAL REVIEW.

The Tribune today publishes its annual business and financial review section. The economic prospects for 1941 are presented with a review of the events of the last year. The section includes tables giving the yearly range of prices on all the major security and commodity markets.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The federal reserve board in a special report made public last night asked for a complete overhauling of New Deal monetary and fiscal policies. A series of measures, including cancelation of the President's powers to devalue the dollar and to issue greenback currency, was recommended. The report declared that the measures are needed to provide adequate safeguards against inflation dangers.

The report was prepared jointly by the reserve board, the members of the federal advisory council, and the presidents of the 12 central banks of the reserve system. The initiative came from the members of the council and the bank presidents, it was learned. The conclusions set forth represent a complete reversal of policy by the reserve board which has been in disagreement for many years with its advisory council and the heads of many of the reserve banks.

The reserve board directs the policies of the reserve system and supervises the activities of member banks. Its members are appointed by the President. Most of the country's banks are members of the system. The 12 regional central banks of the system are subordinate to the board.

Expect Major Fiscal War.

The recommendations are expected to precipitate a major fiscal war within the ranks of the administration. The new powers sought by the reserve board would increase its authority at the expense of the treasury. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. conferred Tuesday in Washington with Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the reserve board. Morgenthau was reported to have tried unsuccessfully to get Eccles to soften some of the proposals. The suggested program is expected to start a major controversy in congress.

Directing attention to the inflationary danger in the greatly swollen supply of bank deposits and surplus bank reserves, the report declares that the reserve authorities are powerless to deal with the problem.

Six Proposed Measures.

The measures proposed to congress to meet the situation are:

1. Increase in the statutory reserves that banks are required to carry against their deposits. The present maximum reserve rate of 26 per cent of deposits required for banks in the largest cities would be increased to a possible 52 per cent at the discretion of the reserve board. Corresponding increases would be made in reserve requirements for banks in other groups. The requirements would be extended to apply to nonreserve member state banks.

[An explanation of how the proposed new reserve requirements would apply to various banks will be found on page 25.]

2. Remove the sources of further potential expansion in reserves by allowing the President's power to issue 3 billion dollars of greenbacks to lapse. Cancel existing authority for further monetization of foreign silver and the authority to issue silver certificates against the "written up" [seigniorage] value of existing silver stocks.

3. End the President's power to change further the gold value of the dollar by permitting the present authorization to lapse.

Keep New Gold from Reserves.

4. Take steps to prevent further imports of gold from expanding existing bank reserves and deposits. This step to be carried out "without interfering with any assistance that this country may wish to extend to friendly nations."

5. Finance the ordinary and defense requirements of the government by direct borrowing from the public instead of thru the sale of government securities to banks. The latter method, it was pointed out, is piling up additional bank deposits.

6. Take steps to balance the federal

New Year Auto Mishaps Kill 10 in Chicago Area

Ten persons were killed in automobile accidents in the Chicago area on the first day of the new year. This is three more than were killed on the first day of 1940.

The most spectacular accident was an apparent head-on collision of two automobiles on a straightaway section of River road at Foundry road, three miles north of Des Plaines. One car caught fire, and a passenger was burned beyond recognition. Three other men were severely injured.

Dies As Car Catches Fire.

Nick Pheisman, 25 years old, 3640 Newland avenue, was the victim burned to death. He was riding with Andrew Misch, 31, of 1947 North Maude avenue, who was driving north in River road. Misch's machine caught fire, and he was severely burned before he freed himself.

The other car was being driven south in River road by O. J. Rennemo, a restaurant owner of Janesville, Wis. Riding with Rennemo was Stewart Green of Janesville. Rennemo and Green were injured severely. All the injured are in Northwestern hospital in Des Plaines.

Two men were killed and another was injured critically in a collision on route 49, three miles south of Monee, in Will county. The dead were Edward Kozol, 26, of 519 Francis street, Joliet, and Loren Smith, 19, of Monee, drivers of the cars.

Lester Lenhert of Chicago, address unknown, who was riding with Smith, was taken to St. Mary's hospital in Kankakee in a critical condition. Five other persons riding with Kozol escaped injury.

2 Are Hit-Run Victims.

Two New Year's day deaths apparently were caused by hit and run drivers. A man identified as John F. Ryan, 62, of 827 Aldine avenue, was found dead in front of 900 North Ogden avenue. The body of Arthur C. Taylor, about 57, was found at 3:50 a. m. at Hoyne avenue and Lake street. Taylor, a plumber, lived at 1853 Washington boulevard.

Mrs. Lena Hart, 53, of 111 East Ridge road, Gary, died of injuries suffered in an accident at 46th street and the Outer drive. Her husband's car was involved in a minor accident with another car, and when Mrs. Hart walked between the cars, a third machine driven by Louis Blasingame, 4050 North avenue, struck the cars and crushed her.

Mrs. Edele Johnson, 40, of 6407 Ingleside avenue, was injured fatally when struck at 53d street and Cottage Grove avenue, by a car driven by Meyer Markowitz, 1145 Hyde Park boulevard.

Fred W. Owens, 50, of 10004 Prospect avenue, a civil engineer, was injured fatally when he was struck at 99th street and Beverly avenue by a car driven by John Sener, 6935 South Winchester avenue.

Fatally Hurt in Crash.

John Pochron, 24, of 733 West 117th street, a laborer, died of injuries suffered in a collision at 115th street and Ashland avenue. Carl Karpluk, 741 West 117th street, in whose car Pochron was riding, was injured. Four students riding in the other car, Horace York of White Heath, the driver; John Duvall and Max Hiett of Monticello, and Francis White of Champaign, were injured, York and Duvall seriously. The injured were taken to South End hospital.

Frank Kalilec, 20, who lives on rural route 1 near Hobart, Ind., was killed when a car in which he was riding turned over on East Fifth avenue in Gary. The driver was Stanley Sobryoski, who was unhurt.

The coroner's office listed nine automobile deaths in Cook county up to 4 p. m. yesterday for the first day of the year. However, it counted the names of those who died yesterday of injuries received in 1940. Among these was Lewis W. Goldsbury, 66, of 3801 Wisconsin avenue, Berwyn, who died in Edgewater hospital of injuries suffered Dec. 27. Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 198 persons were injured in Chicago to start the 1941 accident list.

BETTE DAVIS OF FILMS IS WED IN ARIZONA TO BOSTON BUSINESS MAN

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 1 (AP).—Bette Davis of the movies and Arthur Farnsworth, described by friends as a wealthy Boston business man, were married last night at Rimrock, Ariz., a Warner Studio spokesman said today.

The ceremony was performed at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Dart of Chicago. Mrs. Dart is the former Jane Bryan of the movies. Among the witnesses were Mrs. Ruth Davis, the star's mother, and her brother-in-law and her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pelgrem.

After the ceremony the couple left by automobile for an unannounced destination.

It was the second marriage for Miss Davis. In 1932 she was married to Harmon O. Nelson, orchestra leader. After a long separation they were divorced two years ago.

142 Die in Holiday Traffic; Average Week-End Toll 261

Traffic deaths for New Year's eve and New Year's day in the United States totaled at least 142, according to an Associated Press compilation last night. According to the National Safety council, the week-end average is 261.

Player Slugs Spectator at Hockey Game

Charles Y. Freeman Jr.

A hockey game between the Chicago Blackhawks and the Detroit Red Wings in Chicago Stadium almost precipitated a general fight last night when one of the Detroit players slugged a spectator, knocking him unconscious.

Hundreds of other spectators swarmed out on the ice and several started after the slugger, but he eluded them as Stadium ushers pushed the crowd back.

The victim of the attack was Charles Yoe Freeman Jr., a business man and son of the chairman of the board of the Commonwealth Edison company. The younger Freeman is a Princeton graduate. His wife is the former Miss Helen Marie Castle, and their marriage at the Fortnightly club in 1934 was an event of the social season.

Last of the 'Bad Men.'

Freeman's assailant was Giacamo [Jimmy] Orlando, known to his Detroit followers as the "last of hockey's bad men." Shortly after the brawl, a squad of police from the Warren avenue station, in charge of Sergt. James P. Florito, went to the Stadium with orders to arrest Orlando. By that time, however, he had disappeared.

The slugging of Freeman was the second disturbance of the night, in both of which Orlando figured. During the second period players on both teams engaged in a fistic free for all and several were knocked down.

The apparent cause of the scrap was Orlando's rough tactics in tripping Blackhawk players and in other ways interfering with their play. He was continuously booed by the more than 15,000 spectators.

Punch Ends Interchange.

As the game ended, Orlando skated over to the Warren avenue side of the Stadium. Freeman was standing just inside the hockey rail, separating the arena from the seats. The two men exchanged words, and the hockey player punched over the rail, and hit Freeman on the chin. The blow was struck without warning, according to Ivan D. Carlstrom, 2653 Milwaukee avenue, a witness.

Early today Lieut. Walter McGloon questioned Freeman at the latter's home at 1512 North Dearborn street. Freeman said he would not prefer charges.

TENSION GROWS AS VICHY AWAITS HITLER'S REPLY

VICHY, France, Jan. 1 (AP).—Tension noticeably increased in official circles tonight as the government awaited, amid rumors of ruptured negotiations, Adolf Hitler's reply to the proposals of Chief of State Henri Philippe Petain for limited French-German collaboration.

[A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Lisbon, Portugal, to London said negotiations between the two countries had been broken off, but this was not confirmed from other sources.]

The government met all reports with silence, and at Marshal Petain's New Year's reception of foreign diplomats there was no indication of new friction in the negotiations. But Petain did tell those assembled, "I am certain my country will resume its place among nations."

Parleys at Standstill.

Negotiations between Petain's government and Germany have been at a standstill since Naval Minister Jean Darlan took Petain's latest proposals to Hitler somewhere in occupied France on Christmas day.

A reply was not expected before Jan. 3, but the subsequent dead silence from the northeast has caused a flood of rumors in Vichy.

In informed quarters, however, a German move to occupy unoccupied France suddenly is not expected. Instead, these sources foresee a possible closing of the line of demarcation to cut communication between occupied and unoccupied France and thereby cut off food to occupied France except thru Germany.

Germany might use this situation to force establishment of a friendly government in Paris, possibly under the ousted vice premier, Pierre Laval, who is in Paris.

France Holds Two Trumps.

Offsetting the possible food weapon of Hitler is the question of what might become of the French fleet and what the colonies, particularly those in North Africa, might do. The fleet and most of the empire have sworn fealty to Petain, and in North Africa Gen. Maxime Weygand has at his command a sizable colonial army.

A few parts of the empire have joined Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" movement, which probably would join forces with Weygand if the Franco-German armistice were denounced by Hitler.

"Rupture" Is News to Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 1 (AP).—Informed persons said today that "nothing is known here" concerning a British report that negotiations between Germany and the Vichy government had been ruptured.

AND IT TAKES ALL KINDS OF PEOPLE TO MAKE A WORLD

Blair, Neb., Jan. 1 [Special].—This city of 3,275 doesn't understand why it has a reputation for strange happenings unless it is because of such occurrences as these last year:

A resident was buried in a suit he ordered for that purpose half a century ago.

A thief who stole Chet Heuerman's automobile noticed it contained a new washing machine. Later he saw the name Heuerman on a farm mail box, stopped, unloaded the machine, and let it roll into the yard of Heuerman's mother.

Lois Williams and Mary Payne abandoned golf when a ram discovered them intent on their game and knocked them down five times as they fled.

A hen in the Rev. J. D. Johnson's flock laid an egg nearly eight inches long, followed with one the length of Johnson's fingernail.

RAIDER VICTIMS TELL OF LIFE AS NAZI PRISONERS

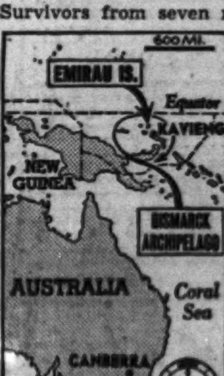
Disclose Additional Captives Still Held.

British to Quiz Japs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 1.—Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, British ambassador, has been instructed to make inquiries of the Japanese government concerning reports that German ships were being fitted out as sea raiders in Japanese ports.

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 1 (AP).—Survivors from seven merchant vessels sunk by German warships in the Pacific disclosed today that passengers and crew men from three other craft still were held captive by the raiders. Vivid stories of the weeks that they also were prisoners came from 496 survivors—including 70 women and seven children—brought to Australia after they were marooned Dec. 21 on the lonely island of Emirau.



Map locates island of Emirau.

They reported their treatment was good, but rations were short. The thunder of guns in fresh engagements, they said, came to them several times between decks.

Hoists German Flag.

Some survivors said the German raiders masqueraded under Japanese colors and names.

"The raider that captured us," said one of the rescued, "was steaming under the name Manyo Maru and was provisioned from a store ship under the name of Tokio Maru. Immediately before my ship was shelled, the raider hoisted the Nazi flag."

[Lloyd's Register of Shipping lists a 2,904 ton Japanese freighter Manyo Maru and two Japanese flag vessels named Tokio Maru, one a 6,486 ton freighter and the other a 903 ton tanker.]

The former captives, apparently put ashore because the Germans could not continue feeding them, were rescued four days later—on Christmas day—by an Australian ship.

Battle Before Surrender.

Those reported still held captive were the crews and passengers of the 9,691 ton British ship Turakina, the 7,203 ton Norwegian ship Ringwood, and the 2,489 ton Notou, a French ship.

The Turakina, armed with only one gun, fought 2½ hours before surrendering. It was reported 35 members of her crew of 58 were killed.

The seven sunken ships from which the survivors here were taken were the 16,712 ton Rangitane, the 6,378 ton Triadic, the 6,032 ton Triaster, the 4,413 ton Triona, the 3,900 ton Komata, and the 773 ton Holmwood, a schooner, all British, and the Norwegian merchantman Vinni of 5,181 tons.

Some Held Three Months.

The Holmwood's crew and passengers were under three months of floating captivity.

The passengers said the raider was "a floating fortress."

Crewmen of one ship became aware of danger, the survivors said they were told, only when a searchlight suddenly bathed their ship in light and shells began dropping around them. The Rangitane suffered "many casualties" when set ablaze by shellfire Nov. 26, they said.

Food staples for the prisoners were listed as black bread, raw bacon, and sausage. In one case, it was said, 132 prisoners were held beneath a single hatch for three days with only a pot of rice to share for their breakfast.

Captains and crew men among the survivors told of being threatened with death if they were again taken by the Germans from armed ships. After being landed on Emirau, an island of the Bismarck archipelago 1,650 miles southeast of the Philippines, the survivors obeyed a warning from the captors to delay for 24 hours any attempt to reach Kavieng, in the mandated territory of New Guinea.

FIRE BOMBS HIT BRITAIN IN FIRST AIR RAIDS OF '41

British Tell of Daylight Attack on Germans.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Jan. 2, Thursday (AP).—The British air force last night "heavily attacked targets at Bremen, Germany, and invasion ports in enemy occupied territory," an official announcement said today.

LONDON, Jan. 2, Thursday (AP).—Nazi "fire planes" returned to the attack late last night after a bombless British New Year's, dropping incendiary bombs in East England.

London had its first two alarms of 1941 during the night hours, breaking a calm undisturbed since the city's bath of fire Sunday night.

No damage was reported immediately from the fire bombs in the eastern England localities.

Two high explosive bombs dropped in one London district, causing some casualties. After a long period of quiet, the clear signal sounded about 2 a. m. Then the raiders roared back about 5 a. m., shortly after dawn.

Raiders cruised over Liverpool, other Merseyside cities, and in the Midlands for several hours, dropping some bombs. No antiaircraft fire was heard but night fighting planes were believed to have operated against the Germans.

British Story of Raids.

The British last night announced a series of daylight raids against Nazi targets which neutral observers regarded as daring and significant blows.

Attacks on Tuesday on selected objectives from the nearby Dutch coast to the Rhineland were disclosed by the air ministry to have been carried out with the loss of only two planes.

Neutral sources said this accomplishment—on the last day of 1940—indicated not only the growing strength of British bomber squadrons but the ability of new long range fighters to protect a striking force far from home airdromes.

The air ministers, listing the RAF's targets during the daylight hours on Tuesday, said bombs were seen to hit a factory at the Rhineland city of Cologne; that an antiaircraft ship [something new in German coastal defense, apparently] was put out of action off the Dutch port of Flushing and that the docks at Ijmuiden and objectives at Rotterdam, The Netherlands, were attacked.

Also "an important bridge" near Emmerich, on the right bank of the Rhine, was bombed and demolished, official sources stated, and an airdrome building at Haamstede, on the Dutch island of Schouwen was damaged.

Attack Merchant Vessels.

BERLIN, Jan. 1 (AP).—An attack by German warplanes on British naval and merchant ships off England's east coast in which several of the British vessels were damaged was reported tonight by DNB, official German news agency.

RAID ITALIAN SEA BASE

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 1 (AP).—In a series of raids over a vast area extending from lower Italy to the southernmost gate of the Red sea, British pilots have bombed half a dozen vital points in the Fascist war machine, the Royal Air Force announced today.

This aerial offensive began Monday night and continued thruout Tuesday, the British said.

Bombs Burst Near Fleet.

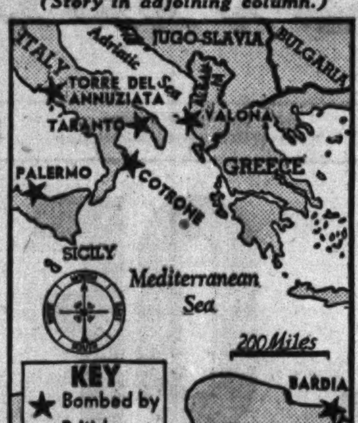
Targets of Bombs

(Story in adjoining column.)



Widespread British bombing raids in the Mediterranean area struck at Albania, Libya, and southern Italy.

At Taranto—the Italian naval base where the British claimed to have crippled half of the nation's six battleships, as well as four other warships, on Armistice day—11 bombs were seen to burst around the units of the Italian fleet anchored there.

Palermo harbor, in Sicily, was attacked. The southern Albanian port of Valona—chief port of Italian supplies in the campaign against Greece—was bombed for the 23d time.

Naples assaulted, as well as the suburb of Torre Annunziata, along with a chemical factory at Crotone.

Bardia Under Shelling.

From headquarters at the siege lines of Bardia, the British announced their patrols were operating regularly 75 miles inside of Libya.

BOMBS DROPPED ON IRELAND BY MYSTERY PLANE

DUBLIN, Ireland, Jan. 1 (AP).—An airplane of unidentified nationality tonight dropped bombs in County Meath, near Drogheda, 30 miles north of Dublin. First reports indicated there was no damage.

In the most recent attack on Ireland, whether intentional or accidental, an unidentified raider on Dec. 20 dropped two bombs on Dun Laoghaire, a suburb of Dublin, and in Monaghan county. Bombs also have fallen at other points in Ireland.

Nazis Past Peak of Success, Polish Exile Chief Asserts

LONDON, Jan. 1.—The Polish nation was called upon today to stand by, "for the dawn is already nigh, as Germany has traversed the peak of her success," in a broadcast made here today by Gen. Wladislaw Sikorski, Polish prime minister and commander in chief in exile.

LONDON ORDERS WRECKING OF FIRE DAMAGED WALLS

Army Engineers to Blast Many Buildings.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 1.—Hundreds of army engineers today were drafted into the City area [the financial district] with instructions to dynamite buildings in danger of collapse as a result of Sunday night's fire and to hasten a greater cleanup.

Military surveyors, the City engineer, and representatives of the London county council toured the area devastated by German incendiary bombs to list the properties to be blasted.

"Hundreds of premises are in ruins," demolition experts reported. "Some of them are dangerous and have to be dynamited. Even the ruins of famous churches and other noted buildings will have to come down speedily in the interest of safety."

Control Entry to Area.

Police guarded barriers to damaged City streets and refused entry to all workers and executives except those with special permits. Some who had worked in partly wrecked offices and warehouses yesterday were refused entry without special permission. Hundreds of workers and executives were lined up outside the permit bureau at 8:30 a. m., but the authorities did not begin to issue passes until 10 a. m.

An ironic feature of Sunday's fire was the destruction of a large quantity of silk stockings in wholesale stores. Official regulations prohibited the release of silk stockings for the home market after Dec. 1 altho retailers were clamoring for supplies.

Volunteer Fire Watchers.

Conscription of civilians for fire watching service, announced by Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison yesterday, will not be put into effect immediately, it was stated. Instead, air raid wardens thruout the country began a drive for volunteers. Wardens were asking each family to provide at least one fire bomb fighter. Volunteers will be trained to use stirrup pumps or sand for extinguishing incendiary bombs.

The government is devising a scheme to extend to small firms the fire watchers order already compulsory for businesees employing more than 30 workers.

A suggestion that fire relics from famous buildings in London be salvaged and sold in the United States to aid the British war effort was made in the press tonight. A "vox pop" writer in the London Star declared, "Americans would welcome the opportunity of paying high prices to possess such relics."

British Civil Planes Fly 5,000,000 Miles During '40

LONDON, Jan. 1.—British civil aircraft flew 5,000,000 miles and carried nearly 30,000,000 airmail letters during 1940, it was announced today. Thruout an unfavorable winter season, civilian schedules of 100,000 miles weekly were covered by flying boats and land planes of the British airways.

FRENCH 'STAY IN,' BUT WAS IT DONE FOR DE GAULLE?

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 1 (AP).—The first "stay in" test of the strength of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's "Free French" movement in occupied and unoccupied France passed today without a clear decision.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

For a week De Gaulle broadcast appeals to Frenchmen to remain indoors between 3 and 4 p. m. in occupied France, and 2 and 3 p. m. in unoccupied France, as a "protest" of sympathy for the "Free French" movement.

Streets were bare almost everywhere in both zones as the hour passed, but whether this bespoke a Frenchman's thoughts of De Gaulle and his movement or simply the day after the night before, when a Frenchman's fancy fondly turns to thoughts of a New Year's dinner and rest, could not be determined.

SMUTS PREDICTS UNITED STATES WILL ENTER WAR

Gen. Jan C. Smuts.

LONDON, Jan. 1 (AP).—Gen. Jan C. Smuts, prime minister of the Union of South Africa, in a New Year's message to the world published today in London, predicted United States intervention in the war and said it was "necessary for victory."

"Deeply as America desires to keep out of this war, they will find the necessity laid upon them and in the last resort they will not let freedom perish from the earth," said Smuts, soldier veteran of the world war.

"I feel assured that American intervention is necessary for victory and for the peace which has to be shaped thereafter."

Churchill Greets Turks.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Jan. 1 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain said today in a New Year's message to the Turkish people that "in times of stress it is a blessing to have good friends and during these hard months that have gone by we have been fortunate in having the unwavering friendship of Turkey."

Reviewing the last year, Churchill said the British were faced with "grievous trials."

"There were moments when even our best friends doubted our ability to pull thru," he said. "Few still harbor such doubts—no one among the British people."

King Cheers Danes.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 1 (AP).—In a New Year's radio address, King Christian X. paid tribute to those few who lost their lives when Germany occupied Denmark last April and expressed hope for a better future.

"Only the confidence demonstrated in me by my people empowers me to uphold my tasks for the common benefit," he added.

"Prominent in my mind are the populations of the Faroe Islands, Iceland, and Greenland with whom we presently are disconnected. May God bless Denmark, the Faroe Islands, Iceland, and Greenland.

Pledges Freedom for Swiss.

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 1 (AP).—President Ernest Wetter promised his people in a New Year's inaugural broadcast today that Switzerland's 650 year old tradition of independence would be preserved thru "the dark future." The new president asserted that the neutral Swiss must suffer with the belligerents in the European war, since world economy was upset by the conflict.

Increased production and a careful economy, he said, offer the solution for Switzerland's problems. The federal council which governs the Swiss federation founded by the men of the forest cantons in 1291, he added, "can and will see to it that the burdens are equally divided."

Envoys Do Snake Dance.

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 1 (AP).—American and British ambassadors and high officials of the German and Italian embassies joined Chinese leaders today in a snake dance which welcomed 1941, the Zodiac calendar snake year, and for the Chinese symbolized their hope to return their government to Nanking before the year is ended. The festivities took place in Chungking's largest hotel.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek said in a speech broadcast to China and the United States that "1941 will be the final, decisive year in which China will fulfill her destiny in the present struggle against Japanese aggression."

Faces Operation

CAROLE LOMBARD.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 1 (AP).—Movie Actress Carole Lombard will undergo a minor operation tomorrow at Johns Hopkins hospital. She entered the hospital Monday with her husband, Clark Gable, who said at that time he would have an injured shoulder examined. Miss Lombard said the operation was decided upon after a general physical checkup.

BRITAIN EXTENDS BLOCKADE RULES TO IRISH EXPORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 1.—The ministry of economic warfare today announced the extension, effective on Jan. 22, of new navicert restrictions on Irish exports to Spanish, Portuguese and most of the French colonies in Africa, including the islands of Madagascar and Reunion. It indicated the success of Gen Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" movement has been less than was hoped for.

Navicerts also will be necessary for shipments to Syria, Spanish and Portuguese Guinea, Liberia, the Tangier zone, Morocco, Spain, including the Balearic islands, Turkey, Greece, Bulgaria, Jugo-Slavia, Hungary, Rumania, Switzerland, Finland, and Sweden. Any goods not covered by navicerts after this date are liable to seizure as contraband.

The navicert system was not introduced for Ireland before because "most Irish goods were sent thru Britain." However, it was made known sometime ago that all French territory declaring for Gen. De Gaulle would be allowed to import an unlimited amount of goods.

[Navicerts are documents issued by British authorities certifying that shipments have been approved for passage thru the British navy's blockade.]

"Customers" Sip Drinks, Then Rob Bartender of $95

Two men entered the Corona restaurant, 531 Rush street, last night and ordered "beers" from Charles Terris, 1336 North Austin boulevard, Oak Park, the bartender. They sat at a table, sipping quietly for a while. As they got up to pay the bill, they drew revolvers from their pockets and forced Terris to surrender $95 from the till. Half a dozen patrons seated at their tables were not aware of the robbery.

Reports Stalin Broadcast: Reds 'Totally Mobilized'

LONDON, Jan. 2, Thursday (AP).—The London Daily Mail reported early today it had picked up a radio broadcast by Josef Stalin, the Russian dictator in which he declared "Russia is ready for every eventuality and for this purpose is in a state of total mobilization."

[The broadcast was not reported from any other source.]

CHICAGO DRAFT BOARDS CALL UP 160 TOMORROW

56 of Group Volunteer for Army Service.

One hundred sixty men in nine Chicago draft board areas have been notified to report tomorrow for induction into the army. They are to report at 234 East Chicago avenue. Fifty-six are volunteers and 104 are draftees. This is the largest group of draftees called from Cook county since the draft law went into effect.

The men are the first of a group of 2,600 Cook county residents to be called into the army for their first year of training this month. The January call will take 4,739 from Illinois.

Red Cross Appointee

MISS ETHEL BENSON.

The appointment of Miss Ethel Kay Benson as acting director of the Junior Red Cross in Cook and Du Page counties and the southern half of Lake county was announced yesterday by James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross. The area under Miss Benson's direction embraces 811 public, private and parochial schools with a total enrollment of 524,004 pupils. Miss Benson, a native of Kansas and a graduate of the state university there, has been instrumental in building up Chicago's suburban Red Cross membership from 15,223 six years ago to 58,225 today. She succeeds Alfred G. Wardley, who has been assigned to direct disaster relief operations in Texas.

Slight Earthquakes Felt in 2 Pacific Coast Cities

El Centro, Cal., Jan. 1 (AP).—An earthquake of slight intensity lasting about three seconds was felt today. There was no damage. Reports from Tacoma, Wash., said a distinct jar, as if from a mild earthquake, also was felt there.

BLACK HORSE SQUADRON OFF TO CAMP TODAY

Chicago's Black Horse squadron of the Illinois National Guard will leave by train at 2 p. m. today for Camp Livingston, La., where the men will begin a year's training. The 19 officers and 409 men, commanded by Maj. Roy D. Keehn Jr., will march from the armory at 230 East Chicago avenue to the Dearborn street station, where they will join four other units of the 106th cavalry regiment of which the squadron is a part. The other units departing are the regimental band, the veterinary and medical sections, and the service troop of the Urbana unit. The regiment was inducted into federal service Nov. 25, but departure for Camp Livingston was delayed because the camp was not completed.

SHORT RATIONS—BUT PEACE—SEEN FOR FINNS IN '41

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland [By Mail]. —Altho Finland's needs comprise a long list, present developments indicate the country will have a quiet winter. There will be short rations but no starvation, and there is no indication that trouble will develop in Finnish-soviet relations.

Fruits and dairy products are particularly scarce. Many of Finland's dairy farms were located in the Karelian area taken over by Russia and when the farmers attempted to move their cattle as the region was given up many animals died from the hardships of travel. City children get one liter [1.056 quarts] of milk a day and adults only one quarter of that amount. Laborers receive larger allowances than office workers.

Coal is extremely scarce. Railroads are burning wood. Illuminating gas is being made from wood. A few persons are operating their automobiles with gas generated from charcoal burners mounted on trailers. These cost about $700. Buses also use the charcoal burners. A small amount of gasoline is rationed and even taxicabs are allowed only a limited supply.

Soap Difficult to Obtain.

Soap and other fat products are among the most difficult items for the Finns to obtain. The soap ration is a quarter of a kilogram [about .55 of a pound] for about three months. Little coffee is available.

Crops were poor last summer since troops were discharged too late in the spring for the men to plant their farms. As a result, little hay, oats, and rye were harvested. Because the sun shines only briefly in the summer in Finland, cod liver oil is one of Finland's greatest necessities to make up for the shortage of vitamin-rich foods.

See No Unemployment Problem.

Unemployment is about normal and no employment problem is expected because of the new work projects under way.

The readjustment period after the war brought new demands, however. Much extra labor was needed for forest work because wood fuel had to be cut up to make up for the shortage of coal and coke imports. The public works program also absorbed many workers, particularly those from the ceded territory, and, with the government's colonization scheme well under way, there has been further employment in this field.

C. I. O. WARPLANE PLAN DECLARED IMPRACTICABLE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1 (AP).—The Reuther plan for utilizing automotive industry facilities to turn out 500 warplanes a day was termed impracticable today by defense production experts.

The plan, calling for use of idle automobile plants and machinery to step up aircraft production, was fathered by Walter Reuther, director of organization for the C. I. O.'s United Automobile Workers in General Motors plants.

Defense experts, who declined to be quoted by name, listed these obstacles: Difficulty of obtaining machine tools, new or old; impossibility of obtaining sufficient aluminum products; automobile plants already are assigned to production of thousands of engines and other parts for 3,600 bombers, and lack of immediate armament for so many planes.

Police Question Hospital Patient About Wounds

John Landi, 36 years old, 830 South Oakley boulevard, was in the Walther Memorial hospital last night, suffering from wounds in the right chest and right arm caused by a single bullet. He told Lieut. Walter McGloon of the Warren avenue station that he was shot by a stranger at Madison street and Ashland boulevard. Police are investigating his story.

DISCOVERS FIRE; DIES OF SHOCK.

Matthew J. Foley, 50 years old, of 4705 Malden avenue, a former clerk for the late Circuit Judge David M. Brothers, died of a heart attack Tuesday night a few minutes after he discovered a small fire in an apartment at 4501 Malden avenue.

Get Navy Wings

John P. Irish.

William S. Hardie.

Two Chicago youths—William Stanley Hardie, 1642 North Harding avenue, and John Parker Irish, 5725 Ridge avenue—have been graduated from the United States naval flying course at Pensacola, Fla., the navy department announced yesterday. Irish is a graduate of the University of Illinois. Hardie attended Wright Junior college before becoming an aviation cadet. Both men have completed a year's training and have 400 hours of flying to their credit. They are now awaiting call to active duty in the United States fleet, the announcement said.

PRO-NAZI RULES IN BULGARIA AS PREMIER LEAVES

Bogdan Philoff.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 1 (AP).—Bulgaria's premier, Bogdan Philoff, with a powerful German army expanding in Rumania, dashed off to Vienna today "for his health," leaving the pro-Nazi minister of the interior, Peter Giabovsky, to act as premier in his absence.

Philoff's trip was described officially as for medical consultation, but some observers believed his chief object was to learn what Adolf Hitler plans to do with Nazi troops in the Balkans and what part Bulgaria would be asked to play.

JAPS CAN COPE WITH U. S., SAYS NAZI AGENCY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—DNB, the German official news agency, tonight declared Japan will be able to cope with the United States.

After stating that Germany bears no ill will toward America and that the hostile policy of the United States government toward Germany is not shared by the American people, DNB added:

"Besides our enemy, England, the official policy of the United States is opposed to the axis powers. This condition and the resulting circumstances can be fully coped with by the Japanese empire, which is linked to the axis by a military alliance and the three power pact."

GUARD BORNEO'S RICH OIL FIELDS AGAINST JAP RAID

See Blow in Indies There Instead of at Java.

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 1.—If Japan should make any assault upon the Netherlands East Indies, strategists here believe the initial attack would not be made against Java, but upon Borneo, with Balik Papan, center of oil refining and shipping, as the first objective.

Dutch authorities there are continuing their defense preparations. The straits of Macassar between Borneo and Celebes are under constant patrol of small gunboats and minelayers, while planes daily scout the seas in a radius of 400 miles to guard against any surprise invasion.

Balik Papan is more heavily mined than Batavia or Macassar. Its minefields extend miles into the sea and the safety channel is frequently changed. The approaches have been made so hazardous that all vessels entering or leaving are preceded by mine sweepers. The port is open only between 6 a. m. and 3 p. m.

Many Japanese Seized.

The prison at Balik Papan already holds several score Japanese and several hundred others have been transported to Java prisons. These men, in the guise of fishermen, were found in forbidden waters. Many boats have been confiscated and entire crews swiftly convicted.

There was a scare this month when a Japanese tanker arrived seeking a cargo of fuel oil. It was found to have a crew of more than 500, all naval cadets. The commander claimed they were making a training cruise. Despite a protest not a person was permitted to land. The tanker was hastily supplied and escorted outside the minefields.

Oil Production Declines.

The Royal Dutch Shell Oil company has invested millions of guilders here and owns considerable property. Pipelines lead to three fields in the interior. One is 70 miles long and goes into the heart of the jungle. Most of the oil plants are located inland, on the side of a long hilly point projecting between the ocean and the bay. The bay, stretching almost 50 miles inland, has admirable anchorages and is suitable for a large fleet of flying boats. Guarding the harbor's entrance are antiaircraft and long range artillery, but the principal defenses are mines and aircraft.

Production in Borneo's oilfields is declining, but the refineries are so capable that Dutch and British tankers bring immense cargoes of crude oil to Balik Papan, from Sumatra and other fields in the archipelago.

Here, as elsewhere thruout the Dutch East Indies, all the docks, refineries, pipe lines, and oil wells are mined so they can be destroyed to keep them from falling into Japanese hands.

CHARGE JAPS' POLICE INJURED 4 AMERICAN MARINES AFTER ROW

Col. Allen H. Turnage.

PEKING, China, Jan. 1 (AP).—Col. Allen H. Turnage, commander of United States marines here, today was understood to be preparing to demand a formal apology from the Japanese for asserted maltreatment of five marines after a cabaret fracas.

United States officials declared that all five were held 17 hours and that four were injured by Japanese gendarmes.

The American version was this:

The five were arrested in the cabaret shortly before midnight Monday by gendarmes who threatened all marines present with pistols and swords and refused admission to the cabaret to marine military police.

The five marines declared they were insulted and threatened in the cabaret by armed and drunken civilians.

Lisbon Ousts London Times Man Who Charged Nazi Plot

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 1 (AP).—Walter E. Lucas, Lisbon correspondent of the Times of London, was ordered last night to leave the country within 48 hours because of the government's objection to a series of articles he wrote entitled "In Portugal Hitler Schemes Against Britain."

BELIEVE BRITISH HAVE A DETECTOR FOR NIGHT FLYERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1 (AP).—Military men today expressed the belief that the British have developed a way to equip their warplanes with a detector for locating enemy aircraft in the dark.

Ground detectors of that nature have been in use in Britain for some time and informed sources here said the statement of Air Marshal Sir Hugh Dowding at Ottawa earlier this week that the menace of enemy night bombers would be greatly reduced sometime this spring indicated the device had been adapted for instalation in royal air force planes.

"It's just a repetition of the old military maxim that for every new weapon there is always a defense developed," one official said. "The question is whether the British can develop the defense in time."

Dowding said the necessary equipment for Britain's new defense was being completed rapidly and by spring would remove the "whole weight and sting" of the German night bombers.

An adventure in NEW SHOES

How to find the style and value you want.

Square heels, terraced toes, lever heels, butterfly bows, sideswept fastenings, harlequin holes, fiddle wedges, and tongue-ends rolled—these are only a few of the interesting details which make shoe shopping such an interesting adventure this season. Where can you buy the shoes which offer the most style and value? Women find it pays to follow the offerings in the Chicago Tribune, which prints more women's shoe advertising than any two other Chicago newspapers combined. Regardless of what you want to pay for shoes, you can be sure you will miss no worthwhile style or value when you follow the shoe ads in the Chicago Tribune.

BUND TROOPERS' RUTHLESS CREED EXPOSED BY DIES

Bare Manual Seized in Kunze's Effects.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1.—The military character of the uniformed section of the German-American bund was revealed in detail today in the publication of the unit's official confidential manual by the Dies committee on un-American activities.

The manual, translated from the German, proves conclusively, according to the committee, that the bund is an absolutely militarized organization, patterned after the ruthless military setup which characterized Hitler's machine in Germany.

The manual was obtained by the committee in a seizure of the personal effects of William Kunze, national fuehrer of the German-American bund, since the imprisonment of the former leader, Fritz Kuhn. It was made public with a view toward apprising the American people of the un-American character of the bund, the committee said.

Demands Complete Loyalty.

The translation of the manual runs some 10,000 words and details every step of the organization, uniform, insignia, creed, and drill of the orderly service [ordnung dienst] of the bund.

The manual shows the absolute loyalty demanded of the bund storm troopers—a loyalty similar to that exacted of their German counterpart by Hitler and which comes before all else and extends down to the minutest details of the life of the individual trooper.

"The OD man must understand," the manual states, "that from the day on which he became clad in the robes of honor of the OD, renouncing all personal considerations, he became a defender of our movement and its fuehrers against all subversive and destructive movements from within or without.

"The OD man guarantees the assurance, at the risk of his life if necessary, that our movement will continue to remain the relentless opponent of Jewish Marxism and the uncompromising champion of everything that constitutes American-Germanic, even tho such a course might be regarded as improper by any group within the bund.

Must Become Fanatic.

"Whoever is not possessed of this unshakable faith and whoever cannot go along as a fanatic crusader has no place in the OD; for to have accepted the national socialistic concept of international relations means to have abandoned absolutely all associations with liberalistic half measures.

"The OD man of vision will gladly undergo any hardship that will make him stronger than his enemies. The weak and lazy will go to perdition; he who would assert his right to life must be a contender who can be severe even with himself.

"Therefore no OD man in our ranks should expect to be indulged. We do not want men to join us for their personal advantage or for the purpose of becoming society soldiers."

Body of Napoleon's Son Is Moved

ROCKEFELLER HEIR TO ENLIST IN ARMY AS A BUCK PRIVATE

New York, Jan. 1 (AP).—Winthrop Rockefeller, 28 years old, grandson and heir of the late John D. Rockefeller, confirmed today reports that he would enlist in the army.

Winthrop Rockefeller.

Winthrop, one of five sons of John D. Rockefeller Jr., said he expected to wind up his affairs in the foreign department of the Socony Vacuum company by Jan. 15 and enlist shortly thereafter as a buck private at $21 a month. He said he had chosen to join for the one year period in voluntary selective service.

TURKS NAB RING COUNTERFEITING BRITISH NOTES

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Jan. 1.—A gang of counterfeiters suspected of a political plot to debase British currency in the Balkans has been rounded up by Turkish police.

No less than 150,000 pounds sterling worth of the British currency, which is said to have been brought into Turkey from Italy, is alleged to have been passed in Istanbul alone.

An unidentified member of the staff of a South American legation was among a score of persons arrested.

ITALIANS PUSHED BACK IN REGION OF LAKE OCHRIDA

Terrific Cold, Snow Slow Down the Fighting.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE GREEK ARMY ON THE NORTHERN FRONT, Jan. 1.—The Greeks today pushed back the Italians at several points in the Lake Ochrida area in heavy patrol actions.

The front line of this area has changed almost imperceptibly in the last couple of weeks because of the terrific cold. The troops are fighting under conditions similar to those of the Finnish war and Macedonia is not so accustomed to the cold as Finland. There are three feet of snow on the rugged mountains along the front and temperatures are never above freezing for many days and often 20 degrees below.

Frostbite is producing more casualties among the Greek troops than are the Italians.

Forts Outside Tepeleni Fall.

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 1 (AP).—Stemming fierce Italian counterattacks, the Greeks were reported tonight to have captured an elaborate fortification line outside Klisura and to have turned back a tank assault along the coastal road to the Albanian port of Valona.

Weigh Possible Outcomes.

BITOLJ, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 2, Thursday (AP).—The struggle by Italian troops to hold their lines around the southwest Albanian port of Valona and Elbasan, about 60 miles northeast, probably holds the key to the fate of the entire Albanian campaign, neutral observers asserted today.

In these quarters the outcome of the battle now going on in the snow mantled mountain peaks of southern Albania is considered so far a tossup. While the Greeks still are keeping the initiative, the Italians—aided by arctic weather conditions—are reported here as putting up their best resistance since the Greek counteradvance began.

The Fascist stand around Tepeleni, 30 miles southeast of Valona, and Klisura, about 12 miles east of Tepeleni, especially has given ground for the belief of some here that the Italians may succeed in staving off the disaster which threatened a few weeks ago.

Possible Last Stand Seen.

If the present fighting goes against the Italians and Greek troops occupy Valona and Elbasan, military experts said they expected the Italians to make a last stand in central Albania on a shortened line between Tirana, the Albanian capital, and Durazzo, strategic port west of Tirana.

The Italian command was said to be confident its forces would be able to hold that line and thus would not be obliged to face an Albanian Dunkerque at San Giovanni di Medua, tiny northern port.

The battle for Valona, it was believed here, will decide whether the Italians ever again can hope to resume the offensive. So long as the Fascists are able to hold the Valona-Elbasan line it was considered strategically possible for them to reorganize for a fresh attack in the spring.

If they are forced to withdraw on the Tirana-Durazzo line they could entertain scant hope of regaining the initiative. The problem of supplying the army thru Durazzo, subject to frequent air attacks, would in itself preclude any further large scale Italian operations, competent observers said.

There was some speculation on the possibility that the British might eventually attempt to send an expeditionary force to reënforce the Greeks in Albania with the object of establishing a Balkan front for the invasion of central Europe, similar to that carried out from Salonika, Greece, during the world war.

Wallace Gets Plan for U. S. to Accept Spanish Refugees

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 1—(AP).—A United States embassy spokesman said today that Henry A. Wallace, United States vice president elect, had expressed interest in a proposal to place Spanish Republican refugees in American schools and colleges as Spanish language teachers. The proposal was made by Indalecio Prieto, former minister of defense for Republican Spain, who visited Wallace yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace intend to fly to San Antonio, Tex., tomorrow.

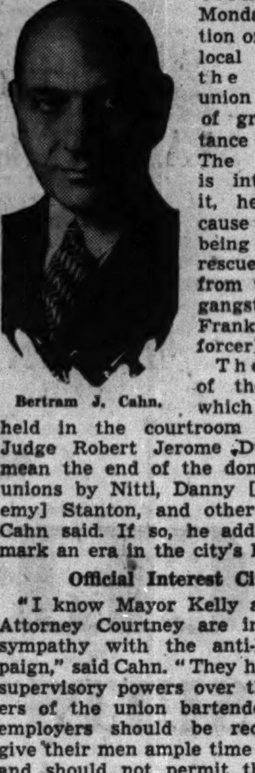
CRIME FOE SAYS BAR UNION VOTE VITAL TO CHICAGO

Cahn Hails Fight to End Gang Domination.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Chicago crime commission, yesterday termed next Monday's election of officers by local No. 278 of the bartenders' union an event of great importance to the city. The commission is interested in it, he said, because of the fight being made to rescue the union from the grip of gangsters led by Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti.



Bertram J. Cahn.

The outcome of the election, which is to be held in the courtroom of Circuit Judge Robert Jerome Dunne, may mean the end of the domination of unions by Nitti, Danny [Public Enemy] Stanton, and other criminals, Cahn said. If so, he added, it will mark an era in the city's history.

Official Interest Cited.

"I know Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney are in complete sympathy with the anti-Nitti campaign," said Cahn. "They have license supervisory powers over the employers of the union bartenders. These employers should be requested to give their men ample time off to vote and should not permit them to be coerced."

The union has been under a court receivership since last August following charges by George B. McLane, business agent of the organization, that Nitti, Stanton, Murray Humphreys, and other criminals had become its rulers. Later McLane refused to testify against Nitti in the criminal court and asked Judge Dunne to dismiss the receivership, saying Nitti had "given the union back" to him. Judge Dunne declined.

Claims Gang Is On Run.

"Mayor Kelly and the state's attorney have had the Nitti gang on the run since they coöperated in shutting down the gang's gambling houses," Cahn said. "The bartenders' union election offers a splendid opportunity for dealing the death blow to the gang. The crime commission will help the authorities in any way possible."

Austin Steeves, leader of the anti-Nitti faction of union bartenders, said his group would open campaign headquarters today. They haven't the money to conduct a "saloon campaign" as their opponents are doing, he explained. Such a campaign, he said, involves making the rounds of taverns and buying drinks in each.

The expenditures of the union candidates sponsored by McLane have been brought to the attention of Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney. The prosecutor said a grand jury investigation may follow the election because of reports that liquor dealers and brewery representatives are being forced to contribute to the McLane campaign.

The grand jury also may be asked to investigate the withdrawal of several anti-Nitti candidates in the union election, it was said, to determine if promises, inducements, violence, or threats had anything to do with their decisions.

It was agreed by all anti-Nitti groups, however, that the most important tasks facing them in the next few days is to spread the word that police protection and court supervision of the election will be sufficient to insure secrecy as well as safety, and to make certain that all of the 3,500 eligible members vote next Monday. The hours of voting are from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. and the ballots will be marked in booths set up in Judge Dunne's courtroom, 741 County building.

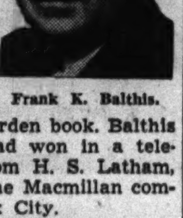
PARK GARDENING EXPERT AWARDED $1,000 BOOK PRIZE

Frank K. Balthis, Chicago park district horticulturist, was notified yesterday that he had been awarded a prize of $1,000 for the manuscript of a new book called "Plants in the Home."



Frank K. Balthis.

The manuscript, containing 60,000 words was submitted in a competition limited to authors who never before had published a garden book. Balthis was notified he had won in a telephone message from H. S. Latham, vice president of the Macmillan company of New York City.

Balthis has been with the park district 12 years. He was born in Des Moines, Ia. He studied gardening at the Missouri Botanical Gardens in St. Louis, Mo., and for 17 years was ground and building superintendent at the Teachers' college at DeKalb. His office is in the Garfield Park conservatory.

Train Plunges Over Cliff Into Pacific; Three Killed

Del Mar, Cal., Jan. 1 (AP).—The locomotive and 17 cars of a Santa Fe freight train plunged over a 150 foot embankment near here last night. Three trainmen were killed. The engine and nine cars piled up on the beach, and eight cars catapulted into the ocean. The dead: Glen A. Dunham, the engineer; C. W. Waldon, fireman, and H. A. Williams, head brakeman, all of Los Angeles. The San Diegan, a two section streamliner bound from Los Angeles to San Diego, was halted here.

BARES SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS FOR DEFENSE TRADES

Instructors on a Double Time and Pay Basis.

More than 125 teachers in Chicago's vocational schools are working double time and are receiving twice their normal salaries as a result of the federal government's emergency defense program to train workers for essential war industries.

This situation was disclosed yesterday by Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools. Dr. Johnson said a shortage of qualified vocational teachers in the Chicago area threatened to create a bottleneck in the government's vocational training program started last July.

Teachers Work 60 Hours.

Teachers already working a full 30 hour week in the vocational schools were invited to volunteer to teach an additional 30 hours under the government program, Dr. Johnson said. The defense training classes start at 3:30 p. m., after the close of regular day classes in the trade schools. About 65 per cent of the 200 instructors teaching under the program are getting the double pay, Dr. Johnson said. Their regular salaries average $350 a month, and those working double time receive an equal federal salary.

"We should like to get teachers from outside the schools for this training, but we can't find any," Dr. Johnson declared. "Even in normal times we have few applications for jobs as vocational teachers, and now we have even less. These teachers come from industry, and industry itself needs its trained workers now."

The government pays all expenses of the training program, but leaves the actual training up to the local schools. Free classes are offered in Chicago for machinists, sheet metal workers, auto and aircraft mechanics, electricians, cabinet makers, welders, and draftsmen.

Strain on Teachers Told.

Dr. Johnson admitted that the double schedules create a strain on the teachers.

Philip McNamee, industrial coordinator of Chicago vocational schools, said about half the 3,000 enrollees in defense courses are taken from WPA rolls. Students are enrolled on the recommendation of the state department of labor headed by Martin P. Durkin.

McNamee estimated that nearly 2 million dollars of federal funds will have been spent for the training in Chicago by June 30, 1941, when the program is scheduled to expire. In addition, he said, the government will buy an estimated $450,000 worth of new equipment, such as lathes and welding tools, which will remain in the Chicago schools.

Congress has appropriated 26 million dollars for the national vocational training program, plus 8 millions for equipment, McNamee said.

END ROOSEVELT MONEY POWERS, RESERVE URGES

Board Calls for Federal Fiscal Overhauling.

budget, raising a larger part of the money needed for defense thru taxation. This would be accomplished by collecting more tax revenue as the national income increases.

Discussing the last recommendation, the reserve authorities said: "There cannot be any question that whenever the country approaches a condition of full utilization of its economic capacity, with appropriate consideration of both employment and production, the budget should be balanced. This will be essential if monetary responsibility is to be discharged effectively."

"While inflation cannot be controled by monetary measures alone," the report added, "the present extraordinary situation demands that adequate means be provided to combat the dangers of overexpansion of bank credit due to monetary causes."

The present supply of demand bank deposits and currency is 50 per cent greater than at any other period in the country's history, the report said.

Excess Reserves Increasing.

"Excess reserves are huge and increasing," it added. "They provide the base for more than doubling the existing supply of bank credit. Since the early part of 1934 14 billion dollars of gold, the principal cause of the excess reserves, has flowed into the country, and the stream of incoming gold is continuing. The necessarily large defense program of the government will have still further expansive effects. Government securities have become the chief assets of the banking system, and purchases by banks have created additional deposits.

[When money borrowed from the banks is spent by the government it finds its way back into the banks as new deposits. When individuals buy government bonds they withdraw deposits to finance their purchases. As the money is spent by the government and redeposited in the banks the operation merely offsets the earlier withdrawals and there is no change in aggregate deposits].

Low Interest Rates Cited.

"Because of excess reserves," the report added, "interest rates have fallen to unprecedentedly low levels. Some of them are well below the reasonable requirements of an easy money policy, and are raising serious long term problems for the future well being of our charitable and educational institutions, for the holders of insurance policies and savings bank accounts, and for the national economy as a whole."

If the program proposed is to accomplish its purpose, the report declared, it is essential that it should have the full support of all branches of the government.

"In the period that lies ahead," the statement said, "a secure monetary system is essential to the success of the defense program and constitutes an indispensable bulwark of the nation."

Affects U. S. Financing.

If carried out, the program suggested will result in greatly modifying the "easy money" policy that has been the keystone of the New Deal fiscal policy for the last eight years. It would have an important bearing on the government's financing operations. The treasury has been borrowing at the cheapest rates in history because of the tremedous supply of money in the banks and elsewhere that is seeking investment.

"We are in accord," the reserve authorities said, "that the general debt limit [of the federal government] be raised; that special limitations on defense financing be removed and that the treasury should be authorized to issue any type of securities [including fully taxable securities] which would be especially suitable for investors other than commercial banks. This is clearly desirable for monetary as well as fiscal reasons."

First Joint Report.

In making public the report Chairman Eccles said that it was the first time in the history of the federal reserve system in which the board, the advisory council and the heads of the reserve system have made a joint report to congress.

The language used in the report is similar to that in which the earlier recommendations of the advisory council were phrased. Edward E. Brown, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, is president of the council. There are 11 other members representing each of the districts. The council has no statutory powers, being created to serve in an advisory capacity to the board.

Besides Chairman Eccles the present members of the board are M. S. Szymczak, John K. McKee, Ronald Ransom, Chester C. Davis, and Ernest G. Draper.

Includes Leading Bankers.

The membership of the advisory council includes several of the country's leading bankers. Brown became president a year ago and has devoted much of his time recently to the affairs of the council. Other members include Leon Frazer, president of the First National Bank of New York, and Robert M. Hanes of Winston-Salem, N. C., former president of the American Bankers association.

Dies at Sea

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. ELLEN DUDLEY ROOT.

Mrs. Ellen Dudley Root, divorced wife of John W. Root, noted Chicago architect, died at sea early yesterday aboard the S. S. Exeter. She was 47 years old. A cable received by her daughter, Miss Denise Root, 1366 North Dearborn street, attributed death to bronchial pneumonia.

Mrs. Root, once prominent in amateur theatricals at the Goodman theater, was the daughter of the late Peter Dudley and Mrs. Dudley of Chicago. Mrs. Root sailed from Lisbon, Portugal, Dec. 27 after a 10 months' visit with her mother at Cap d'Ail, France. The Exeter will dock at Jersey City, N. J., on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Root were divorced March 29, 1930.

UNABLE TO FILL 100 POSTS, SAYS HIGHWAY CHIEF

Jesse Grissom, who was appointed chief of the Illinois highway police on Dec. 23 following the resignation of the former chief, Walter Williams, said yesterday he had been unable to fill 100 vacancies in his department. The vacancies occurred when 100 policemen submitted their resignations, effective at the end of the year, to accept jobs as guards at government ordnance plants being constructed near Wilmington.

"Gov. Stelle asked Governor Elect Green, who will take office Jan. 13, to submit names for the temporary appointees," said Chief Grissom. "Mr. Green declined. I haven't had an opportunity to hire any new men, but I expect to take the problem up with Gov. Stelle tomorrow."

Chief Grissom said highway traffic at this time is heavy and the men are needed for patrol and accident prevention work. He said consideration is being given to a proposal that American Legion posts furnish men, wherever needed, for police work in the next two weeks.

TITLE COMPANY RETURNS AIRPORT FUNDS TO CITY

Joseph Grossman, assistant corporation counsel, announced yesterday that the Chicago Title and Trust company has refunded to the city $75,000 of an $85,000 fund deposited with it to cover unpaid taxes and special assessments on property acquired for the new right-of-way for Chicago and Western Indiana railroad company tracks in connection with the enlargement of the airport. The money was deposited to facilitate transfer of property needed for the new right of way. The old right-of-way bisected the airport. The company withheld $10,000 to cover an unpaid bill owed it by the city.

OPPOSE LENDING EVEN THAT HOSE, SAYS MARSHALL

New York, Jan. 1 (AP).—Verne Marshall, chairman of the No Foreign War committee, reiterated tonight his organization's determination "to prevent the Roosevelt administration from giving away our national defenses, or even lending those defenses."

"In fact," he said, "we don't even favor lending that garden hose to a neighbor, since we believe our house to be on fire."

Marshall, speaking over the radio, described William R. Davis, wealthy oil executive, as among those who really are his [Marshall's] friends, and a participant in the committee's campaign.

He demanded that the government release to the world an agenda for peace which he said Davis brought back to Washington from Berlin in 1939. Davis said yesterday that he had submitted a peace plan initialed by German officials and expressed confidence that his information would be made public when, "in the opinion of the administration, the best interests of the country can be served."

44,126 MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED IN RECORD YEAR

Marriage licenses issued in Cook county last year set an all-time high record, County Clerk Michael J. Flynn reported yesterday.

A total of 44,126 licenses was issued, exceeding by 351 the previous peak of 43,775 established in 1936. Flynn attributed the gain to better times and the draft.

19 MILLION RISE IN TRANSIT RIDERS SHOWN FOR YEAR

Buses Lead in Increase; Carry 60 Million.

The number of riders on Chicago's street cars, buses, and elevated trains increased nearly 19 million, or 2.14 per cent, in 1940, reports from the three systems showed yesterday.

A total of 898,473,469 passengers was carried in 1940, with figures for December estimated. This compares with 879,622,526 riders in 1939.

All three transit systems reported increased travel for last year. The largest percentage gain was made by the Chicago Motor Coach [bus] company, which carried more than 60 million passengers for the first time since 1929. Its traffic increased 3.85 per cent over the 1939 total.

Trolleys Carry 13 Million More.

Travel on the surface lines and elevated lines was the heaviest since 1937. The surface lines carried nearly 13 million more riders in 1940 than in the preceding year, and "L" traffic increased by 3,780,000.

The following is a comparison of travel on the three systems for the last two years:

Number of Riders.
[In thousands.]

	1940	1939	Per cent increase.
Surface lines.	689,175	676,335	1.90
Elevated lines.	149,175	145,394	2.60
Motor coaches.	60,123	57,893	3.85
Totals.	898,473	879,622	2.14

The combined total for the three systems was the highest since 1937, when 932 million passengers were transported on the local transit lines.

Travel Is Job Index.

Officials of the lines said one important factor was increased industrial activity, enhanced in recent months by national defense orders. Travel on local lines is regarded as one of the chief indices of industrial employment.

Officials said two special factors also contributed to the increase. One was the extra day resulting from leap year, which added about 2½ million riders to the total, and the second was that 1940 contained one less Sunday than in 1939. Sunday traffic normally runs about a million riders less than week day travel.

Last year was the tenth consecutive year in which traffic was below a billion passengers. The all-time peak was in 1927, when one billion 168 million riders were carried.

For 1940 all three systems showed roughly the same trend in comparison with 1939. Substantial gains were made in January, February, July, and December.

Some changes in traffic for corresponding months were influenced by changes in the number of Sundays a month from one year to the other, officials said.

STELLE OFFERS TO HELP GREEN END FOOD TAX

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 1 [Special].—In a New Year's message to the people of Illinois, Gov. John Stelle today offered personal and Democratic party coöperation to Republican Governor-Elect Dwight Green in carrying out his campaign pledge to cut state expenses 35 million dollars yearly and to have food exempted from the sales tax.

The governor expressed his wish for a "happy, prosperous, and most important of all, a peaceful new year, with the strength and courage to continue in the ways of peace." Several hundred persons attended an open house reception in the executive mansion during the afternoon.

Speaking over a network of radio stations, Stelle told what has been done by his administration since his predecessor, Henry Horner, died last Oct. 6. He defended the appointments he has made, the pardons he has granted, and the coal contracts awarded, all of which have brought sharp criticism thruout the state. He concluded with a statement that he was willing to let historians in the future write the record and that he has no apologies.

Estimate 20,000 or More Flu Cases in Houston

Houston, Tex., Jan. 1 (AP).—City Health Officer John W. Brown said today private physicians had estimated current influenza totals from 20,000 to 80,000 within the city limits. The city—largest in Texas—has a population of approximately 392,000.

SQUEEZE TOURIST IN FLORIDA TO PAY STATE DEBTS

Seven Cent Gas Tax Is Called Robbery.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 1.—Judge James W. Perkins, chairman of the state highway board, today charged that motorists in Florida, residents and visitors, were being robbed of millions of dollars annually thru the state's 7 cents a gallon gasoline tax. Only one other state, Tennessee, has a rate this high on motor fuel.

"The robbery," said the chairman, a former member of the Circuit court bench, "lies in the fact that about 3 cents of the 7 are distributed to counties to pay road bonds at 100 cents on a dollar. Most of these bonds were bought by present holders at 25 cents on a dollar. The full payment is in accordance with an act of the 1931 legislature."

One Cent to General Fund.

One cent of the 7 goes to the state's general revenue fund under an "emergency act" of the 1931 assembly. The other 3 cents, about $11,000,000 a year, goes to the highway department for maintenance and construction on an 8,000 mile system.

The state department also receives about $3,000,000 a year from the counties' 3 cents because some of the counties have paid out their road bonds.

Outstanding county road bonds in Florida total $113,000,000 in principal and will require $103,000,000 in interest payments before their complete retirement in 1975.

Several of the state's leading newspapers are editorially calling upon the new legislature, convening in April, to repudiate or to discount this debit as has been done with a half billion dollars in real estate bonds since the realty boom burst in 1926. The road securities were originally sold without the backing of the gas tax.

Traffic Toll Is Heavy.

Florida needs more money to modernize its highways notwithstanding its high gas tax rate. This is apparent to visitors who pay a tenth of the collections.

Florida has the tenth highest traffic death rate in America. According to National Safety Council statistics, there are 16 deaths here for every million miles of automobile travel as compared with a national average of 10 deaths for every million miles of motor travel.

The roads are a factor in the economics of the state's two main sources of income, tourists, and agriculture.

Costs Are Increasing.

The maintenance costs are mounting, approaching $5,000,000 a year, and the employment of 1,500 convicts on the roads is excessively expensive, according to the department's engineers.

New construction, they say, is lagging far behind an increasing demand for fast and safe roadways. An additional demand for construction has been created by new and enlarged military and naval establishments in several sections of the state.

A Brief New Year's Report to 7 Important People

EVERY YEAR, about this time, we like to make an informal report about General Foods . . . to the following important people:

Mr. and Miss Employe, in our plants and offices : : . Mr. Farmer, from whom we buy . : : Mr. Grocer, who handles our goods : : : Mr. and Mrs. Investor, who supply the company's capital . . . and you, Mrs. Consumer, who buy and use our products.

We want you, especially, to know more about us and what we are doing—for our success depends upon our continuing to merit your confidence. Briefly—

We are pleased to report continued progress in serving you better during 1940. Through the work carried on in our Research Laboratories and Consumer Service Kitchens, we continued to improve further the quality of many General Foods Products you have long been using . . . and to make them available in greater variety and in more convenient forms. As a further service, we developed delicious new recipes . . . and distributed more than a million copies of recipe booklets. At the same time, our prices are moderate. For example, Sanka Coffee, which used to cost $1 a pound, is now priced at about 33¢. The price of Grape-Nuts was reduced last year by 16% . . . and there were reductions in several other General Foods products . . . evidence that we constantly strive to give you the best food products that can be produced, at moderate prices.

General Foods never ceases its efforts to improve the working relationships with its personnel. Thus, all regular employes receive vacations with pay . . . and there is a co-operative retirement plan. Among other things, the company bears the entire cost of an accident-and-sickness plan for its employes : : : and shares the cost of a group life insurance plan.

From farmers and other producers, General Foods buys vast quantities of the choicest raw materials. For example, our annual needs require 400,000 acres of special wheat : : : more than 94,000 acres of corn : : : the output of more than 10,000 dairy cows : : : and even a farm of more than 2,400 acres for asparagus alone!

Every third retail store in the U. S. sells food products. Nearly all food stores sell G. F. products. We supply them with quality products which sell more easily because they enjoy consumer acceptance. We support their efforts with vigorous advertising and many merchandising helps. We give them ideas on how to be the kind of merchants who can better serve the American consumer.

General Foods is literally owned by the public. There are 66,700 stockholders. Counting their families, over 250,000 people share directly in General Foods dividends. Nearly half of our stockholders are women. Many are our own employes. The average holding of all stockholders is about 80 shares each. No one stockholder owns as much as 7% of the stock. Nearly 50% of our stockholders own 10 shares or less.

SUMMING UP, we want it known that every person in General Foods prizes your good will and pledges every effort toward still further progress in 1941 for your benefit.

1941 WILL REWARD FIGHTERS.

Chicago's motto used to be "I Will." The city blazoned it on its seal. Its people believed in it. Within a century their faith turned a desolate region of marshes and sand flats into the roaring, sometimes wicked and cruel, always busy and increasingly prosperous metropolis of the prairies. Chicago was the crossroads of the American empire. The modern world never saw anything quite so spectacular as its lusty rise to power.

Today Chicago is tuckered out. Instead of surging forward it feebly clutches to hold what it has. Cities never stand still. They go forward or backward, and Chicago has stopped going forward. Except at pointless civic banquets its old motto is forgotten. The city has a new, if unspoken slogan. It is "What's the Use?"

For 12 years the city's traction operators, bankers, lawyers, and politicians have been pushing about the frayed and broken down pieces of a local transportation system, hoping that by some miracle they would emerge as a picture of something modern. Now they are saying "What's the use?" Harold Ickes can turn his ill conceived subway into mushroom cellars or bomb shelters.

For a score of years Chicago has watched real estate blight eat at the great belt around its heart. It has only watched. When remedies have been suggested they have been dismissed with "What's the use?" So the blight eats on, and the building permits are issued in the suburbs.

Every time there is a 5-11 fire in the stockyards a new packing plant goes up in Sioux City, or Des Moines, or Peoria. The packers are not rebuilding in Chicago, and the one-time hog butcher to the world may one day soon find itself hog butcher to Cook county. Clothing manufacture, once Chicago's third industry, now employs about half as many workmen as it did two decades ago. Other established industries are slipping away.

A score of new industries have sprung up in the country since the world war. Chicago has stood by and watched them grow—in other cities. Its delegates seeking plants for Chicago come home empty handed, battered by critical questions about high taxes, the archaic building code, and racketeering, muttering, "What's the use?"

It cannot be said that any one cause has inflicted this new motto on Chicago. Those who hold politics solely to blame should reflect that the Chicago "I Will" days prospered under worse and more corrupt local governments. The one major fault that may be charged against the local politicians is that they, too, have said "What's the use" when confronted with the disgraceful breakdown of tax collections.

The politicians have certainly been no aid to the city. Illinois has not produced a first rate national political figure for two decades. Chicago's contribution has been a series of clowns and machine bosses, with a generous portion of unpunished embezzlers on the lower levels.

In an era in which the federal political machine has been built on gifts of public money this city's spineless representatives in Washington have served it badly. We pay our share of the taxes, but are denied our share of the pap. In the field of major public works Chicago has only a badly designed bridge and a worthless subway to match against such federal beneficences as New York's airport and magnificent elevated highway system, San Francisco's great bridges, and Spokane's and Los Angeles' dams.

But the Chicago of "I Will" days did not thrive because of its politicians, but in spite of them. It thrived because of the efforts of a group of business giants who had tremendous visions, took tremendous risks, and made tremendous profits both for themselves and the city. The giants are dead.

In their place are absentee owners and paid management. The "I Will" Chicago was not unaccustomed to the cycle of shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves. Under its driving tempo the process was sometimes completed in two generations, but there were always more men in shirtsleeves to pick up the pieces and build an even greater enterprise on the ruins of the fallen one. What is hurting Chicago today is shirtsleeves to Long Island in three generations.

Paid management has its virtues, but they are the little virtues and not the great ones. It is a trustee, not a risk taker. Too much of Chicago business is run today—run quite efficiently, too—by men with no substantial stake in the business beyond their salary. Their disposition is to evade difficulties rather than to overcome them.

Not a few of them feel that they can, if need be, earn their $50,000 or $100,000 a year just as comfortably in Cleveland or Kansas City as in Chicago. If they listen to their wives, they end up all too often earning it on Park avenue, and another head office moves to New York.

Chicago needs new leaders. It needs them in civic affairs and in politics, but it needs them most of all in its offices and factories. There is little point in mourning the sorely missed giants of the "I Will" era. The present era is not likely to produce successors of their type.

But it has produced men of ability who command Chicago industry, business, and banking. They must be persuaded that if the enterprises that they direct are to prosper Chicago must also prosper, and that that prosperity can be had only if they will direct more of their attention to the affairs of the city. If they do this they and their enterprises will be rewarded, because great as are Chicago's present disadvantages, spiritual and material, the city possesses great natural advantages that need only be developed for it to surge forward again.

The Chicago picture is not entirely black. To the credit of its political government it can be recorded that crime is under fair control. There are stirrings in the minds of its citizens that indicate that the allied problem of racketeering and gangsterism will be attacked successfully. The proposal to clear slums by harnessing private enterprise, in public service building corporations, has been raised again. A new director has been engaged to renovate the frayed and outmoded Chicago plan. It is not beyond hope that men of civic determination can solve the traction problem. The politicians even show signs of awakening to the necessity of collecting taxes.

Twenty years ago this city was in the doldrums of the first postwar depression. Business was dead, and factories, burdened with tremendous inventories, were idle. THE TRIBUNE adopted a slogan: "1921 Will Reward Fighters." The slogan pulled THE TRIBUNE out of that depression. It also set back on their feet the many other businesses that adopted its fighting philosophy.

As its New Year gift to Chicago THE TRIBUNE can think of nothing more appropriate than that slogan, brought up to date: "1941 Will Reward Fighters." This newspaper pledges its full cooperation to all men of courage who will join the battle. The obstacles are great, but the reward is greater. That reward is a moribund Chicago revived, a Chicago striding forward again in the spirit of the giants who said, "I Will," and meant it.

NATIONS IN DEFEAT.

Small nations which were overrun by Germany, beginning with the invasion of Denmark and Norway, feel that they have been unfairly treated in the criticism of their spirit, courage, and patriotism. This is particularly true of Norway and of Belgium, in whose disasters critics have sought to find an element of treachery. The people of the small countries resent that and are endeavoring by presentation of the facts to prove that the first reports were misinformed and, in effect if not in intent, calumnious.

The Norwegians offer evidence to prove that Quisling, Norwegian Fascist whose name became a synonym for treachery, was virtually alone in the attitude he took and that even his associates in his small Fascist party repudiated him. It is maintained that there were no traitors in the unprepared Norwegian army, none in the government circles, and no betrayal of the country prearranged with the invading Germans.

Norwegians made every effort to overcome the weaknesses in their neglected defenses, their shore batteries were well served until taken in the rear, the people tried to rally around such leaders as they could find, the army fought stubbornly as long as it had a chance, and Norway did not give up the struggle on its own territory until the French and British had abandoned their attempt to throw the Germans out. The Norwegians who have escaped still think of Norway as being in the fight and the country cherishes its independence as much as it ever did. It was a small nation, overwhelmed by a force that its larger allies found irresistible.

The Belgian king has been reproached as a man whose weakness and irresolution, to name nothing more derogatory, betrayed the French and British and led to the disasters in Flanders. The Belgian army and the Belgian people are included by inference in these reproaches. The defenders of Belgium's good name contend that the situation was hopeless when the king came to his determination to quit fighting and that nothing the Belgian army could have done would have resulted in more than its own destruction.

It is easy in these controversies to ascribe initial faults here or there. The fact is none of the allies came out of that phase of the fighting with any military credit; and it may be that when the commanders had neglected to learn what German attack methods were and prepare against them no force could have stood up. It is not fair to blame Belgium when one considers that what was supposed to be the great military power of France made no better showing and collapsed incredibly when struck the same blows. Against Germany little countries which had armed and were mobilized had little more chance than Denmark, which was unprepared to do anything.

France, when confronted with the problem which Belgium faced, took the same course, altho Reynaud as prime minister had told the world that if France were subdued in Europe the conflict would be carried on by the overseas empire. If that decision had persisted the French navy and the French colonial forces, with such troops as could have been withdrawn as the British withdrew at Dunkirk, would now be active and an important factor in the war.

France's decision was to soften the plight of the French people by capitulation. That may have been a hard decision to make. It was the judgment of the men who succeeded to authority in the panic of defeat to spare the country the rigors of a German occupation while Franch warships and armies continued to fight elsewhere. The better future of France may not have been served by that decision, but men who didn't have to make it would not have gone thru the perplexities and anguish of the men who did.

OLD MADISON ROAD.

[Indianapolis News.]

Construction of a 60,000 acre army proving ground in Jefferson, Ripley, and Jennings counties calls for the rejuvenation of Indiana's first railroad. The line between Madison and Columbus, owned by the Pennsylvania system, was about to be abandoned for lack of business. Service between these cities has been restricted to one train a day in recent years, and passenger business has ceased.

Transportation needs for the proving ground call for the laying of new track between Columbus and Madison, the construction of several new switches and a new spur track five miles long, between Wirt and Bryantsburg, at the southern extremity of the proving ground. Reports indicate that at least four freight trains a day will be routed into the federal reservation.

The Madison and Indianapolis railroad was authorized by the state as a part of the internal improvement program adopted in 1836. It was completed from Madison to Columbus July 1, 1844, and to Indianapolis Oct. 1, 1847. The last rail was spiked at 9 a. m., that day, and the first train appeared during the afternoon. While thousands of people waited to see the train arrive, they were entertained by a circus that included "35 widely celebrated lady and gentlemen artists at the acme of their profession." For sentimental reasons, if for no other, there will be general satisfaction at the news that Indiana's oldest railroad is to have a new lease on life.

COCK-AND-BULL STORY.

About two weeks ago a contributor to this column put in a demand for an explanation of the familiar phrase, "cock-and-bull story." He thought that this would be a timely subject, because "nowadays the air is full of them."

Several volunteers have taken shots at this problem, and one of our Christmas cards, signed G. B. H., carried a quotation to the point from Partridge's "Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional Sayings." The gist of the matter is that the origin of the phrase is uncertain, and the authorities dodge the issue.

You can find a number of theories on why a rambling and incredible tale is often called a cock-and-bull story; but we believe that Brewer's "Dictionary of Phrase and Fable" is heading in the right direction. It says:

"The most likely explanation is that it is connected with the old fables in which cocks, bulls, and other animals discoursed in human speech on things in general."

Many of these folk tales survive, and we have a notion that the particular cock-and-bull story which gave rise to the saying was associated with the birth of Christ. There is a legend that on the first Christmas eve, and many that followed, barnyard animals in their pens were heard discussing the event in human tongues. As for the rooster, you can find his contribution in certain lines of "Hamlet."

Some say that ever 'gainst that season comes Wherein Our Saviour's birth is celebrated
The bird of dawning singeth all night long.

In English literature the earliest use of the phrase is 1692 [Bentley's "Boyle Lecture"]. The most classic use is in Laurence Sterne's "Tristram Shandy," where it is among the last words.

Origin of Democratic Rooster?

Regarding the origin of the rooster as a symbol for the Democratic party [the Line Book of 1940]:

My grandmother, Julia M. Hatch, who died in 1895, aged 85, was the daughter of Daniel Bradford of Lexington, Ky., who was the son of John Bradford, founder of the Lexington Gazette, first newspaper west of the mountains. Among family papers in my possession is this statement in her handwriting:

"I remember when quite a child, in the year 1819, my father, Daniel Bradford, one bleak winter evening came home and seated by a blazing fire of hickory logs, he remarked, 'I have been requested to edit a campaign paper.'

"He chose the rooster as the emblem, and taking a sheet of paper he wrote the following lines for a motto to the paper:

'My notes are shrill, yet strong and clear,
No foe I seek, yet none I fear.
Invading not another's just domain
My natal ground I ever will maintain.'

A Tip for Mark Twain Researchers.

On a ranch in the mountains near Warren, Idaho, lives an old man, aged 87, named Sebastian Braun, known to all folks there as Old Boston. He tells of traveling around the world with Mark Twain. He surveyed the Holy Land with him, and Mark Twain always called him "the kid." Old Boston also says he made the first trail up the largest mountain in Colorado, if I understood him right.

He is very hard of hearing, which makes it difficult to question him. I longed to be able to buy him a device to help his hearing, as his tales were interesting and I was anxious to get them straight.

Old Boston is a grand old man and he knows plenty. You should hear him tell how Mark Twain had him blow out a candle that had been burning for a thousand years in the Holy Land, and how they nearly got killed for doing it.

For Inscription Collectors.

You've had inscriptions from fireplaces and from sundials in your column, but never one from a wastebasket. My family gave me a wooden bucket wastebasket for a Christmas present, with the following verse composed and carved by my mother:

I gather all the useless things,
They served you once but serve no more,
To cleanly fire I take my loot,
Sweet order leave I at your door.

This is the first time I've known of inscriptions on wastebaskets! Lois Anne Dallenbach.

[The Linemaster will have his own wastebasket inscribed with a quotation from Dante: "All hope abandon, ye who enter here."]

AFTER THE FLU, STAY IN BED LONG ENOUGH.

SOME communities report that respiratory infections have been more severe in the last few months. While the death rate has not gone up, many victims have been incapacitated for long periods of time, with the breathing apparatus refusing to work at par.

The origin of the trouble is apparently an attack of influenza. But when convalescence is due, the patient remains weak and complains of fatigue on the slightest exertion, shortness of breath, and a heavy feeling in the chest. A mild temperature may continue for weeks, accompanied by a hacking cough.

Not a few of these sufferers have been subjected to critical examinations, with the thought that tuberculosis may be responsible. Fortunately, this ailment can be ruled out in most cases. Nevertheless, recovery does not occur when it should, as the lungs appear to be unable to supply an adequate amount of oxygen to the blood.

Further study may disclose a rather peculiar situation, which explains why these individuals feel depressed. X-ray plates of the lungs may show scattered areas of emphysema [dilatation of the air sacs]. Usually, both sides are involved and—associated with these expanded regions—the presence of unused air cells may be observed. It is not difficult to understand why labored breathing, cough, and extreme fatigue result.

In addition, for a few weeks, a peculiar type of grayness about the mouth and nose may be noted. This is because too little oxygen enters the circulation to give the skin its regular color. As the patient himself says, "I just can't get a deep breath." The more he struggles the more will he enlarge the air chambers, and perhaps make the condition worse.

The heart likewise may be affected. As this organ, due to deficient oxygen, cannot be nourished sufficiently, degeneration of its muscle fibers ensues. This is emphasized by the fact that the rate will be substantially increased, especially if the temperature is higher than normal. The rhythm, however, drops to its proper level with the disappearance of the fever and as resistance is gained.

The "barking" may prove most annoying, and there may be considerable prostration. The mouth, too, may be disturbed with a gray coating on the tongue, altho the edges will be bright red. It is clear, then, that overstretching of the vital gas compartments should be guarded against scrupulously, otherwise a chronic cough may persist for months or even years. These delicate alveoli [air cells] may become so distended that they will never regain their former elasticity. Like an old rubber band, they will refuse to function. When this happens they cannot furnish the essential air which the blood demands.

Prevention may lie in spending a few extra days in bed before resuming activity. Even then, working half days may be better than attempting to stay on the job, particularly if strength is lacking or if climbing stairs is accompanied by distress or more puffing than usual.

Altho fever may not be a symptom, if this profound sense of exhaustion exists, we may well be cautious for health's sake. Bed rest, with a highly nutritious diet—veritable stuffing—is called for. Little medicine will be needed unless the appetite requires stimulation, when vitamin B will prove helpful.

CAN'T SEE STOMACH.

Worried writes: I am not quite up to par physically. A short time ago I visited a woman who had been educated in Germany to tell what ails a person by looking in their eyes. She said that the cells in my stomach had dried up, hence I must not eat meat or fowl of any sort. How can I be sure?

REPLY.

She must have made a glancing diagnosis—not a direct hit. By means of a simple test, any well trained physician can check the gastric secretions. If acid is absent, he can prescribe the proper formula.

LARGE ABDOMEN.

M. R. writes: What causes a pendulous abdomen? What is the best way to correct it?

REPLY.

Bad posture, too much food, and lack of exercise. Calisthenics involving bending forward, touching the tips of the fingers to the floor without flexing the knees may be helpful. This procedure should be practiced several times daily. The condition has been a long time coming on and persistence is required for restoration.

The typical Glenard type [a watermelon abdomen] may call for a stout girdle or support.

INTEREST ON LOAN.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—"A" bought a car for $350. He gave $50 as a down payment and the remainder of $335 he financed for 18 months at $25.72 a month. He paid the finance company $462.50 in eight months in full payment of the loan. He received a refund of $7.96 because he paid the load in eight instead of the 18 months as per contract.

On the final statement from the loan company it states that because of the load of $612.96, minus $150 paid as a down payment, he owes the company $462.96. There was no loan for $612.96 nor was there a down payment of $150 as per the statement.

Please give us an opinion on whether the interest rate charged for eight months was too high, and has he any legal right to sue if he has all the bills used in the transaction. M. S.

It is not clear whether your double use of the word load is deliberate or a typing error. The usury question depends in part on whether third party financing was involved, and on whether the lender was licensed under the small loans act.

"According to the weight of authority, where a vendor fixes the credit price of his property in terms of the cash price plus an increment expressed as interest upon such cash price at a higher rate than allowed by law upon loans, such a contract may be expressed in notes taken for the deferred payments, bearing a seemingly unlawful rate of interest, and be nevertheless valid and enforceable, provided the parties have acted in good faith." 66 C. J. 184.

The maximum that can be stipulated for by contract is 7 per cent per annum in ordinary cases. An agreement to pay more than the legal rate is usurious and only the principal can be collected. In absence of agreement as to interest, 5 per cent is allowed after due on notes or other instruments in writing, on money lent, on accounts settled, on money received to use of another and retained without owner's knowledge, on money withheld by an unreasonable and vexatious delay, and on judgments.

Pawnbrokers may charge 3 per cent per month, and licensees of state board of trade and commerce may charge 3 per cent per month on first $150, and 2½ per cent per month on balance up to $300. On contracts executed before July 10, 1935, 3½ per cent per month is permitted.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FRATERNITIES.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would like to be advised as to the legality of fraternities in junior colleges. M. C.

A statute passed in 1919 forbids fraternities and sororities in the public schools, defining them as organizations which seek to perpetuate themselves by taking in pupils on the decision of the membership rather than upon the free choice of any qualified pupil. This statute [Illinois Revised Statutes, Chap. 122, Secs. 199-703] was sustained by the Supreme court in Sutton vs. Board of Education, 306 Ill. 507. If you have access to a law library, you would find considerable background material in the report of that case.

The question whether the term "public school" includes the junior colleges is somewhat close. At the time the act was adopted the only schools which the legislature deemed it necessary to except expressly were the University of Illinois and the normal schools. This might be interpreted as indicating that the legislature construed the term "public school" as including institutions above the high school level if not expressly excluded, but it could be argued on the contrary that the legislature would have treated the junior colleges like the normal schools if that question had been before the legislature. The meaning of the term "public or common school" is discussed in the article on schools and school districts in 56 Corpus Juris at page 168, where it is said that the term "has no reference to the grade of the school." At page 855 you will find citation of authorities from other jurisdictions on secret societies.

We incline to the opinion that as the statute now stands fraternities and sororities are forbidden in the junior colleges. The statute provides penalties for membership in such organizations and places upon the board of education the duty to make the prohibition effective.

Test Your Horse Sense

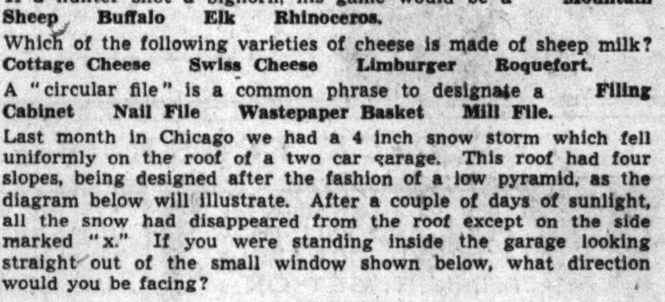
Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 30.

1. Which of the following breeds of chicken has five toes? Brahmas Rhode Island Reds Houdans Plymouth Rocks.
2. If you were riding on a pachyderm, you would probably be mounted on a Goat Elephant Pack Mule Ostrich.
3. If a hunter shot a bighorn, his game would be a Mountain Sheep Buffalo Elk Rhinoceros.
4. Which of the following varieties of cheese is made of sheep milk? Cottage Cheese Swiss Cheese Limburger Roquefort.
5. A "circular file" is a common phrase to designate a Filing Cabinet Nail File Wastepaper Basket Mill File.
6. Last month in Chicago we had a 4 inch snow storm which fell uniformly on the roof of a two car garage. This roof had four slopes, being designed after the fashion of a low pyramid, as the diagram below will illustrate. After a couple of days of sunlight, all the snow had disappeared from the roof except on the side marked "x." If you were standing inside the garage looking straight out of the small window shown below, what direction would you be facing?



Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—the last question counts five points.]

A DICTATED PEACE.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—The President declares that he is against a "dictated peace" or a "negotiated peace." What other kinds of peace are there?

He obviously means that he is against a peace dictated by Germany. Would he accept a peace dictated by Great Britain? Versailles was a dictated peace—dictated by Great Britain and France. Why did it not endure?

As to a negotiated peace, how is our President in a position to declare to the world that he will not tolerate it—in short, that he will not permit it? If Great Britain should decide that her people have suffered enough, and should prefer to pay a price for peace, who are we to block her? Many of the priceless treasures of earth are still in London. If Great Britain chooses to save what is left of London, Southampton, Liverpool, and other English cities by transferring to Germany a slice of Africa or some islands not in the western hemisphere, isn't that Britain's affair rather than ours?

The logic of the President's position is that England must fight to the very end, tho London be razed and its treasures forever lost, tho every English city be a shambles, until Roosevelt furnishes enough aid from America eventually to accomplish Hitler's downfall. And how soon will that be? The President himself dares not promise that it will be soon—that it will be before England's cities become smithereens.

England entered the war without asking our permission, or even consulting us as to her war aims. But she cannot terminate the war without President Roosevelt's permission, on terms which he will dictate.

So that after all it will be a "dictated peace." CHARLES F. MCELROY.

HE APPROVED THE SPEECH.

Hammond, Ind., Dec. 30. — To avoid misunderstanding, I preface my remarks with the statement that I am a Republican, that I voted for Mr. Willkie, and, like many millions of voters, had hoped Mr. Willkie would be elected. Having said this, I feel free to express what is in my mind and heart.

The President of the United States of America addressed the world last night in one of the most critical hours in its history. I listened attentively to what the President of my country had to say. When he had finished his address I felt that he had said what should have been said. There was no exaggeration and certainly no ambiguity about his utterances. To be perfectly frank, as an adopted son of America, I was very proud of the President of my country.

Imagine my feelings and the feelings of thousands of your readers this morning as we opened THE TRIBUNE and were faced with misrepresentations calculated to mislead the unwary. Did not our President say with considerable emphasis last night that at no time was there a demand or request made by Great Britain for man power? And yet you insinuate and have persistently insinuated that the President was at the point of shipping thousands of our young men to the battlefields of Europe. That is absolutely false, whether coming from the pulpit or the press.

Your misleading statements and misrepresentation of facts and persistent slurring of the President of the United States is, in my humble judgment, a greater menace than all the fifth column activities yet unearthed in the United States. One thing must be said about you, you are consistent—you are doing exactly as you did before the general election, and. I believe the results of your efforts will be identical with the results of your pre-election campaign.

JAMES LAWSON, S. T. D.,

THE COSTS OVERLOOKED.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—One notable lack in the discussions of the President of the United States, the leaders of the William Allen White committee, radio commentators, lecturers, and editorial writers generally [I except THE TRIBUNE] is their failure to face realistically the facts of an all-out war. Recalling the "semantic shock" you provided some months ago, I would like to suggest that you again indicate thru editorials, cartoons, pictures, and special articles some of the probabilities of the cost in resources including men, materials, values and institutions to this nation in a total war.

Editorials in THE TRIBUNE during the last year on the international situation and American foreign policy have shown a sounder knowledge of the forces of history, a more realistic view of all the facts involved, and a greater concern for the more vital interests of this country than those appearing in any other newspaper which I have seen.

RAY MCCALL.

LONG SENTENCE ABOUT CROWS.

Calamus, Iowa, Dec. 27.—I should like to correct what I believe to be a wrong impression on the part of Jack Williams who recently criticized the bombing of crows.

When you have seen, as I have, Mr. Crow preying upon the young rabbit, destroying and eating the nests and eggs of quail, pheasant, and other ground nesting birds, destroying the nests of wild duck and eating their eggs, and when you have seen what seems to be the increasing population of crows in every state west of the Mississippi which I have traveled and the very large population in the northwestern provinces of Canada, and when you consider that the life span of the crow practically equals that of the human, and that in that time he becomes too smart for the hunter to get, then one loses sympathy for him and rather than criticize the bombings we should, as I do, definitely favor them and commend Bob Becker for so doing.

JOHN F. MUELLER.

LABOR RACKETEERS.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—THE TRIBUNE has given considerable space to the gangster problem in labor unions, both in its news columns and on the editorial page, but, to the writer's knowledge, has never pointed out the fundamental reason why these leeches can remain on the pay roll.

There are in every industry a number of employers who immediately after signing a wage contract with a labor union look for ways and means to chisel on this contract. The unsavory, corrupt minority of labor officials become tools of these employers and play ball with them. What chance then has a member in a union of that kind to protest against gangsters and hoodlums? None at all.

If he should become so bold as to protest he will soon find himself out of a job, with the conniving of these crooked officials and equally crooked employers.

When both sides of this question are given pitiless publicity then the gangster problem in labor unions will be eliminated by the rank and file, and the labor movement will become a still more vital force for the good in American life.

STARS OF MUSIC AND SKATING ON W-G-N TONIGHT

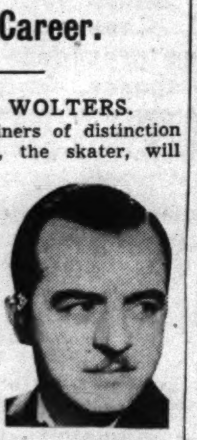
BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Musical entertainers of distinction and Sonja Henie, the skater, will appear on W-G-N-Mutual's variety broadcast, In Chicago Tonight, from 7:30 to 8 o'clock this evening.



Bob Zurke

Besides Miss Henie, In Chicago Tonight will present Yvette, the song stylist who is featured in the Camellia House of the Drake hotel, Bob Zurke, the swing pianist and orchestra leader, and the Mills Brothers, harmony team of the airlane and the stage.

Sonja to Tell of Career.

Miss Henie, who is the star of the 1941 Hollywood Ice Revue at the Chicago Stadium, will be interviewed on highlights of her career as a star of the ice and the movies.

Zurke, who is appearing at the Sherman hotel, will demonstrate his virtuosity at the piano. Zurke became well known to W-G-N listeners when he played with Bob Crosby's orchestra for several seasons at the Blackhawk restaurant.

Yvette, who is just 18, was born in Birmingham, Ala., and educated in the Sacred Heart of Mary convent in New Orleans. A year ago she had a radio audition in New York and on last Jan. 14 she made her radio debut. She sang on the Alec Templeton Time show recently and soon will be the feminine star of a new show with Xavier Cugat's orchestra. Yvette specializes in French songs.

Mills Brothers Old Favorites.

The Mills Brothers were favorites on W-G-N as long ago as 1931 when they made their network debut. They first began harmonizing in their father's barber shop in Bellefontaine, O., about 15 years ago. They are widely known for their vocal imitations of various musical instruments.

Lou Jackobson will produce the show. Jess Kirkpatrick will be master of ceremonies and the W-G-N Dance orchestra, directed by Harold Stokes, will provide the music.

G. A. ANDERSON DIES; SURVIVOR OF THE ATHENIA

Gustav A. Anderson, travel agent and lecturer who was a passenger on the British liner Athenia when it was sunk in the north Atlantic Sept. 3, 1939, died yesterday in Wesley Memorial hospital after a long illness. He was 49 years old and lived in the Acacia fraternity house at Northwestern university in Evanston. Mr. Anderson, a native of Salem, Ore., leaves his mother, Mrs. I. M. Anderson; three sisters and two brothers. Funeral services will be held Tuesday in Salem, Ore.

Gustav A. Anderson.

JEWELER FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN PT. WASHINGTON

Port Washington, Wis., Jan. 1 [Special].—Erwin A. Christianson, 31, jeweler, was found shot to death in his home above his downtown store early today. He and his wife Julia had spent New Year's eve among friends at local taverns.

Dr. C. C. Stein, Ozaukee county coroner and Christianson's family physician was called by Mrs. Christianson. The coroner found Christianson in bed with a bullet from a 22 caliber automatic pistol in his head.

Christianson was a hunter and occasionally repaired guns for friends at his jewelry store here. Both he and his wife were considered excellent shots. Coroner Stein said an inquest will be held next week.

ABRAHAM SIMON DIES; MANAGER OF NEWS-INDEX

Abraham Simon, business manager of the Evanston News-Index, died yesterday of a heart attack in his home at 925 Lakeside place. He was 56 years old. For 15 years he was a trustee and receiver in the Federal District court and assumed the managerial post with the Evanston newspaper while it was in receivership. He was retained after the paper was reorganized. He leaves his widow, Tillie; two sons, Sherwin and Stanley Simon, and one daughter, Estelle. Services will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5206 Broadway. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery.

4 SKIERS BURIED BY SNOWSLIDE; BELIEVED DEAD

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 1 (AP).—Four skiers were believed buried by a snowslide today on the precipitous north wall of Little Cottonwood canyon in the nearby Wasatch mountains.

Edwin S. Stott, manager of a lodge at the Alta winter resort, near which the slide occurred, said 75 rescuers were digging into a mountain of ice, snow, and earth in an attempt to reach the trapped skiers. Three hours after the avalanche, a piece of broken ski was recovered, Stott said.

ALTGELD'S NAME GIVEN TO U. OF I. CAMPUS BUILDING

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 1 (AP).—The name of John Peter Altgeld, who was governor of Illinois from 1893 to 1897, has been given to the University of Illinois building which houses the college of law, formerly the university library, it was announced today.

The building was constructed during Gov. Altgeld's term in office, and received his personal attention, both in getting the appropriation of funds and in preparing the final design. It has been referred to frequently as the finest example of Romanesque architecture west of the Atlantic seaboard.

Strolls Into Hotel During Holdup; Struck with Gun

Two tough bandits seized $800 late yesterday in a robbery in the Edgewood apartment hotel, 5726 Winthrop avenue. As they were menacing the clerk, Miss Margery Hayes, 2031 Lincoln avenue, Max Casper, 4451 North Albany avenue, entered the lobby. One of the bandits asked if he was the manager, and struck him on the head with a revolver when he did not answer.

STATE DEFENSE COUNCIL CALLS FIRST MEETING

The Illinois emergency defense council of nine members appointed last week by Gov. John Stelle will meet for the first time at a luncheon in Springfield next Monday, it was learned yesterday in Chicago. The governor is expected to outline the work of the commission, which will coöperate with the national emergency defense commission by making a survey of Illinois preparedness resources. Gov. Stelle is ex-officio chairman of the commission and Murray W. Baker of Peoria, an industrialist, is general chairman.

Local defense councils to coöperate with the state council will be established in all Illinois cities of 10,000 population, under a plan announced in Springfield. Paul Hansen, Chicago engineer, who was named to head the public health division of the state council, said he expected his work to include surveys of the sanitary conditions of the communities which surround military establishments in the state.

VISITS FRIEND; FALLS DEAD.

Andrew Anderson, 47 years old, a brick mason, died of a heart attack Tuesday night in the home of a friend, Otto Peterson, 7753 St. Lawrence avenue.

5 SEIZED AFTER NEW YEAR ROW ENDS IN SHOOTING

Five young men were arrested yesterday by North avenue police for the early morning shooting of John Kopala, 24 years old, 747 North Throop street. Kopala is in a critical condition in county hospital with a wound in his abdomen.

Lieut. Anthony McDonough said the shooting was the result of an altercation brought on by too much New Year's eve drinking. The five picked a quarrel with Kopala, who was parked in his automobile in front of 1108 North Hoyne avenue. During the argument Richard R. David, 19, of 520 Noble street, fired the shot.

The others arrested are Ed Szalowski, 19, of 1411 Erie street; Sigmund Dobosiewicz, 20, of 1110 North Hoyne avenue; Stanley Malinowski, 18, of 1670 Division street, and Henry Hintz, 16, 1100 North Hoyne avenue.

15,000 MUMMERS PUT ON A SHOW IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 1 (AP).—Fifteen thousand mummers cut loose today to prove that this warring world is actually a pretty funny sort of place and the best cure for its ills is a prolonged guffaw.

Their tinselled trappings gleaming in a bright sun, they pranced along a five mile route on Broad street in this city's annual welcome to the new year. Comparatively mild weather brought out a crowd estimated by police at more than a million.

The mummers covered the field from King Solomon to Adolf Hitler. They spoofed Wally Windsor and her dentist troubles. They blistered the hides of John L. Lewis and William Green. They burlesqued "Mr. Wise Dies" and his fifth columnist hunt and the men who thought up the draft. Then just to show they can take as well as give, they kidded themselves.

Sub-Deb Crowd Has Round of Parties Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

THIS evening is a glamorous one for the sub-deb set, for two dances and a number of dinner parties have been planned for their entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Lansing B. Warner's dinner-dance in Hubbard Woods is being given for their granddaughter, Miss Louise Herdic, daughter of John Herdic of Winnetka. Miss Herdic returns on Saturday to her classes at Mount Vernon seminary, Washington.

Another pair of devoted grandparents, the Stanley Fields, are entertaining for their grandson, Russell P. Kelley Jr. The dance will be given in the Fields' home in Lake Bluff.

Entertaining at dinner before the party are Mrs. Kimball Salisbury, Mrs. King Mitchell, and Mr. and Mrs. James F. Oates Jr. The latters' dinner at the Onwentsia club is for their daughter, Rosalind.

Woman's Athletic Club to Give Children's Party.

Children of members of the Woman's Athletic club have been looking forward for a long time to the club's children's party to be held from 3 to 5 o'clock today. Youngsters 3 to 14 years old will view cartoon movies in the ballroom of the club and be entertained by a magician. Refreshments will be served in the dining room and each child will be given a favor to take home.

Miss Emily M. Goehst is in charge of arrangements for the party and she is being assisted by Mrs. Jacob Bischof, Mrs. Burton Hales, Mrs. Burr Robbins, Miss Rosemary O'Brien, and Miss Peggy Ware.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. F. Osborne Elliott have cards out for a "cocktail and oyster bar jamboree" between 1 and 3 o'clock on Saturday at the Glen View club.

Pre-nuptial parties for Miss Nancy Wolcott reach the peak of the crescendo today, with three on her engagement book. Miss Wolcott, the daughter of Mrs. Ryland A. Wolcott of Winnetka, will become the bride

Debuts at Teas

Blonde, blue eyed Miss Beverly Roach, middle daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Roach of Highland Park, made her bow at a New Year's day tea yesterday in her parents' home. The debutante's bouquet of red camellias picked up the color of the red and white beads traced against the bodice of her white chiffon gown. Late in January Miss Roach and her parents will leave for Hobe Sound, Fla.

Miss Peggy Gratiot, whose formal name is Mary Alice, was presented at a tea given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Arthur Gratiot, and her grandmother, Mrs. Alfred Thomson Martin. Guests were received from 4 to 7 o'clock in the Gratiot home in Winnetka. The debutante's gown was of white chiffon, and her bouquet was of sprays of euphorbia, tiny flowers in a glowing orange shade.

Miss Eleanor Daughaday's debut tea was also a house warming for the new Longmeadow farm into which her parents, the Carlos Colton Daughadays, moved just before Christmas. For the party the house was filled with yellow chrysanthemums, and the debutante's white crêpe gown was embroidered in gold. Miss Daughaday, one of six children, soon will return to her classes at Vassar.

WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Coffy of Des Plaines announce the marriage on Christmas day of their daughter, Ruth, to James Scharringhausen, nephew of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Miers of Des Plaines. After their return from a wedding trip thru the west Mr. Scharringhausen and his bride will live in Gary, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barrett of South Aberdeen street announce the marriage in November of their daughter, Margaret, to Jerry Lynch Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynch of South Peoria street.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Ireneus of Drexel avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Virginia, to David B. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Anderson of Hinsdale on Dec. 14 at Tecate, Mexico.

New Schubert Story Makes a Charming Film

"SCHUBERT'S SERENADE."

French Film.
Directed by Jean Boyer.
Music by Franz Schubert.
Presented at the World Playhouse.

THE CAST.

Margaret Brenton	Lillian Harvey
Baron Hartmann	Louis Jouvet
Franz Schubert	Bernard Lancret
Vogl, his friend	Marcell Vallee
Haslinger	Alexandre Rignault
Schwindt	Felix Oudart
Prince Metternich	Pierre Maghier
Beethoven	Auguste Boverio

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Like a gentle spring breeze bearing the misty fragrance of coming rain is the new story written around the life of the moody Schubert.

Is the tale a true one? I wouldn't know. But it is quietly intriguing with its music, its dancing [Schubert loves Margaret Brenton, an English ballet queen], reticent, elegant acting; Viennese backgrounds and costumes of 1825, and atmospheric photography. This last is often rarely beautiful tho, at times, I couldn't make out whether it was "arty" or just poor. Certainly it is cruel at times to Lillian Harvey's makeup.

The English actress plays a pet of the ballet loving public, whose pranks bring her to the notice of the Viennese police chief, Baron Hartman. He promptly falls in love with the naughty little lady and "imprisons" her in luxury . . . Escaping from his amorous vigilance, Margaret departs for an evening of dancing with her friends of the theater, meets Schubert and loses her heart to the temperamental genius. She goes home with him and is beatifically happy, washing his clothes, cooking his meals, etc., until the jealous police chief steps in. . . .

Miss Harvey is pretty in a brittle way and enters into her rôle expertly—after she warms up to it. If you care for the type—the French seem to—you'll enjoy her.

Louis Jouvet is exciting as the sultry police chief. . . . Bernard Lancret is the most pleasing Schubert I have seen. He is usually pictured as so plump and—greasy. . . . Auguste Boverio contributes a beautiful vignette as Beethoven. My father had an etching of Beethoven—and as I watched Monsieur Boverio, I could almost believe it had come alive and found its way to the World Playhouse screen!

The film was ably directed and is a worthy successor to the many worthy films that have graced the screen of this theater.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Anderson of East 52d street announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Reed Schlademan, son of Mrs. Katherine Schlademan of Decatur, Ill. Miss Anderson is a graduate of the University of Chicago. Mr. Schlademan was graduated from James Millikin college in Decatur.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eisendrath of Denver, Col., announce the engagement of their daughter, Eleanor, to Louis C. Loeb of Chicago.

Shops Filled with Gay Garb for Southland

BY REA SEEGER.

Every one who can wangle time off is packing at top speed for some sunshine down south. And the clothes designed for such journeys are the last word in gay colors, in contrasts, and in the newest pastels. There have never been so many good looking soft wool suits. These are the suits to team up with topcoats of similar light fabric and color for the days spent sightseeing, or they are the smartest suits to slide under dark winter topcoats or fur jackets and coats here at home.

Nothing revives a jaded winter wardrobe like a light colored two piece suit. One superlative collection features some beauties, priced way under the $20 limit. The pale beige shades are stunning.

Soft woolens are especially effective in this beige tint. Stitched pockets and details such as narrow band sewed belts and notched lapels make them sleekly tailored. Effective cross plaids and large checks and a few good looking stripes provide a large assortment from which to choose.

The skirts are mostly the pencil straight silhouette, and when the skirts are flared the flare is cut with finished swank, not too skimply nor too wide.

One new arrival is causing no end of shopping excitement. It's the smart two piece O. D. suit from the army uniform shade and a feminized softer version of the twill or gabardine material. The jacket is long and fitted flawlessly, the pockets, four in all, are smartly patched on and each has the eagle brass button with a buttonhole. A slightly flared skirt has flat inverted pleats fore and aft. It's the sensation of the hour.

With it comes a top coat of the same O. D. shade, this, too, is tailored but boasts the new deeply cut sleeves. They start out almost at the beltline under the arm. A tie belt cinches in the waistline in a military greatcoat manner. The duet becomes an outfit that can't be equaled for trim military swagger . . . the price marks will leave the most hardened shopper gasping.

True Beauty Is Impossible if Your Face Is 'Dead Pan'

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"Give me a girl with an alive, cheerful expression and I'll make a beauty of her in the time it takes to fit her out in good clothes, and these she may not need, having the vitality to do right by herself in everything."

So spoke a famous director from the land of beautiful women, Hollywood, who further proclaimed that the plainest Janes with the aliveness and cheer referred to have more appeal to men than the so-called beauties.

The "dead-pan" faces so often seen topping mink coats and ermine, beautiful frocks and slim bodies are a drug on the market, our authority says, so there never was a better chance for the girl who deems herself a plain Jane to step into action. The field is hers, she's told, if she makes alertness her ally and cheer its immediate runner-up. There isn't anything she can't capture, even to the man of her heart's desire.

Come alive, look alive, and be alive is the motto to adopt. Let your expression be just that, alive, interested, enthusiastic. Let it speak for you. Don't ape the beauty with the mask that says nothing, means nothing, has no more animation than a dead fish.

The girl most noticed in a group is not the one who slumps in her seat but the one who is sitting erect with both her feet on the floor and her head up. That's what's meant by an alive and cheerful body. This charm may be had by asking for good posture. That's how a personality is born.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & CO

The Odor of Violets

By Baynard Kendrick

[Copyright: 1940: By Baynard Kendrick.]

SYNOPSIS.

Leaving their house guest, Cheli Scott, Norma Tredwill goes to the city to break up the romance between her libertine ex-husband, Paul Gerente, and her stepdaughter, Barbara. She sees Barbara leaving Paul's apartmnt, goes in and finds Paul has been murdered. Duncan Maclain, a blind detective, receives a visitor who claims to be Paul Gerente, with orders in code from the naval intelligence. On a hunch Maclain goes to Paul's apartment and finds Cameron with the dead man. Cameron confesses to the murder, but Maclain doubts his story. Barbara disappears. Norma's stepson, Gilbert, is designing engineer for Bunny Carter, who is head of the aircraft works. In Gilbert's workshop some one pushes a wardrobe on Norma, and she suspects it is Bella, the maid. Col. Gray, head of the New York defense plans, commissions Maclain and his partner, Spud, to investigate spy activities in connection with the murder of Paul and the bombing sight Gilbert has designed. Maclain goes to the Tredwill home with his two seeing-eye dogs, ostensibly to solve Barbara's disappearance. He discovers Gilbert's bombing sight plans have been traced, and later finds Bella beheaded. He has noticed the odor of violets in Paul's apartment, and notices it again about Bella. He concludes it is a trademark of a foreign spy system, but believes Bella was murdered because she was working for the naval intelligence while pretending to work for the Spies. Maclain goes with Carter to the aviation plant, where he hears Louis Madoc, foreman, speak and recognizes the voice of the man who visited him the night of Gerente's murder, pretending to be Gerente. A perfume ad is mailed Norma from the House of Bonnee, and Maclain decodes it, finding it is a message to kidnap him and find the defense plans. He throws the ad out as bait to catch the criminals after he has sent a message to Spud in the city to go to the House of Bonnee, investigate and be ready to capture the kidnap gang. Spud goes there and the sales girl tries to sell him some black violets perfume. Spud refuses to buy and is knocked out by a whiff of it. Upon reviving he puts up a battle to escape, but is shot. Cameron, who confessed to Gerente's murder, is also working for the intelligence service. The spies think he is locked up under suspicion of murder, but he has been trailing Maclain. He breaks into Maclain's apartment and hears the message on the dictaphone Maclain sent Spud. He reports to Col. Gray. Meanwhile Maclain, driving to town with Cheli Scott, is kidnaped.

INSTALMENT XL.

THREATS.

If Duncan Maclain ever escaped from his prison, he wanted to know that place again.

By aiding himself with his elbows against the side of the packing box which had served him as a couch, he managed to sit erect. Awkwardly he rocked himself around to one end of the box.

Sitting up as straight as possible, he went over the wood with his fingers, starting at the bottom each time and moving his hands upward from the floor.

The packing case was large. Nailed down metal tape bound it at each end. The captain had covered almost the entire surface when his fingers touched a series of small indentations. He went over them once, then sat unbelieveingly with sweat staining his forehead as he traced them again more carefully. Underneath them, punched into the wood, was a tiny arrowhead.

The captain left the box and began to inch across the floor. It was cluttered with debris. Pieces of old iron, several camshafts from automobile motors, and assorted junk of all description put hazards in his way.

He backed into a wall. It was damp and felt as tho it had been whitewashed in the past. He moved along it until stopped by another packing case. It, too, was punched with the letters and the arrowhead. A trip around it brought him in contact with several more. He was certain then that whoever his captors might be they never intended him to leave the place alive.

The name punched into the end of the boxes was that of the great Eagle Munitions works. The arrowhead was the stamp of the British government. He was imprisoned in a storehouse filled with looted British supplies of war.

Behind him a bolt slid back in the door.

There were several people in the room. The captain sat in a straight back armchair with wooden arms and an upholstered seat. Adhesive tape held him motionless, binding his wrists to the arms of the chair. One man standing close beside him was breathing wheezily.

The captain fought to divorce his mind from the asthmatic inhalations of the man beside him so that he might better judge how many men were in the room. He segregated them after a while and gave them numbers.

No. 1 was sitting down. Maclain placed him as being in charge and pictured him sitting behind a table. He had spoken once or twice in a velvety whisper which had sounded at a height approximately on a level with the captain's face.

No. 2 seemed to be a confrère. He was also seated, more to the right. Maclain had followed his footsteps across the room and acoustically watched him take a chair.

No. 3 had adenoids and was standing with his back to a door. Now and again he shuffled his feet uneasily, either touching the doorknob with his buttocks or moving it with his hand.

Asthma was No. 4.

Papers rustled. The captain decided that No. 1 was reading, hence the silence. He followed the unmistakable crackle of fingered paper and the swish as each sheet was finished and laid face down on the table. Once the man with the velvet voice smothered an exclamation of annoyance.

A chair creaked slightly under shifted weight. Once again the captain pieced together a sequence of sounds and divined that a single sheet of the paper had fallen to the floor to be retrieved by No. 2 who handed it back to the reader.

The man with the velvet voice suddenly spoke aloud. "It's to be infinitely regretted that a brave man and an officer should be put to such inconvenience, Capt. Maclain."

The words were spaced. They rolled out dispassionately, without rancor or any noticeable mark of emotion. Unctious with an olive oil texture, they managed to be detached, and terribly impersonal. There was no patriotism behind them, no warmth. Neither was there any coldness nor inhumanity.

The captain was seized with hopelessness at their sound. Trained to estimate others by voice and cadence instead of appearance, it was brought home to him crushingly that he was face to face with a living body whose mind possessed no attribute subject to human appeal. He felt himself in the grip of the ultimate, as tho cast by fate into some strange universe. He stood before Mars himself, the god of war and destruction. It would be futile to argue with a being whose voice had only beauty; as futile as to try to check a headlong rush of nations into ruin by casting himself bodily into the maw of their lancinating machine.

A hand materialized, seized the end of the adhesive tape which muzzled his lips and tore it loose with a single pull.

"Your solicitude overwhelms me," said Duncan Maclain. "I judge that I'm supposed to talk now that my lips are free."

"Assuredly," the No. 1 voice agreed in a single word of unaltered pleasantness. "We find ourselves in an age old situation, Capt. Maclain. I possess something which in your peculiar scale of values is rated most highly—the life of a fellow being. A woman. You possess something which in my peculiar scale of values is rated equally high—the knowledge of plans to defend five salient points in New York City. I'm offering you an exchange, Capt. Maclain, one which is more than fair.

"I want the name and location of those five salient points, and I want to know what measures have been taken to make them safe. I'm offering you the life of a woman in exchange. I say the exchange is more than fair, because whether you decide to tell me or not, a little more work on the part of the organization I represent will inevitably make those points known to me. The defense plans might take longer to obtain. Nevertheless, I'd learn them eventually.

Duncan Maclain lived in a world of sound. He knew each note in the scale of speech; how to make it ring deep with compassion and equally well how to make it pump blood to the face of a listener under the corruscating stab of jibe and irony.

He threw back his head, opened his mouth and suddenly began to laugh. It came from his heart, mirthful and unfeigned, and struck against the confining walls with rolling peals of jollity. Immoderately and long, he continued, shaking his pinioned body in the chair.

The hand which had torn the adhesive loose flashed out and struck him cruelly. Blood stained his lips and a single drop slid quietly down his chin.

"What are you laughing about, you fool?" asked the voice of No. 1.

"I'm laughing about nothing," said Duncan Maclain. "I'm laughing at you. In my peculiar scale of values, I possess two things which you know nothing about. They go by the names of perspicacity and integrity. The perspicacity tells me that neither I nor the woman you're holding will ever leave here alive no matter what I say; the integrity would silence me more effectively than a hundred yards of adhesive no matter how the woman or I might die. Add them both together, my friend, and you have the cause for my laughter. I'm blind and helpless, but I'm an American officer who lost his sight on active service and you're a renegade plotting the downfall of the country you're living in. It amuses me to know that you're the fool and not I."

"A blind man's ears are sensitive, Captain Maclain. Certain steps have been taken to prevent this country you speak about so staunchly from manufacturing war supplies to sell to enemies of mine. Those steps will be felt from coast to coast, joining the bells on Christmas day. Nothing you can do, or any one else, can interfere. You can, however, save yourself the maddened screams of a tortured woman pounding against your receptive ears. Hours of them Captain Maclain. Hours of pleading and entreaty from a woman unwittingly involved in this by you. When you meet death in the end, the thought of those screams will be your torture. Do you know of any more difficult way to die?"

"One," said Duncan Maclain. "Giving satisfaction to a fool."

The chair behind the table moved back and the pleasant voice said, "Perhaps we'd better give you a few hours to think it over, Captain Maclain."

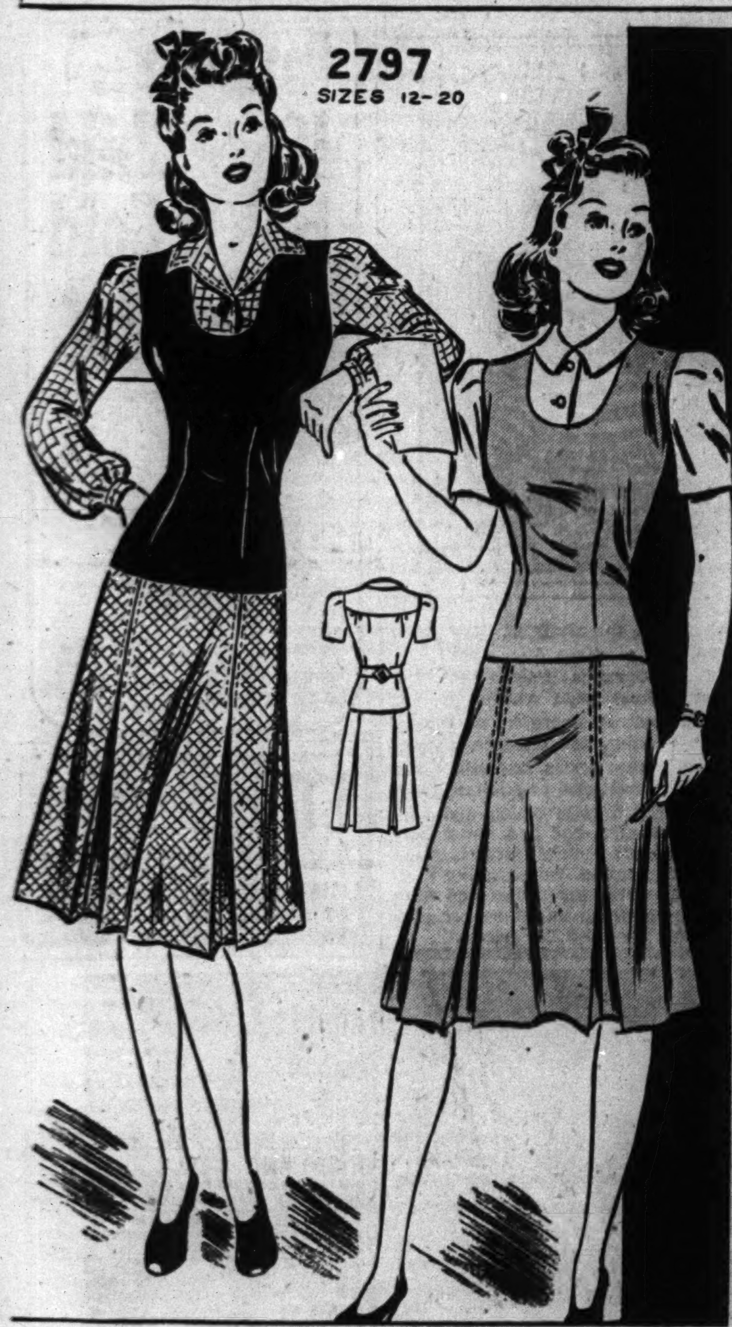
Simulated Jerkin Dress



MISS' JERKIN STYLE FROCK.

Women interested in active sports like the jerkin for the extra warmth it offers, but women who spend most of their time indoors, in offices, for example, find it impractical to wear such a warm overgarment much of the time. Still they like the lines of the jerkin. For such enthusiasts we have designed a stunning daytime frock with simulated jerkin lines, an informal, beautifully tailored number. Make it of woolen or of crêpe or combine the two. Color contrast is an important feature.

Style No. 2797 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 54 inch material for skirt, sleeves, and collar; 1 yard of contrasting; 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for skirt and blouse, with 1 yard of contrasting for sleeves and collar.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the winter Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The worst thing that can happen to many declarers is to have their finesses meet with immediate success. The word "immediate" is stressed with reason. For the fact is that "success," in respect to finesses, is a highly anomalous term. Take a hand such as today's, for example. The naive declarer would have been far better off if his first finesse had failed.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	Pass	Pass

South's last bid was not good. For one thing, South should have grasped the chance to try out a three no trump contract; for another, the leap to five diamonds was too strong for his values. However, since the final contract was "cold," it is not South's bidding but his play which is in urgent need of improvement.

West, not liking a spade or heart lead from his holding, selected the diamond ten as a "neutral" opening. Declarer won, drew the rest of West's trumps, then let the club jack ride. Unfortunately for him, East unhesitatingly did likewise. Now declarer made a horrible and costly mistake. Perhaps he assumed that the club finesse had been established by his preliminary success, or perhaps he just refused to give any thought to the matter. Whatever the reason, the gruesome fact remains that he now took another club finesse. This time East swooped down with his king, returned a heart, and it was all over for declarer. Mournfully winning with the heart ace, he led a low spade toward dummy. West hopped up with the ace, shifted back to hearts, and the contract was down two tricks.

It is scarcely necessary to point out that declarer's second club finesse was inexcusable. When the club jack held, the spade ace should have been removed with the greatest dispatch. Dummy's third spade would afford a discard and then all declarer would have to do would be to stanchly resist the temptation of another club finesse. This was rubber bridge, not duplicate, hence the safety of the contract was the only true consideration.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of The Tribune, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

Women who treasure the beauty and youth of their hands have to be vigilant in their care. Hand skin has the bad habit of ageing quickly if it isn't coddled and protected from day to day. Because hands are exposed constantly, and scrubbed so frequently, the skin is inevitably coarsened or toughened up a bit—but this toughening can go too far, especially in cold weather.

One of the specialists who makes hand adornment and hand care her life work has a neat little package for women who understand the value of hand skin creaming and massage. She calls it a "slumber bundle," which is a good name for it, since it's at bedtime that hands should have their most generous oiling to make up for the oil depletions of the day.

In the little box are a jar of hand cream and a pair of muslin gloves to keep the cream on the hands instead of the sheets. The cream is a smoother and softener, snow white, not too highly perfumed, that lends itself well to massage because it melts rather quickly. The hands should be well washed first, of course, then the cream should be worked in with upward strokes, not forgetting the little pockets between the fingers or the places around the wrists where little lines sprout.

The gloves are light and comfortable, loose enough so that you're hardly conscious of them on your hands. They're the palest possible pink.

The package isn't at all expensive and it's a practical little affair if ever we saw one.

The botanical name for avocado is "persea gratissima," which may be translated, "Persian fruit most pleasing." And a most pleasing fruit it is. There are many varieties of avocado, varying considerably in size, weight, skin texture, and fat content. The one we encounter most these days is a Californian, stamped "calavo" for California avocado. This stamp and classification are reserved for the best varieties produced in that state.

Because of the rich, almost buttery texture of the ripe avocado, and because of its bland flavor, most persons enjoy the fruit with salt and lemon juice or with a sharp French dressing as its only accompaniment.

An avocado ready for eating will yield slightly to pressure between the palms of the hands. It may be served "on the halfshell," in which case it is eaten with a spoon, or the halves may be peeled and served with a fork. In either case it is well to sprinkle the avocado with lemon juice and salt. French dressing may or may not be served with it.

Avocado combines beautifully with other fruits and with vegetables for salads. French dressing is preferable but any fairly tart dressing is good.

Slices of avocado combined with slices of apple, orange, or grapefruit segments, tomato wedges, or slices of pineapple make luscious salads.

Sieved avocado pulp may be jellied in a ring and served as a party salad on watercress or other greens. For special occasions the ring might be filled with sliced or diced fresh fruit or with shrimp or crabmeat salad.

Avocado Ring Mold.
[Serves six.]

1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
1 cup sieved avocado
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Few drops tabasco sauce
Salt to taste

Soak gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes and dissolve in hot water. Cool and add other ingredients. Fill ring mold and chill until firm. Turn out on watercress, chicory, or shredded lettuce. Serve with tart mayonnaise dressing.

Avocados are good sources of vitamins and minerals, and the fat they contain is easily digested, so they are a healthful fruit as well as a delicious one.

Heart Association Opens 16th Annual Stamp Sale Today

The Chicago Heart association, opening its 16th annual stamp sale today, has enlisted the aid of five large department stores on State street. Persons interested in the work of the association may purchase at the service desks in these stores $1 books of heart shaped seals from now until St. Valentine's day, Feb. 14. The organization seeks to raise $15,000 by the stamp sale to carry on its benevolent program for needy persons afflicted with heart disorders.

Cardiac disease, taking more than 12,000 children and adults, was the cause of almost 35 per cent of all deaths in this city in 1939. It is the purpose of the Heart association to reduce that figure by disseminating information, giving convalescent care to children, providing medical care and conducting research.

At the head of the organization as honorary president is the heart specialist, Dr. James B. Herrick. Dr. Sidney Strauss is active president. Others serving at official posts are Dr. James G. Carr, Dr. G. K. Fenn, and Joseph L. Valentine.

Universal day—Were there a few resolutions you forgot? Finish the list today and be ready to work on them tomorrow.

Universal year—This positive side of the number six, which will rule the year of 1941 is an idealistic vibration. At its best it makes people feel considerate of others and willing to make some sacrifices to help others. It is the number of teachers, nurses, homemakers, and judges. The majority of people this year will have a tendency to feel like teaching those who have lost their way in the confusion of words, of nursing the sick, feeding and making homes for the homeless, and also of judging those who are responsible for the ills of the world. A great many people will feel like "taking a hand" in this present crisis.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 1.—You think it's easy to be a movie queen like the superbeautiful Hedy Lamarr? Hedy had a scene to do in "The Great Ziegfeld"—just a simple scene walking up one of those musical comedy staircases. She walked up and down those steps all day long until 7 p. m. Red Golden, the assistant director, lost count after she had done it 60 times, but anyhow he figured that she had climbed the equivalent of three and a half times up the Statue of Liberty.

Still want to be a movie queen, girls? Well, it really is a wonderful life, what with interviews and autographs and glamor stills all over the country—and fan mail. It wouldn't be bad, for instance, to be Mary Beth Hughes, the blonde and beautiful up-comer at 20th-Fox. Mary Beth has been getting quite a lot of fan mail, and here's the breakdown on the last 500 letters she has received:

Requests for charity, 107 letters.

Women wanting to be personal maid, 78 letters.

Women wanting jobs as secretary, 95 letters.

People wanting to become stars, 10 letters.

Boys and girls asking to be adopted, 14 letters.

Proposals of marriage, 16 letters.

Inventors asking backing, 14 letters.

Foreign letters, untranslated, 47 letters.

Personal letters from friends, 38 letters.

Jean Arthur has been taking fencing lessons from Ralph Faulkner—not for a picture, but for the exercise and practice. He says she's as good a pupil as were Douglas Fairbanks and Errol Flynn. . . . Buck Jones and Noah Beery became grandfathers simultaneously when Noah Jr. and Maxine Jones became parents of a daughter. . . . Chester Morris, who just finished "The Return of Boston Blackie" at Columbia, is dickering with one of the major studios for the establishment of a film stock company. The same group of young actors would make a dozen films a year. . . . George Murphy, who is slated to go into Ginger Rogers' "Tom, Dick and Harry," is one of the most recent flu victims. . . . Paramount and William Le Baron are talking a new deal, but Le Baron might switch to a producing job at MGM. . . . Adolphe Menjou, who belongs to the Lakeside Golf club, may be the last man in America who still wears plus fours and diamond back hose. At any rate, he was a shock to me when I saw him the other day. . . .

The Rose Bowl football game gets more space in the papers, but the Tournament of Roses gets the biggest crowd. About 90,000 in the stadium as against 1,000,000 for the parade. Most of the roses for this most Californian of events come from Washington and Oregon! But that's all right, because when the northeast has its rose parade early in the summer most of the blossoms come from California.

Among the movie folk who have been invited by the President to the buffet after the inauguration are Edward G. Robinson, John Garfield, Bette Davis, Errol Flynn, Jane Wyman, and Ronald Reagan. . . . Ida Lupino figures prominently in a movement to get the FCC to permit a new shortwave setup whereby relatives in England and America would be able to talk with each other. Present regulations prevent any such private communications. . . . Final reinstatement of George Raft on the Warner pay roll will reunite most of the group who made "They Drive By Night," the last Raft picture before the holdout-suspension stuff began. The new film, called "Danger Zone," will be produced by Mark Hellinger, directed by Raoul Walsh, and written by Richard Macaulay and Jerry Wald—all of whom were in on the "Drive" hit.

Hollywood can think of as many wonderful reasons for getting married as it can for getting divorced. A chap at Metro announced his forthcoming wedding the other day. "Waddid you wanno do that for?" growled a cynical friend. "Aw," said the bridegroom-to-be, "I am tired of getting out of the car and opening the garage doors myself."

Gypsy Rose Is a Satirist of Her Own Art

BY CECIL SMITH.

The opening of Michael Todd's remarkable popular priced Theater-Café demands a few observations about Gypsy Rose Lee, who is Mr. Todd's top headliner in his initial stage show. Perhaps this subject matter rightfully belongs in Will Davidson's Sunday column of night club comment, but I have been waiting hopefully for an opportunity to declare myself in favor of Gypsy, and I can't bear to let this opportunity pass.

Satire is one of the most effective instruments with which a democratic people may turn the spotlight of criticism upon its habits and its folkways, and a good satirist on the stage is probably several times as valuable as a journalistic critic. It has remained for Gypsy Rose Lee to deliver the only cogent criticism the lowly but popular art of strip-tease has ever received.

In her own discreet and tasteful—yes, I said tasteful—demonstration of strip-tease methods on Mr. Todd's north side stage, Miss Lee employs a technique comparable to that of Marion Colby of "Meet the People." Miss Colby sang doleful torch songs with only the dry husk of superficial vocal style, leaving them wholly meaningless because she refused to infuse them with the phony emotionalism that is the stock in trade of most torch singers. When we saw only the stark technique, we laughed at ourselves for ever having taken any torch songs seriously.

Gypsy Rose Lee accomplishes a similar debunking of historic strip-tease methods. With her tongue in her cheek about the whole thing, she refuses to let even the slightest suggestion of pruriency or lewdness color the deft but mechanical process by which she divests herself of her garments, one by one.

Like a magician giving away his secrets, she shows us how her trick is done. There is no meaning to this, she seems to say, unless you yourself choose to put it there. Yet in spite of its cool realism, her act is a good one, for she performs with the economy of device and the exact projection of a genuine artist.

'Life in Madagascar' Is Topic of Lecture

"Native Life in Madagascar and East Africa" will be the topic of a lecture to be given by Ralph Linton, chairman of the department of anthropology at Columbia university, at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Goodman theater. The lecture is one of a series on "The Story of Man," sponsored by the Geographic Society of Chicago. Prof. Linton led a field museum expedition to Madagascar and will illustrate his talk with pictures taken on the trip.

Nazimova Explained.

Dick Paynter, who now lives in Cedar Falls, Ia., urged a friend in Dubuque to be sure to see the movie Escape when they saw it billed in a downtown theater, with "Nazimova" in lights on the marquee.

"Does Norma Shearer play the rôle of Emmy Ritter?" the friend asked. Told she played the countess, he wanted to know who played Emily Ritter.

"Nazimova," said Mr. Paynter.

There was a moment's pause. Then the friend said:

"O, is that an actress' name? I thought that meant Nazi movie."

Last Thursday was the deadline for registration of aliens. As Robert P. "Don't be impatient, son," answered the officer, patting him on the shoulder." Just think, your Uncle Sam has been sittin' inside there for two and a half months, just waitin' for you to show up."

Offer Five Engineering Scholarships at Armour

Young men completing senior courses in accredited public and private high schools next month are eligible for five one-year scholarships to the Armour College of Engineering, it is announced by the Illinois Institute of Technology. Each scholarship is valued at $300. Winners of the awards will be determined by competitive examination. Candidates must present themselves for personal interviews before Thursday of next week at the institute's south side campus, 3300 Federal street.

of Scott Alexander McKeown Jr. at 4:30 o'clock on Saturday in the Winnetka Congregational church. Mr. McKeown is the son of Mrs. McKeown of Washington, Pa.

This noon Miss Jean Wolcott is giving a spinster luncheon for her sister at one o'clock. Miss Margot Webbe and Miss Janet Musselman are entertaining at a cocktail party at the Albion Webbe home in Winnetka later this afternoon.

Miss Kathleen Kelly will give a bowling and skating party at the Arena tonight and top the evening off with a spaghetti supper. Tomorrow night the bride's mother will give the bridal dinner at the Indian Hill club and Mrs. Hill Blackett will entertain the bridal party at luncheon on Saturday.

Before they leave for Springfield to take up residence in the executive mansion, Governor Elect and Mrs. Dwight Green will be feted at dinner tomorrow in the Camellia house of the Drake Hotel. The party will be given by the Chicago Arden Shore committee, whose benefit in October was headed successfully by Mrs. Green.

Arden Shore Association to Announce New Board.

A new board of directors will be announced at the annual meeting of the Arden Shore association to be held on Friday, Jan. 10, at the Chicago Athletic association. Mrs. J. Eugene Davis, president of the board, will preside. Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, honorary president of the board, and Miss Anna Belle Ferrier, executive head of the Arden Shore camp, will give informal talks.

Miss Jane Leigh will entertain at a bridge luncheon for Miss Patty Chancellor tomorrow at 1 o'clock at the home of her parents, the Maurice Leighs of Winnetka. Miss Chancellor, the debutante daughter of the Justus Chancellors of Winnetka, is a sophomore at the University of Wisconsin.

The Dunham Woods Riding club will lay aside its air of informality on Saturday, Jan. 11, when the Wayne-Du Page hunt give the hunt ball. Dinner will be served at 8:30 o'clock.

All "old boys" and "new boys" aren't confined in English public schools. You'll find plenty of lads so designated at the Tavern club's first stag party of the year to be held on Saturday. "New boys" [members elected since April 24, 1939] will sit back in their chairs and be amused by the rites and high-jinks performed by the "old boys." Even their food and drink is "on the house" for the evening, and each "old boy" must "sponsor" a "new boy."

Leave for Three Months' Trip to Central America.

The garish colors of Mexico, Guatemala, British Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Panama streak across the immediate horizons of the Emil Millets and the William Scudders, for they left yesterday for a three month trip to Central America. The two couples will take the train to New Orleans and from then on most of their traveling will be by boat.

Three Chicagoans who are going to St. Louis for the Junior league conference from Jan. 27 to Jan. 31 are Mrs. Herbert C. de Young [the former Virginia Winston], president of the Chicago Junior league; Mrs. Cyrus Hall Adams II., and Mrs. Roger Q. White.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chaffee of Grosse Pointe, Mich., had all the fun of introducing a brand new son to Santa Claus this year. Young Robert Throckmorton Chaffee was born on Nov. 28. Mrs. Chaffee is the former Mabel Throckmorton, niece of Mr. and Mrs. James Elder of Winnetka, with whom she lived before her marriage. Mrs. Elder leaves next week to visit her new great-nephew.

Chicago Catholic High Schools Show Gain in Enrollment

Chicagoland's Catholic high schools and kindergartens showed an increase in enrollment, but there was a general decline in other Catholic schools during the school year which ended last June. This report was made yesterday by Msgr. Daniel F. Cunningham, superintendent of Catholic schools.

Te total enrollment of 493 schools in the archdiocese, including kindergartens, elementary and high schools, as well as colleges, was 190,531. This was a decrease of 1,975 over the previous year. The greatest loss was noted in the first grades with 17,490 pupils, the lowest figure in 20 years. The grade schools showed an enrollment of 150,872, a decrease of 3,620 from the previous June, despite the opening of two new schools.

Ninety-four new kindergartens were opened, however, during the year and showed an enrolment of 2,611 children, an increase of 2,170. Three new junior high schools also were opened, bringing the total enrollment in 87 high schools to 26,883, an increase of 1,848 students. A decrease of 200 students was shown in the colleges, which had a total enrollment of 12,779.

Favorite Old Ballets Done Impressively

BY EDWARD BARRY.

After offering its large and magnificently responsive New Year's eve audience a full program of novelties, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo last night dipped into its familiar repertoire and presented for the first time this season the Petipa-Tschaikowsky "Swan Lake" and the Fokine-Stravinsky "Petrouchka." The Auditorium held a fair audience, but a person with a fresh memory of Tuesday night felt that the performance was taking place in comparative privacy.

"Swan Lake" is ancient as ballets go [1894] and it was treated last evening with the restraint and decorum which all things classical deserve. No outlandish examples of virtuosity for its own sake marred the slow unfolding of the story of the Hunting Prince and the Swan Queen and the Evil Genius. The performance had a magical, dreamlike quality. There were presented in orderly sequence exactly the activities you would expect to see if you were dumped down beside a moonlit lake and a frowning castle in a distant country.

Swans moved softly and pleadingly, handsome princes leaped proudly into the air, sorcerers delivered silent curses. The principals in this successful evocation of a very frail mood were Mia Slavenska, Igor Youskevitch, Roland Guerard, and Vladimir Kostenko.

As always, "Petrouchka" was impressive last night for the stamping vigor of its crowd dances and for the air of strangeness and distance which pervades it. Leonide Massine's enactment of the tragic puppet who is enslaved by the cruel impresario had its accustomed authenticity. One wonders whether anything which this extraordinarily versatile man does will be remembered in years to come more affectionately than his Petrouchka.

Alicia Markova mimed the dancer and Andre Eglevsky the Moor. Efrem Kurtz conducted the entire program. The evening was topped off with the Massine-Offenbach "Gaité Parisienne."

SCIENCE LEARNS ROOTS HAVE TO WORK FOR LIVING

Views Future of Mankind with Optimism.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 1.—Even plant roots have to work for a living, it was shown today in the $1,000 prize paper selected at the closing of the 106th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Absorption of mineral food from the soil is not a passive process of diffusion, as formerly thought, the prize committee stated, but is rather a vital biochemical function in which the root performs work. The energy which results in growth comes from the respiratory activity of the root. The energy necessary may be imagined in the process that makes a giant oak from an acorn. It is not a static but a dynamic process.

"This contribution is important," it was stated, "not only from a fundamental theoretical standpoint, but also from a practical standpoint, especially in agriculture."

The prize paper was by D. R. Hoagland and D. I. Arnon of the University of California.

Plan International Body.

The sessions on science and democracy and discussions of the menace to science thru war and dictatorship, which have been a feature of this meeting, resulted in a resolution of the association council seeking the formation of an "international charter of democracy." The association, which has nearly a million members in its affiliated societies, seeks closer coöperation with the British Association for the Advancement of Science. The resolution adopted states:

"Whereas, at this time of international stress, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, at its 106th meeting convening in Philadelphia, a city sacred to the foundation of our republic, realizing the share of responsibility of scientific men for the general welfare of free peoples, seeks the coöperation of their English speaking colleagues.

"Resolved, that the American Association for the Advancement of Science wants the coöperation of the British Association for the Advancement of Science in attempting to formulate, upon scientific principles, an international charter of democracy."

If a favorable reply is received from the British association a committee will be appointed to draft the charter.

Ground for Optimism.

Those who look upon life and its manifestations in pessimistic mood, finding nature red in tooth and claw and entirely unfriendly and thus building a sad philosophy, may have to shift the grounds of their outlook a bit.

"Objective science, if understood, is not as earth bound as certain religious and secular philosophers teach in season and out," says Prof. W. C. Allee, biologist of the University of Chicago, "when by the application of scientific method we can discover not alone of disoperation but also of fundamental tendencies toward coöperation even among protozoa."

Protozoa are the lowest forms of animal life, one celled animals that might be called the atom of life. This is where evolution begins. Prof. Allee presented a paper on the integration of protozean population with those of general biology.

Higher Levels of Sociality.

"The existence of undercrowding," he writes, "and the consequent likelihood of the existence of an optimal population which is larger than the minimum necessary for reproduction, indicates that up to certain limits of population size, group survival values exist on which evolution can act by selecting a superindiviualistic unit.

"Continued selection of such units may result in the evolution of increasingly important coöperations. Such selection can readily be a pathway by which higher levels of sociality [or coöperative life] have arisen from the more primitive types of coöperation.

"With protozoa, for example, there is evidence of the existence of sociality based on a fairly complex system of sexual discriminations such as have been unearthed by Sonneborn, Jennings, and others. Sociality in the protozoa strikes deeper than this. The existence of an optimum population at some intermediate size indicates that there is a tendency toward a conscious coöperation which was probably the forerunner of all phases of social living."

Social Life Not an Accident.

"The radical aspect of this matter," he continues, "comes in its implications. One of these is that potential sociality is as inherent in living organisms as are the potentialities of disoperation. This means that social life is not an accident which appears sporadically among a few higher evolved animals. It is rather a normal and basically widespread phenomena.

"This carries another implication which is particularly pertinent to consider under present world conditions. If we are justified in concluding from the evidence such as I have been summarizing, that there is an innate tendency toward sociality which is widely distributed among living things, this conclusion bears directly on human thought and action.

"One of the interesting suggestions which develops from these considerations concerns the currently popular pose that science in general and biological science in particular pushes us toward an attitude of human defeatism and general pessimism. Such a tendency is not wholly in accord with the evidence.

Takes Hopeful Viewpoint.

"Disoperative competition [survival of the fittest] is not the only reality in nature. While there are ample grounds, particularly on the short-run view, for being pessimistic about human nature and the biological world in geneal, the facts, or at least a reasonable interpretation of the apparent facts, do not of necessity force us to that position. Rather, for the long run view at least, an objective survey of all available evidence seems to permit and even to encourage a reasonable and reassuring naturalistic optimism."

The new electron microscope exhibited at the Radio Corporation of America research laboratories at Camden has attracted the attention of many scientists at this session. Bacteriologists and physicists are particularly interested in its possibilities, as it magnifies objects up to 100,000 times and is 20 to 50 times more sensitive than the ordinary microscope. It opens new worlds of research in the isolation of the microorganism that causes the common cold, for instance; discovery of other disease microbes, and the study of their inner structure.

It photographs much that has never before been visible to the human eye. Photographs of the tubercle bacillus, for instance, showed not only the germs but filmy surrounding envelopes and outstretched antennalike flagella which had been known to exist but had never been seen without special straining and other preparation. Surrounding these microbes were tiny bodies and filmy substances which might be parasites that prey on the killer germs.

The Man who can't be Conquered

IN a troubled world he retains his freedom. He can own property, send his children to school, worship as he chooses, express his opinions, get his news through a free press and radio. He is the typical American father.

Across his path, recent years have placed many obstacles—depression, unemployment, floods, droughts, disasters, and now, the shadow of wars abroad.

And yet, inspired by his unrestricted right and burning desire to provide for his family's welfare to the utmost limits of his ability, he has conquered every hardship.

His home, with its modern Heating and Plumbing, has been a vital source of comfort and strength to him—an object of envy to the rest of the world. Heating safeguards against dampness and cold upon which illness thrives. Plumbing supplies the fresh, pure water so essential to well-being and carries away waste so dangerous to health.

And we are proud of the part we have played, through Heating and Plumbing Contractors, in providing this comfort and health protection for millions of Americans in every walk of life.

STANFORD, BOSTON COLLEGE WIN BOWL GAMES

SHAUGHNESSY'S TEAM DEFEATS NEBRASKA, 21-13

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 1.—Nebraska learned today that Stanford's amazing football team is as good as its followers had claimed. In the presence of 90,000 looking down from the serried heights of the gayly bedecked Rose bowl the Cornhuskers, champions of the Big Six conference, put the Cinderella men to the test and came away soundly beaten, 21 to 13.

Stanford had been called lucky. Each of the nine opponents it trampled down thru the most spectacular season in its 50 year history, belittled its prowess. Even some of the natives, who normally could enthuse over homicide if it carried a California label, were lukewarm toward the team which had risen from last place in the Pacific Coast conference a year ago to an unbeaten and untied season.

They Prove They're Good.

But this afternoon in the climax of a day of pageantry and fiesta Stanford proved itself as mighty as its record with a demonstration of fundamental football that swept the powerful Cornhuskers into an honorable but decisive defeat. Stanford rallied twice to gain the lead in the first half and made safe its margin with a third period touchdown that squelched the last hopes of 10,000 Nebraskans, the largest visiting delegation ever to attend this annual holiday game.

Stanford met Nebraska's every challenge. After Nebraska had carried back the opening kick-off and marched 47 yards to a 7 point lead on Vike Francis' two yard plunge and his point after touchdown, Stanford roared back to tie the score on the first of two touchdowns by Chicago's Hugh Gallarneau and the first of Frankie Albert's three conversions.

Huskers Score Again.

In the second period Nebraska again put the issue up to the so-called Wow Boys from the farm, as the Stanford campus is known hereabouts. It took a 13 to 7 lead on Herman Rohrig's 33 yard pass to Allen Zikmund, a rangy sophomore half back who hardly expected to get a chance in this important game and wound up as one of the stars.

Stanford received the ensuing kick-off and, without surrendering the ball, advanced sixty-five yards in eight plays to even the count again on a perfectly executed and spectacular forty yard pass maneuver, Albert to Gallarneau. Albert's kick for the extra point sent Stanford ahead and thereafter Nebraska, the team whose superior reserves were expected to be the difference between victory and defeat, definitely was at the mercy of Stanford's white shirted horde.

Pete Goes to Town.

The final touchdown of the afternoon came on Pete Kmetonic's thirty-eight yard return of a punt. It followed the one development of the second half that gave Nebraska cause for rejoicing. Stanford had moved sixty-nine yards up the field to the 2 yard line, where it was first down. Four times Stanford hurled its might at the line and four times

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 1.—One of the reasons the Sugar bowl football game has proved so popular with tourists is the opportunity it provides to spend New Year's eve in New Orleans. . . . We have mingled with crowds in New York's Times Square as a new year dawned. . . . We have shared the wild enthusiasm of 250,000 jammed into St. Peter's square in Rome during a papal election. . . . We have seen thousands carry on hysterically at exciting moments of a heavyweight championship fight or a college football game. . . . We have heard the cheering of Nazi sympathizers as Hitler's goose steppers paraded down Berlin's Unter den Linden. . . . But we hadn't seen anything in the way of enthusiasm or civic gayety until we mingled with the New Year's eve merrymakers on New Orleans' Canal street. . . . There were more out-of-towners celebrating here last night than a year ago when Tulane's game with the Texas Aggies was the attraction for visitors. . . . This time both Sugar bowl teams were from outside the city—Tennessee and Boston college—and they brought thousands of supporters with them, especially Tennessee. . . . All of them apparently got an early start in welcoming 1941 and they kept at it until daybreak. . . . Buildings in the internationally known Vieux Carre, which have survived 200 years of history making events and rule by three different nations, looked down last night on one of the wildest scenes in their long existence. . . . The hoopla began at 8 o'clock and kept steadily increasing until the electric clock at one of the city's principal intersections blinked midnight. . . . Graying masters in the art of mixing drinks reported record demands for the Ramos gin fizz, Sazerac cocktail, Planters punch, dropped frappes and other drinks familiar to all New Orleans revelers. . . .

Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern and his line coach, Burt Ingwersen, are vacationing on an island off Florida's west coast. . . . Plans are under way to double deck the end stands at Tulane university's stadium, which would increase the capacity to 98,000. The New Orleans Midwinter Sports association, which sponsors the Sugar bowl football game, had to turn down more than 25,000 ticket applications for today's contest between Tennessee and Boston college. The present capacity is 73,000. . . . The Nashville Tennesseean, which conducts a qualifying tournament for the Chicago Golden Gloves meet, will hold 34 preliminary events of its own. . . . The press box at the Sugar bowl game is the most commodious this department ever has seen. . . . New Orleans' three sports editors, Bill O'Keefe of the Times-Picayune, Harry Martinez of the States, and Fred Digby of the Item-Tribune, have put in more than 25 years each as Crescent city journalists. It must be the climate. . . . Charley O'Rourke, Boston college's brilliant left half back, has no gridiron superstitions. He played thru his final year of collegiate competition wearing No. 13 on his jersey. O'Rourke was drafted for professional football by the Chicago Bears.

Lovely Day.

This was such a lovely day,
Tho drenched with rain and gloom outside;
The house was snug, with lamplight gay,
Drawn curtains held the cheer inside.

Spun magic thru the peaceful air.

And sharing all this joy with me,
An understanding kindred heart.

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 1.—For ten minutes this afternoon the white shirted lads from Texas A. & M. played the kind of football that had brought them Southwest championships for two consecutive years. In this brief time, two brilliant sorties carried the southerners to a 13 to 12 victory over Fordham's Rams.

The Aggies won by the margin of Marion Pugh's place kick after the second touchdown.

The result, of course, was satisfactory to the throng of nearly 47,000 that jammed every seat in the Cotton bowl, even tho the Aggies failed to perform as well as their adherents had expected.

Rams Score First.

Big John Kimbrough, unanimous choice for full back of 1940, occasionally burst thru the rugged Ram wall, but neither he nor his mates linked together a concerted drive. Moreover, Fordham supplied most of the thrills, not only because the Rams fought furiously against odds, but because of their fourth period rally that could have tied the score with benefit of the extra point.

Fordham made two serious threats in the first 25 minutes of the game before it finally drove 20 yards after Joe Ungerer blocked an Aggie fourth down punt.

From this point the Rams scored in six plays. Len Eshmont and Jim Blumenstock reached the Aggies' 9 yard line. After an incomplete pass Jim Noble took the ball from Steve Filipowicz on the hoary Statue of Liberty play and went around right end to the 1 yard line. Filipowicz then scored on a plunge to the weak side after a right shift. Steve Hudacek missed the try for extra point.

Score on Second Play.

The Aggies tied the score on the second play from scrimmage in the second half. They had possession on their own 35 yard line after Fordham's kickoff had gone out of bounds. On the first play Earl Smith carried the ball for three yards. Then, with no Fordham player detecting him, Smith went wide to the right, and raced down field behind Eshmont to take Pugh's long pass.

Smith caught the ball on Fordham's 35 yard line and sprinted out of reach of Eshmont's desperate tackle.

IT'S MISSISSIPPI STATE IN ORANGE BOWL, 14 TO 7

Miami, Fla., Jan. 1 (AP).—Mississippi State's football team scored two touchdowns in the first half and then staved off Georgetown's desperate comeback to win the ninth annual Orange bowl football game, 14 to 7, before an overflow crowd of 35,101 today.

The Mississippi State line rose to great heights and the Maroons' famous J-Boys, Jefferson and Harvey Johnson, harassed the Hoyas, who suffer their second defeat in three years.

Corhern Blocks Punt.

A guard, Capt. Hunter Corhern, was the hero of Mississippi State's first touchdown. Johnson's well placed punts put Georgetown in a hole and Daniels tried to kick out from his end zone.

Corhern came tearing in to block the punt with one hand on the goal line, and John Tripson, a tackle, fell on the ball in the end zone. Wilbur Dees, State's blocking quarter back, converted from placement.

Billy Jefferson was the engineer as

Zale Stops Martin in Eighth; Cut Eye Ends Milwaukee Fight

BY FRANK MASTRO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 1.—Tony Zale, middleweight champion, celebrated his return to this city after a six year absence by scoring an eight round technical knockout over Tony [Cianciola] Martin in the windup bout of the annual New Year's day punch bowl event in the Auditorium this afternoon. It was a nontitle encounter, scheduled for 10 rounds.

The crowd of 4,500, which contributed a gross gate of $5,374, booed when Referee Ted Jamieson stopped the match between the seventh and eighth rounds because Martin incurred a badly injured left eye. The match officially ended in the eighth because the bell had sounded for resumption of hostilities.

Hurt in Third Round.

Martin received the injury in the third round when Zale scored with a right. In the ensuing rounds the champion aggravated the wound to such an extent that the eye was closed when the match was ended. Martin was battling on even terms up to the finish.

After the fight, Zale, who injured his left hand in vanquishing Fred Apostoli in Seattle Nov. 20, said the weapon withstood the test. Bill Rand, who is sponsoring a 10 round nonchampionship contest between Zale and Steve Mammakos of Washington, D. C., in Chicago Stadium Jan. 10, breathed a sigh of relief.

Seward Stops Scully.

In the opening bout Settimo Terracina, Chicago light heavyweight, knocked out Hank Thorsen in one round, and Ramey McKnight, Milwaukee welterweight, pounded out a decision in five rounds over Bill Reardon of Oak Park.

Billy Seward, Ingomar, Mont., lightweight, scored a four round knockout over Sammy Scully of Chicago in the third match on the program. Sammy Secreet, Pittsburgh, welterweight, held Jimmy Pierce of West Allis to a five round draw verdict.

O'Rourke Leads 4th Period Drive.

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Jan. 1.—Move over, Davey O'Brien, Bobby Kellogg, John Kimbrough, and other stars of Sugar bowl football games. You've got to make room for a 158 pound half back named Charley O'Rourke who today sparked Boston college to a 19 to 13 victory over Tennessee in as thrilling a contest as this brilliant competition has produced.

O'Roure's flaming courage and mechanical skill electrified 73,181, the largest crowd in the history of the Sugar bowl, when he led his team in an eighty yard march for the deciding touchdown at a time when Boston supporters were willing to settle for a 13 to 13 tie.

The Big March Starts.

The play by play detail of Boston college's winning touchdown will give you some idea of the heights to which O'Rourke rose when the going was toughest and the clock was nearing the end of its route.

Boston took the ball on its 20 yard line after Tennessee's unsuccessful try for a field goal from the 12. O'Rourke found an opening at his right tackle for five yards. Francis Maznicki, whose exploits this day deserve a star spangled chapter in the Eagles' gridiron annals, gained a first down in two thrusts at the Tennessee line.

Away Goes Charley.

This is where O'Rourke took over the game. Famed as the best forward passer in the east, he whipped two aerials, one to Henry Toczylowski and another to Maznicki, which fell incomplete. On the third down he connected with a toss to Ed Zabilski at midfield. The same play gave the Eagles another first down on the Volunteers' 31.

O'Rourke's next pass was a short throw to Maznicki for seven yards. On the following play he faded back as if to throw another forward but instead darted off his left tackle, cut back to the right and eluded one Tennessee tackler after another until he crossed the goal line standing up. Maznicki's try for point was wide, but nobody cared. Less than two minutes remained to play and O'Rourke himself paralyzed the champions of the Southeastern conference by intercepting one of their passes, thereby definitely ending their last faint hope of snatching victory out of the ashes of defeat.

Coaching Tells the Story.

Boston college was the best coached team we have looked at this season. There was a versatility to its attack that obviously befuddled the boys from Knoxville in the last two periods. The Eagles, always a gambling, take-a-chance team, relied on a five man line to stop an offense that had riddled every opponent in its path and they did it to a fare-the-well, with the exception of a few minutes in the opening quarter when Tennessee put on a magnificent drive that carried forty-six yards for its first touchdown.

Tennessee was supposed to have as strong tackles and ends as you could find in intercollegiate ranks this season, but they frequently were blotted out altogether by the speed and effective blocking of the team from New England.

Tennessee Gets a Freak.

Robert Foxx was Tennessee's best ball carrier. He averaged six yards in seven trips with the ball, but there were other Volunteer backs who annoyed the Eagles more than Foxx. One of them was Buist War-

STANFORD TURNS BACK NEBRASKA ELEVEN, 21 TO 13

90,000 See Shaughnessy Team Triumph.

Nebraska beat it back, taking the ball on the 1 yard line on downs. Then Rohrig kicked out to Kmetovic.

If the first half had left the jury of 90,000 without sufficient evidence of Stanford's greatness, this play closed the case. Ten Cornhuskers were knocked to the turf, permitting Kmetovic to run to one side line, reverse his field, and scamper to the other side of the gridiron. Only Francis, the Nebraska full back, had a chance to reach Kmetovic and he was removed by Dick Palmer, a 205 pound guard, with a block that sent Francis flying into the air and dumped him on his head.

Albert Runs the Team.

Stanford's widely publicized man in motion offense, said to have been copied from the Chicago Bears, only basically resembled the attack with which the Bears won the professional championship. For the most part, the Indians, flawlessly directed by Albert, the left hand passer and kicker, relied on plays not in the Bears' répertoire.

In Albert, Gallarneau, and Kmetovic, Stanford had three backs who contributed more than their share to making this game the most interesting, in the opinion of Rose bowl veterans, since Notre Dame's four horsemen turned back Ernie Nevers and Stanford on this same turf on Jan. 1, 1925. Gallarneau provided the power that kept Nebraska's defense drawn in. Kmetovic was the open field threat that kept the Husker secondary tensely alert. And Albert was the guiding genius, who took advantage of every Nebraska mistake.

Standlee Helps Cause.

These backs, with the help of Norman Standlee, the big full back, who has been hampered by an injured ankle, far exceeded any ball carriers on the Nebraska lineup except Francis. They also had the advantage of deploying behind a line that outcharged the rugged Cornhuskers. Outstanding among the linemen were Vic Lindskog, the former junior college blocking back who played most of the game at center, and Stan Graff, a 180 pound end.

Nebraska lost no time carrying the issue to Stanford. Albert invited trouble by topping the opening kickoff. It bounded to Francis, who came back twenty-eight yards to the Indians' 47 yard line. The big full back carried the ball on the first three plays and blasted the line for a total of twenty-five yards. Walter Luther broke outside Stanford's left tackle, Bruno Banducci, for thirteen yards, making it first down on the 9 yard line. Francis added two, Luther went inside Banducci for five, and then Francis shot between Banducci and Graff for a touchdown.

Indians Go Marching.

Stanford's tying touchdown was set up by Kmetovic's thirteen yard return of Hopp's punt and his thirty yard run outside left tackle on first down. This placed the ball on the 18 yard line. Gallarneau lost two on a sweep around end, but Kmetovic kept the advance alive by popping thru the line for eleven yards. Gallarneau then negotiated the final nine yards on a similar play thru the other side of the line.

Midway in the second period Herman Rohrig's forty-five yard quick kick on third down surprised the Stanford secondary, and Kmetovic, attempting to make a catch while going back, fumbled. Zikmund recovered on Stanford's 33 yard line. Rohrig rifled a pass to Zikmund and the latter gathered it in behind the Stanford secondary on the 10 yard line. He staggered across the goal line in the arms of a tackler. Rohrig's place kick for the extra point was blocked.

Kicking Strategy Fails.

Rohrig then immediately courted disaster by sending the ball out of bounds on the kickoff. Stanford put it in play on its 35 yard line. Standlee passed eight yards to Graff, plunged three yards for a first down, and added five more yards. Albert, faking a lateral to Standlee, ran around end for six yards, and Kmetovic got two to move the ball to the 40 yard line. Then Gallarneau broke thru the line, hustled thru the secondary, and took Albert's pass on the 20 yard line. Rohrig came up to make the tackle, but Gallarneau shook him off and scored easily. Albert's kick put Stanford ahead.

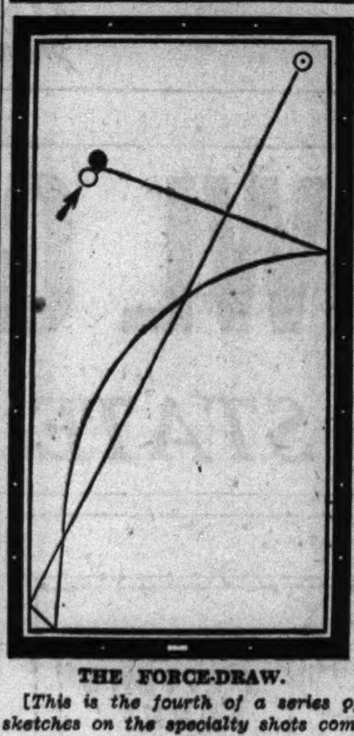
Shots of the Stars



THE FORCE-DRAW.

[This is the fourth of a series of sketches on the specialty shots competitors in the world's three cushion billiards championship, opening Jan. 13 in Bensinger's, 131 South Wabash avenue, are expected to use.]

The most colorful shot in the répertoire of the colorful Joe Chamaco, former national titleholder and one of the top favorites in the world tournament, is the force-draw. It's the Mexican star's personal favorite. More than often he plays the shot with a half-masse. The force-draw is one of the most difficult maneuvers in the game. The cue ball takes an almost incredible curve when leaving the first cushion, since the shot requires the most powerful stroke of all in billiards. Most of the experts shy away from attempting it. Chamaco made two of this variety last spring in the course of losing a 50 to 49 match to Champion Willie Hoppe.

Du Sable Five Hands Tuley 50-38 Defeat

A tall team from Du Sable High school became the first colored quintet to win the championship of the University of Chicago basketball tournament by defeating Tuley, 50 to 38, in the Midway fieldhouse yesterday. Tilden nosed out Austin, defending champion, 34 to 31, in an overtime period of their playoff for third place.

Nathaniel Clifton, 6 foot, 6 inch center, sparked the colored team by sinking 11 baskets for 22 points, as well as leading a tight defense. Tuley used nine men.

Du Sable forged steadily ahead in the second half, achieving an 8 point lead at the close of the third quarter.

Capt. Bill Miller of Tuley was high scorer of the tournament with 81 points, followed closely by Capt. George Felt of Austin, who made 80.

Oscar Green of Du Sable had the highest average per game with 14.8, and took single game honors with 24 points against Austin. Lineups:

BRUINS LOSE 3D IN ROW; SHEBOYGAN TRIUMPHS, 34-32

Chicago's Bruins lost their third straight National Basketball league contest last night, 34 to 32, despite a wild rally at the finish. The Sheboygan Indians were the victors before some 2,000 fans at the 132d Regiment armory. Otto Kolar, of Cicero, who has captained Sheboygan for the past few years, scored four baskets in the final period for the winning margin for the Sheboygan quintet. The Bruins led at the half, 18 to 16. Lineups:

BOSTON COLLEGE RALLY DEFEATS TENNESSEE, 19-13

73,181 See Eagles March 80 Yards to Victory.

Tennessee got a break shortly after the opening kickoff when O'Rourke fumbled while returning a punt from Foxx. The bounding oval was recovered by Ackerman of Tennessee on the Eagles' 27 yard line.

It looked as if the Volunteers were on their way to a touchdown when Thompson bolted thru the center of the Boston line for a first down. On the next play Gladchuk, the easterners' center, stopped Nowling, Tennessee full back, after he had picked up two yards. George Kerr, the Eagles' right guard who next year will enter a Jesuit seminary to study for the priesthood, broke up a forward pass intended for Foxx. O'Rourke batted down another aerial from Thompson, this one aimed at Coleman, and on fourth down Manzo, Boston's left tackle, dumped Thompson on the 16 yard line and the ball went over to the Eagles.

O'Rourke Forced to Kick.

Tennessee's line was much too strong for the lighter boys from New England and it smothered Boston's first two running plays. On third down O'Rourke kicked out of bounds on his 46 yard line.

A second break was all the Volunteers needed. Thompson whipped a pass to Foxx which O'Rourke knocked down but the toss was ruled complete because of alleged interference on Boston's 33. Thompson lost a yard at center, but clicked with a pass to Coleman on the 22 yard line. Thompson cracked thru the Eagles' middle for five and Foxx, on a reverse play, gained a first down on the 12 yard line. On the next play Thompson found a hole inside his left tackle and raced over the goal line standing up.

Foxx Adds the Point.

Foxx, with Thompson holding the ball, kicked the point that gave Tennessee a 7 to 0 lead.

Boston college flashed its first offensive power late in the opening quarter after getting the ball on its 20 yard line when Tennessee's Warren kicked out of bounds.

O'Rourke, deploying behind devastating blocking, went around his right end for thirteen yards. Holovak pounded the center of the line for nine. Goodreault grabbed O'Rourke's pass and sped to Tennessee's 33. O'Rourke bolted thru his right tackle for nine and Maznicki made it a first down on the Vol's 20. The Eagles' downfield flight was checked when Cifers, Tennessee's right end, intercepted O'Rourke's short pass over the line intended for Goodreault. Cifers lateraled to Warren, who came back to his 26 as the first quarter ended.

Boston's first touchdown drive was set up when Henry Woronicz blocked Foxx's punt in the third quarter, Ed Zabilski recovering for the Eagles on the Volunteers' 17 yard line. This was the first time in seven years an opponent had blocked a Tennessee punt. Maznicki sped around his left end for four yards and, on the next play, Connolly, with Woronicz clearing a path, went around the right flank for a touchdown. Maznicki kicked the point which tied the score at 7 to 7.

Kickoff Is a Fizzle.

Gladchuk kicked out of bounds intentionally on the kickoff, but the oval sailed over the sidelines on the 45 yard mark where Tennessee took possession. Thompson got five yards at center and Foxx went ten before Maznicki grounded him. Thompson scooted around end for nine and Newman made it a first down on Boston's 28. After Newman picked up two, Thompson passed to Cifers for twelve. Thompson was trapped for a two yard loss, but on the next down passed to Cifers. The ball fell several feet away, but Field Judge Ray Barbuti ruled that Ed Zabilski had interfered with Cifers and the ball was given to the Volunteers on the 2 yard line.

Newman got a yard at center and Warren went over at the same spot for the touchdown that put Tennessee ahead. The pass from center was bad on the try for point and Newman was caught trying to run the ball over the goal.

Eagles Fight Back.

Boston college came back with its tying touchdown before Tennessee rooters could regain their composure. Tennessee kicked off to the Eagles' 31 and the easterners never relinquished the ball until Holovak, great sophomore right half back, crossed the goal on the ninth play.

Connolly went over right guard for nine. A fifteen yard penalty on the Vols moved the ball into their territory. Connolly passed to Naumetz on Tennessee's 33. Maznicki gained eight on a reverse from Connolly. Connolly cracked thru his right tackle for a first down on the ten. Holovak picked up three and Maznicki, on a razzle dazzle play which sends three backs fifteen yards to the right, put the ball on the 2 yard line. Holovak plunged to within six inches of the goal and went over on the next play. Maznicki tried to score the extra point on a line buck which fizzled.

West Defeats East, 20 to 14, on 53 Yard Run in 3d Quarter

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 1 (AP).—Paul Christman's high looping passes for two touchdowns and Jimmy Johnson's fifty-three yard end run for a score in the third quarter won the West a 20 to 14 victory today over an East football aggregation that snatched its two scores on passes by Tommy Harmon of Michigan. A crowd of 62,000 packed Kezar stadium to see the Shrine's annual charity spectacle.

With Christman, Missouri star, engineering a sharpshooting passing offense, the West snatched control in the second period and surged into the lead with two scoring passes, one to Dean McAdams of Washington, and another to Jack Banta of Southern California.

Evashevski Snares Pass.

The best run Harmon, Michigan's famous halfback, made all day was good for only eighteen yards and from then on he was bottled up tight, along with Francis Reagan [Pennsylvania] and the other star East backs. Reagan's fine kicking probably saved the East from a worse trouncing.

Reagan raced around his left end from the West's 35 yard line to the 14 to set up the East's first touchdown. From there Harmon picked up three on a fake placekick formation, and Reagan punched the line for one.

Pass to McAdams Scores.

Christman's passes reversed the situation quickly in the second period, tying the score in five minutes. The Missouri ace passed to Bill Jennings [Oklahoma] to move the ball up to the East 47, and another, Christman to Andy Marefos [St. Mary's], was good for seventeen more.

Then Christman ran his left end to the 23 and, before the East defense could get set, lobbed a lazy, high one to McAdams for a score. McAdams placekicked.

Christman's crew came roaring back downfield again from the East 43 yard line. Christman passed to Howard Hickey [Arkansas] and Bob Peoples [Southern California] hit the line for a first down on the East 21.

Christman put the finishing touch on the drive with a pass flipped to hard running Banta, who caught it in the end zone. Hickey placekicked. The West led, 14 to 7, at half time.

Frutig Scores on Pass.

Things looked bad for the East going into the fourth but a push from the East 45 yard line was good for a touchdown. Harmon passed to Ed Frutig [Michigan] for a first down on the West 38. He followed up with a toss to Bob Paffrath [Minnesota] to the 21, and a third bewildering pass over the goal to Frutig, who leaped high to snap it while boxed in between two West defensemen. Ruffa kicked the extra point.

Tom O'Boyle, of Tulane university, the East's right guard, suffered a fracture of the fibula of his right leg in the third period when caught under a mass of players. He was carried from the field on a stretcher, but later insisted on returning to watch the game. Lineups:

Texas Aggies Score, 13 to 12, Over Fordham

when he kicked out of bounds on Fordham's 4 yard line. The Rams got away from danger apparently when a surprise forward pass by Blumenstock, standing in his own end zone and in punt formation, was caught by Noble. But Noble, penned against the side line on his own 30 yard line, tried to lateral to Tom Bennett. The pass was thrown forward, however, and this second forward pass on the same down canceled the gain and sent Fordham back on its own 4 yard line.

This time Blumenstock kicked and Moser took the ball in midfield. He headed toward the east side line and outran the four Fordham men who were covering the punt. He finally was downed on Fordham's 25, but on the play Capt. Lou De Filippo was convicted of roughness on Fordham's 15 yard line. The assessment gave the Aggies possession of the ball on Fordham's 1 yard line. On the first play Kimbrough lunged at defensive right tackle but swerved and skirted the end to score standing up. Pugh's successful kick for the point sent the Aggies ahead, 13 to 6.

March 44 Yards.

Just before the end of the third period Fordham started its second scoring march from the Aggies' 44 yard line, where Al Santilli, a substitute tackle, had recovered Joe Rothe's fumble of Blumenstock's high punt. An Aggie offside and a two yard plunge finished the quarter.

Filipowicz's pass to Stan Ritinski was good for a first down on the Aggies' 28. Eshmont got eight yards around defensive left end and two consecutive plunges by Filipowicz registered a first down on the Aggies' 15 yard line. Blumenstock erased this distance on the next play, cutting back inside of right tackle and weaving past the defensive half back to sprawl on the goal line.

For the second time of the game, Hudacek was sent from the Fordham bench to kick the point. The first time he was blocked by Jim Sterling. This time the ball bounded from the outstretched hands of an Aggie lineman, carried to the goal posts but landed on the cross bar and then rolled off on the gridiron side.

PIKE OF RANGERS HANDS MONTREAL A 2 TO 1 VICTORY

New York, Jan. 1 (AP).—Alfie Pike, the New York Rangers forward, fired a pass into his own cage tonight and gave the Montreal Canadiens a 2 to 1 victory in a National Hockey league game in Madison Square Garden.

The break of the game, ending a 1-1 deadlock that threatened to go into overtime, came in the 14th minute of the third period when Tony Graboski, Canadiens' utility defense man, flicked a short pass five feet in front of the Ranger cage. Pike wheeled to clear it and banged the rubber into his own net behind the astonished goalie, Davie Kerr. Lineups:

IT'S MISSISSIPPI STATE IN ORANGE BOWL, 14 TO 7

State's machine clicked to its second score. Jefferson sped sixteen yards around end to begin the drive and later pitched a twenty-one yard pass to Walter Craig eight yards from the Georgetown goal.

Jefferson and Toxie Tullos lugged the ball within a foot of the goal as the first quarter ended. Jefferson went thru tackle for the touchdown and Sonny Bruce came in to kick the 14th point.

Georgetown began to pick up steam before the half, moving twenty-nine yards once and twenty-six again, but didn't get beyond Mississippi State's 30.

Penalty Leads to Touchdown.

The Hoyas scored the first time they got their hands on the ball in the third quarter, however. A holding penalty set Mississippi State back to its 1, and Johnson's punt rolled dead on the Maroon 48. Koshlap sent a short pass to Jim Castiglia, who ran eighteen yards, and followed with a neatly placed whirl to Lou Ghecas for twenty-seven more and a first down on the 3. Castiglia dug thru guard for the touchdown. Augie Lio converted.

Early in the fourth Georgetown began moving again on a sixty-nine yard drive aided by three State offside penalties. Ben Bulvin's two short passes, coupled with his and Castiglia's line plunges, moved the ball to the 6. Mississippi State's end, Buddy Elrod, helped stop the assault in a goal line stand. Jack Doolan's fourth down pass intended for John Lascari fell incomplete.

Georgetown actually outgained Mississippi State both rushing and in the air.

Santa Clara and Kansas to Face DePaul, Loyola

Loyola meets Kansas, Big Six defending champions, and DePaul faces Santa Clara tonight in another of the series of Coliseum basketball doubleheaders. The bill brings together four of the nation's outstanding teams.

Kansas will send another small team against the rapidly improving Loyola five. The Jayhawkers' lineup will include players who last year whipped Southern California in the semi-finals of the N. C. A. A. tournament, only to lose to Indiana in the finals.

Santa Clara, seeking revenge for the 52 to 50 defeat it suffered by DePaul last year, will present the most powerful team in its history. Leading the Broncos will be Forward Bruce Hale, the team's leading scsorer the last two seasons. Santa Clara's height average of 6 feet 2½ inches matches that of DePaul's Blue Demons. The Demons' record stamps them as one of the greatest teams in the school's history. Their last two victories have been scored over Purdue, Big Ten champion, and Butler, Indiana conference champion.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Detroit Red Wings last night beat the Blackhawks for the fourth time in four tries this season, this time by a score of 4 to 1.

While most of the holiday crowd of 15,308 in the Chicago Stadium found the score eminently unsatisfactory, they also found excitement galore, especially in a free for all fight of exceptional violence. The brawl resulted in three Wings and three Hawks drawing major penalties.

Wares Starts Trouble.

The epidemic of fighting, which has been raging in the National league for the last week or so, reached Chicago late in the first period last evening and was the McCoy, the tipoff of the genuineness of same being when the boys took off their gloves and started slugging. It was the most spirited hockey fisticuffing seen in the Stadium in several years, the extraordinary violence being inspired by the fact that the outbreak started when Eddie Wares attacked Old Man John Gottselig. Johnny Mariucci and Pep Kelly were the first to remonstrate.

Six Men in a Box.

After Referee Bill Stewart and Linesman Donnie McFadyen had calmed the scene they held a conference and assessed six major penalties.

Apart from such wounds as were inflicted in the hostilities, it was learned after the game that both Mariucci and Goalie Paul Goodman will be out because of injuries incurred during the play. Mariucci will be idle for a week, and Goodman indefinitely. Sam Lopresti probably will be recalled from Kansas City to fill in for Goodman.

As for hockey playing, the Hawks at times looked rather ludicrous, after taking a 1 to 0 lead on a goal by Gottselig 1 minute and 52 seconds after the start of the game. The Wings tied the count in 7:07 of the first period when Carl Liscombe scored while Paul Goodman, Hawk goalie, was sprawled on his belly 20 feet or so in front of his cage. Less than three minutes after the tying goal Wares nudged a counter past Goodman on a pass from Abel. Goodman seemed to have lost sight of the puck.

Hawks Look Futile.

The Wings also made the Hawks look futile as the third Detroit goal was produced, in 8:20 of the second period. Mariucci, apparently confused by the new Hawk uniforms, checked Gottselig into the boards and as the teammates sought to straighten out, Syd Howe picked up the rubber to easily beat the unprotected Goodman.

The fourth Detroit goal was embarrassing to Goalie Goodman. In 11:58 of the third period Ebbie Goodfellow batted a rolling puck as it emerged from a faceoff and it sailed from the blue line into the Hawk cage.

RESERVE BEATS TEMPE, 26 TO 13; PLAYER INJURED

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 1 (AP).—Western Reserve university of Cleveland, O., overcame the speed merchants of Tempe, Ariz., State Teachers, 26 to 13, in the Sun bowl football game today before 14,000 fans.

Dick Booth, Western Reserve half back who played a key part in his team's victory, was under observation in Southwestern General hospital tonight for a slight brain concussion. Hospital attachés said they did not believe Booth's condition was serious.

Coming from behind in the second half, the Cleveland team tied the score in the third period, then added two more touchdowns in the fourth to maintain the jinx that has kept the host border conference champion from winning in the six years of the Sun bowl.

Hascall Henshaw, Tempe's diminutive half back, turned in the most exciting run late in the second period. Tempe's Bulldogs were back on the goal line in a punting exchange. Slipping behind his full back, Wayne Pitts, on a fake punt, Henshaw ran 102 yards thru the entire Western Reserve team to score.

PLANE MAKERS NEAR QUANTITY OUTPUT GOAL

Industry Wings Past More Milestones.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

In the next 12 months the aircraft industry in the United States will approach quantity production for the first time in its 37 year history. Never before have orders for aircraft or engines warranted expensive tooling associated with quantity production methods. But today the industry has 2¼ billion dollars' worth of orders, with assurances of 3 billion more in 1941.

The year 1940 will go down in the industry's history as that of vast expansions. The aircraft manufacturing industry doubled its working floor space, tripled its pay rolls, and began for the first time to think in terms of 100 million dollar orders.

Other Milestones Passed.

There were several other important milestones in the industry during the year, including:

1. The 400 mile an hour military airplane became a reality.
2. The 2,000 horse power motor—long a dream of designers and engineers—went into quantity production.
3. The entire world became air conscious for the first time—because of Germany's blitzkrieg in the Low Countries and France and the spectacular air battles over England when the royal air force stood as the only bulwark between England and a complete victory for Hitler.
4. Aviation services of the United States' armed forces, in one swift jump, came from the neglected rear rank of political importance into the place of honor as the service to receive the lion's share of new governmental appropriations.

Output Is Doubted.

The last year has been a period of great confusion in the industry, yet of great production, too. In addition to the expansion program, the manufacturers were able to double the output of military airplanes, engines, propellers, and accessories over 1939's total. And from an average of less than 300 airplanes a month in 1939 [including light private and commercial machines] there was an increase to about 900 planes a month now.

A large proportion of all military ships — fighters, bombers, reconnaissance, and trainers—is going to England under contracts let as long ago as 1938. And thruout the next year the United States will become to an increasing extent the aeronautical arsenal for Great Britain, with approximately two-thirds of all military planes earmarked for the British empire.

Rate Believed 425 a Month.

An idea of the number of military planes being produced at this time can be gained from official reports that shipments to England numbered 272 in November and 281 in December. This indicates there were less than 425 military aircraft produced in each of these months, despite the Herculean efforts made to speed production.

A production rate of 1,000 military planes a month in the United States will not be realized until toward the end of the coming year when all the plant expansion, hiring and training of men, production tooling for planes, engines, and accessories will begin to count.

But the industry's job of expanding in 1940 has not been neglected. How well the 1940 assignment was

WINGS—OF PEACE AND INDUSTRY—OVER CHICAGO

American Gold Hoard Poses a Value Problem

More than 4 billion dollars worth of gold, most of it from warring or war threatened nations, streamed into American treasury vaults in 1940. It built still higher the biggest accumulation of monetary gold the world has ever seen.

And as the "refugee" treasure of individuals and governments alike fled to the safety of this country's shores, two stormy controversies swirled around it. The issues were: [1] What policies shall the treasury follow to prevent the vast hoard from disrupting the money and commodity markets, not only of America but of the world, and [2] will the gold lose a great part of its value after the war

Industry Gives Home Products New Impetus

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

Industry carried an extra load in 1940 because of the rearmament production program, but managed nevertheless to create many new products, develop domestic facilities to supply goods formerly imported, and in other ways help to keep this nation a land of comparative plenty.

Some of the newest products, either fresh from laboratories or representing extended applications of previous discoveries, were of the attention catching kind, such as:

Woven glass airplane wing fabric, so fire resistant that even a torch won't burn it.

Fine hosiery made from coal, air and water, on the retail market for the first time.

Synthetic "rubber" tires, placed in general distribution for the first time. They haven't a bit of rubber in them, but are derived from petroleum or other rubberless raw materials.

Plastic "glass" made from gas and used for nearly anything you might want to name, from shoes and garters to beer can linings. And then there's the transparent billfold that could make you feel awfully sheepish if you flashed it and discovered you'd already spent your last dollar bill.

Plastics of numerous kinds, that can be pressed into most anything from ashtrays to airplanes.

Many of the industrial advances of the year were of a less spectacular but highly essential character. Production of toluene, basic ingredient of the explosive TNT, from petroleum was begun on a commercial basis.

Substitutes for costly imported tung oil, used as a drying agent in paint and varnish, were developed from an American bean and from petroleum. One of these substitutes was announced by Armour & Co., and consists of "neo-fats" from soy beans, cottonseed or fish oils. The new products cost about half as much as tung oil.

With imports from Europe nearly all cut off by the war, American makers of pottery, fabrics, toys, fine cutlery, and optical goods either expanded existing production to fill the gap in supply, or started making articles not previously produced in this country. Even fashion creation threw off foreign domination.

Likewise, American wine and liquor producers began to take over the small part of the market formerly supplied by France, Italy, and other foreign sources.

Important to the national defense effort was the construction by Dow Chemical company of a plant at Freeport, Tex., which has just begun producing magnesium from sea water. Magnesium, lighter than aluminum, and as strong, is a metal that is essential in armament production.

All in all, industry made progress last year in its search for new or better or cheaper products, a search which, led by scientists and engineers in laboratories and on proving grounds, never falters.

1940 EARNINGS OF CONTINENTAL ARE 16 MILLIONS

Other Banks Report Year's Profits.

The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company—Chicago's largest bank—for 1940 had a net profit of $16,135,516, equal to $10.76 a share, Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the board, reported yesterday to shareholders.

The 1939 profit was $16,526,000, equal to $10.58 a share. The difference in per share earnings is accounted for by the fact the bank, having retired its preferred stock, had no preferred dividends to pay in 1940. The report showed resources at an all-time peak of $1,620,004,121.

Other banks reporting profits during the day included the American National Bank and Trust company, the City National Bank and Trust company, the Harris Trust and Savings bank, and the Northern Trust company. The First National Bank of Chicago reported earlier.

Gross Earnings 21 Millions.

The Continental Illinois report disclosed gross earnings of $21,374,358, including $7,349,920 net profit from the sale of securities. Operating expenses, taxes, and interest amounted to $12,588,762. Net recoveries of $1,467,686, which were not included in earnings, were added to the reserve for contingencies, bringing that item to $17,515,837.

Ten millions were transfrred from earnings to surplus, raising surplus to $40,000,000. Undivided profits showed a small gain at $15,221,863. Deposits increased $167,482,944 to $1,491,577,548. Loans and discounts at $188,836,340 showed an increase of $42,115,346 over a year ago.

Loan Activity Increasing.

"Interest rates have declined over the past year but loan activity has been and is increasing and the financing of the national defense program should result in an expansion in the need for bank loans," Cummings said. "This is already apparent."

Cummings noted the death during the year of three directors who had

Congress Has Job of Raising Funds for Arms

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1.—A new year and a new congress come in faced with the monumental tasks of building a strong national defense and finding ways to pay for it.

A cross-section of opinion, based upon interviews with representative government officials and competent observers of the national scene, leaves no doubt that production for defense is the No. 1 project of 1941. Of almost equal importance will be the fiscal policies involved.

Business men naturally are vitally interested in what the outlook is for them. Here the word is encouraging—with limitations. Government economists predict that the national income in 1941 will reach 80 billion dollars, against a current rate of 74 billions.

Expect Rise in Index.

They expect the federal reserve board's index of industrial production—considered the most reliable and inclusive of the business indices—to rise 10 or 15 points during the year to 140 to 145 per cent of the 1935-'39 average. The index for December is placed above 130 per cent.

A seasonal letdown can be expected at the beginning of the year, according to these economists, with a gradual increase thereafter. They hedge by saying that this rise is contingent upon continuance of the defense program and the expenditure of billions in taxes or borrowed money. They hold that the rise in business activity also depends upon the avoidance of "bottlenecks" in production facilities and the supply of skilled labor, but predict steps will be taken to avoid any interferences.

Government economists do not expect any serious inflationary movement this year, but foresee a trend in that direction and want action to guard against this movement. Federal reserve board officials are particularly worried about the vast excess bank reserves and the potential inflation of credit they represent.

Fear Lack of Power.

Reserve officials say they could absorb only about 800 million dollars out of approximately 7 billions in excess reserves in the banking system. They maintain that sale of the board's entire portfolio of government securities would absorb only 2 billions in excess reserves, then leave the board powerless to

DEFENSE RAISES QUESTION: WHAT WILL PRICES DO?

Inflation Process Is Speeding Up.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

[Financial Editor.]

How prices will be affected by the rapidly growing defense spending is a major economic question facing the country as the new year begins.

For several years there have been warnings that the government's fiscal policies, if continued, would ultimately lead to a drastic increase in commodity prices. The inflationary process by which the undesirable price effect would be produced is now, for reasons of defense, being extended and speeded up. For that reason business men are asking if they must prepare for a steep rise in prices in 1941.

Half Way to 1920 Peak.

The year opens with commodity prices at a level half as high as the 1920 peak, or roughly 80 per cent of the 1926 average [1926 is the base year used for the bureau of labor statistics index of wholesale prices].

Few predictions suggest that this index, the most comprehensive yardstick of general prices, may reach the 1926 level by the end of this year. However, such a rise would not be considered "inflationary" by most economists. A 40 to 50 per cent advance in present prices would more closely approximate their conception of inflation.

Actual or potential shortages exist in comparatively few of the 800 odd commodities that make up the BLS price index. The shortages that do exist or threaten are confined to industrial commodities. Rising cost of labor is likely to be the strongest influence for raising prices of specific articles.

Deposit Money Is Factor.

With the prospect for scattered price increases in particular commodities, there also exists the possibility of a general rise in prices of serious proportions resulting from the greater use of the swollen and growing supply of deposit money with which 90 per cent of the country's business is

WORLD'S GRAIN TRADE IS NEAR VANISHING POINT

War Ends Speculation on European Markets.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

For the first time in the 750 years for which authentic records are available war has brought almost complete stagnation to the world's grain trade. Only the United States maintains the semblance of an open market. In other countries business is rigorously controled. International speculation in cash grain and futures has diminished to the vanishing point.

The war has brought in its train fixed government prices in Europe, usually set at a high level in an effort to stimulate production. In grain exporting countries farmers are being paid minimum prices or are being loaned money on their crops in an effort to curtail acreage and reduce the size of the crops.

The world's grain situation presents striking contrasts.

American Warehouses Jammed.

Near famine conditions exist in most of continental Europe, and foodstuffs are rationed. In United States and Canada warehouses are jammed with wheat, corn, and other foodstuffs for which there is no foreign outlet.

What war has done to the international trade in surplus agricultural products is probably best illustrated by the action of lard, which is not being propped by minimum prices. Late in December cash lard sold at about 4 cents a pound in Chicago, or within 1 cent of the all time record low, compared with about 39 cents in 1919.

Closing of continental European markets by the British blockade has cost exporting countries an outlet for about 400 million bushels of wheat, corn, and other grains. Importing countries of the world still open for business are expected to take 400 million bushels of wheat during the current crop year, or about 250 million bushels less than in the preceding season and 528 millions under the record purchases in 1929-'30.

Supply at Historic Peak.

A world wheat crop of 6,100,000,000 bushels in 1940, only 100 million bushels less than that of 1939, is supplemented by a carryover of about 1,400,000,000 bushels. This is believed to be the largest supply of wheat available for consumption in any season in history. World consumption usually amounts to more than 6 billion bushels.

American farmers are getting government loans of about 64 cents a bushel on their wheat. Canada guarantees a minimum of 70 cents. Argentina pays about 54⅝ cents and Australia 58 cents.

American producers can borrow 61 cents a bushel on their 1940 corn crop, or 4 cents more than in 1939, but the effect of this is offset by the fact 150 million bushels of government owned grain is offered for sale at 65 cents at country points.

Year's High in April.

Wheat sold at the highest price of the season last April when the May future reached $1.13. By August the price had dropped to 68⅝ cents for the December delivery. The market gradually advanced thereafter because of the steady flow of grain into the government loan. At the close of the year cash wheat at Chicago was selling at about 90 cents.

As the new year begins grain men are frankly unable to forecast the future trend of prices and trading. Wheat this year may sell at 50 cents or $1.50 a bushel, depending on world developments, they assert.

BEEF AND VEAL EXPORTS RISE, PORK DECLINES

Beef and veal exports of the United States increased slightly during 1940, but pork exports fell 26 per cent under the 1939 volume, while lard exports were down 28 per cent. Beef imports fell off 30 per cent, and pork imports dropped 88 per cent compared with 1939. Figures in thousands, last three ciphers omitted.

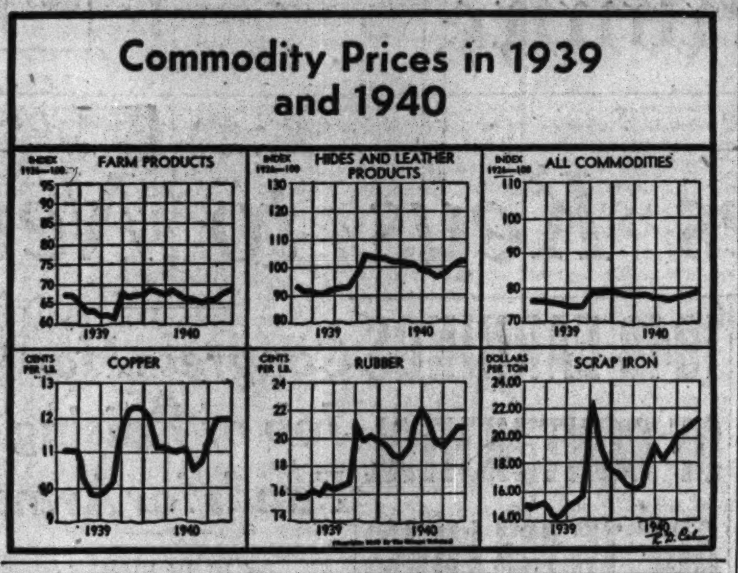
Bank of America Indicated 1940 Earnings $17,749,000

In a statement released yesterday the Bank of America, San Francisco, Cal., showed indicated 1940 earnings of $17,749,000 before certain appropriations for reserves. In the preceding year the bank had indicated net earnings, after reserves, of $12,387,240. L. M. Giannini, president, reported that the bank's deposits reached a new high figure of $1,632,228,000. Loans and discounts at the year-end were $778,295,000, an increase of $67,240,000 for the year.

Commodity Prices in 1939 and 1940



Defense Needs Are Major Factors in Commodity Prices

BY ROBERT YOUNG.

National defense, with the resultant material needs of the government and manufacturers, was the mainspring of commodity price movements last year. With a few exceptions, however, the market lacked the speculative frenzy of the war boom of late 1939.

Prices did not climb as abruptly nor were declines so severe. Defense orders raised prices, succeeding orders stabilized them and the result was that most staples closed 1940 near their highest levels.

Commodity traders predict that defense requirements will give stability to prices in 1941.

War Staples Most Active.

Copper, lead, zinc, rubber, wool tops and hides—all defense necessities—attracted the major buying interest last year as they did in 1939. Peak prices of these staples in 1940 were below the war boom levels only in the case of hides and were higher in lead, zinc, and wool tops.

	—1940—		—1939—
	High.	Dec. 31	War peak.	Dec. 31
Copper	$ .12½	$ .12	$ .12½	$ .12½
Lead	.0565	.0535	.0535	.0535

Silk	4.19½	2.56	4.38	4.32½
Sugar, ref.	.0460	.0440	.0575	.0470

*At New York, except lead and zinc at East St. Louis and hides at Chicago.

By early August, refined copper and lead had been reduced to the year's lows of 11 cents and 4.60 cents a pound, respectively, because of surpluses and too few buyers. This situation lasted less than a month for copper.

The price of copper was boosted ½ cent a pound on Sept. 5 and in their scramble to obtain supplies at the lower quotation, buyers took the all-time record daily amount of 113,106 tons. Later in the month the price was advanced to 12 cents, but the rush of activity subsided when consumers concluded there was not the shortage they had anticipated.

Action Repeated in Lead.

The scene was repeated in November in the refined lead market where prices had been creeping forward for two months. At the three year top price of 5.65 cents a pound, producers doled out the metal and placed customers on waiting lists. Within three weeks, sales lagged and prices were cut twice to 5.35 cents.

Zinc reached 7.25 cents a pound, the highest since 1937, without fanfare by the end of September and held that level the rest of the year. Tin, never approaching the 1939 peak of 75 cents a pound, hovered at the 50 cent level most of last year.

Wool tops passed the war peak by the end of October with a cash price of $1.36½ a pound against the background of government orders for millions of yards of woolen materials.

DEEPER WELLS HELP ILLINOIS SET OIL RECORD

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 1 (AP).—For the Illinois oil industry, 1940 was another boom year. Oil operators stepped up the tempo of their drilling, sought deeper pools of petroleum, broke all former records for production and exploration and added six new counties to the state's oil map. Now 21 Illinois counties have oil wells.

The state geological survey has not completed collection of data, but Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the survey, today estimated the year's production at 146,000,000 barrels, against 94,302,000 barrels—the former record—during 1939. The pre-boom production of 1936 was less than 4,500,000 barrels.

The value of the 1940 yield was estimated at $160,000,000, an increase of approximately $60,000,000 over 1939. For the second consecutive year the oil revenue exceeded that from coal production, long the state's major mineral industry.

On the basis of the usual one-eighth royalty, owners of the land on which the wells were drilled received approximately $20,000,000.

Kuppenheimer Lifts Year's Profit to 84 Cents a Share

B. Kuppenheimer & Co., Inc., producer of men's clothing, had net income of $57,501, equal to 84 cents a share, in the fiscal year ended Nov. 2, compared with $36,431, or 52 cents a share, in the preceding year, Bertram J. Cahn, chairman of the board, announced yesterday. The company has main offices in Chicago. The International Shoe company, St. Louis, Mo., reported net income of $6,473,612, or $1.93 a share, in the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, compared with $6,588,209, or $1.97 a share, in the preceding year.

YEAR'S CASH INCOME OF ILLINOIS FARMERS RISES TO 600 MILLIONS

Cash income of Illinois' farmers in 1940 increased to approximately $600,000,000, possibly the highest in a decade, state statisticians estimated yesterday. Domestic demand for farm products due to expanded activity associated with defense preparations lifted returns to the farmer above the $534,000,000 received from marketings and government payments in 1939 despite a slight reduction in grain harvest.

In 1939 Illinois farmers were estimated to have received in excess of 6 per cent of the total national cash income of approximately $8,500,000,000. National farm cash income for the first nine months of 1940 has been set at $6,175,000,000, up about 8 per cent. In Illinois, cash income in the nine months rose 11 per cent to $412,179,000, including $21,675,000 in government payments.

State college of agriculture statisticians report that production of major crops declined about 5 per cent in 1940. Principal reductions were in corn and soybeans. Oats production increased sharply. Average prices for most farm products averaged higher than in 1939.

LIVE STOCK MEN EXPECT BETTER TRADE IN 1941

Predict Price Increase for All Animals.

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON.

Packers and live stock raisers view the start of the new year with more optimism than they have felt at the opening of any recent year. Leaders in the industry forecast an increase in the value of all meat animals and product. It would be the first general upturn since the price collapse which started late in 1937, after several months of scarcity and abnormally high meat costs had caused numerous meat boycotts among consumers and retail butchers.

Investment in raw material by processors and production costs for farmers will run higher per unit than in 1940, and volume of output will be smaller, it was said. However, increased industrial activity, already noticeable in larger pay rolls, is expected to enable consumers to pay sufficiently high meat prices to allow larger profits than have been possible for several years, both for the producer and the processor.

Output Expected to Dip.

Volume of meat production is expected to dip sharply early in 1941 and run below the big 1940 output thruout the year. But no acute shortage such as that experienced in 1937 is expected. Stock raisers have more than an average supply of hogs, compared with the last five years, and more cattle and lambs than they had on hand at the opening of last year. Barns are bulging with hay, and altho much of the corn is tied up on government loans, farmers have sufficient feed to fatten their animals for market. The output of meats will be well above the average of the last five years.

The year 1940 was a period of record meat production. It was estimated that more than 120 million cattle, calves, hogs, and sheep were butchered during the year, including stock slaughtered on farms. This huge volume compared with 110,886,000 head in 1939, and an average of 103 million for the last five years.

Handled Big Pork Supply.

Packers during the year struggled with the tremendous task of finding an outlet for the second largest pork supply on record in face of dwindling export demand. Foreign orders practically disappeared after the first two months of the year, resulting in the greatest domestic consumption in the history of the country. However, this forced sale of the huge tonnage, almost entirely within the borders of the United States, caused an abnormally low level of prices for pork and hogs.

The hog average at the Chicago stockyards was $5.75 a hundred pounds for the entire year, the lowest since 1933, and the third lowest in 32 years. With the exception of one year, 1928, the price stood further below the average cost of cattle than ever before.

It was estimated that about 77 million hogs were slaughtered during the year, including stock butchered by farmers for home use. Only one year, 1923, shows a larger total, and when the final tally is made for 1940 even the record of 77,508,000 made in 1923 may fall, it was said.

Meat Bills About Steady.

Meat bills for consumers, as measured by the live costs of animals at the stockyards, were, as a whole, about the same thru 1940 as they were in 1939, but were below any other year since 1934. The much higher prices for beef, and slight increases in lamb meat, were balanced by low pork prices. The three principal classes of meat animals, steers, hogs, and lambs, together averaged $8.55 for the entire year, the same as the three classes averaged in 1939. This compared with $8.70 in 1938 and $10.80 in 1937, the latter the highest since 1929. The 1940 steer average, at $10.40, the highest in three years, was 6.1 per cent above 1939. Hogs averaged 12.8 per cent lower. The lamb price, at $9.55, the highest in three years, was 3.2 per cent above 1939.

Export-Import Bank Loan Authorizations 300 Million

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1 [Special]. The Export-Import bank authorized about $300,000,000 of new advances in 1940. Of this amount about $100,000,000 was canceled or ran out with 1940. Outstanding loans total $130,000,000 and undisbursed commitments, $300,000,000.

Private Shipyards Bustling; Get Record Peacetime Load

New York, Jan. 1 (AP).—Private shipyards in the United States are constructing 487 navy and commercial vessels totaling 3,142,460 tons, the National Council of American Shipbuilders reported today.

In a year-end statement, the council said:

"The decision of congress to provide for a two ocean navy and the continued orders for commercial vessels by the maritime commission and by private interests has confronted the shipbuilding industry of the United States with the greatest task ever before it in peace time. This task is comparable only to the world war shipbuilding program.

All Yards Are Busy.

"All the shipyards of the United States are very busy: The larger yards on the construction of vessels for the navy and for merchant vessels of the sea going type, and the smaller yards in the construction of miscellaneous harbor and inland waterway craft and small auxiliary vessels for the navy and other government departments.

"Employment in the private shipbuilding and ship repairing yards has increased about 45 per cent over the figure of a year ago.

"At present there are 34 shipbuilding organizations in the United States engaged in the building of seagoing vessels. If additional facilities are required it is believd they can be best developed thru existing organizations, as recently occurred in connection with the contract for 60 vessels for British account. Such development results in the least disruption of existing organizations."

Activities Summarized.

In a summary of the industry in the United States, the council listed steel vessels of 1,000 or more gross tons [figured on a basis of gross for commercial ships and displacement for navy ships] as follows:

BOARD OF TRADE VOLUME SHRINKS TO 30 YEAR LOW

Only a Fourth of 1925 Record Sales.

Grain trading on the Chicago Board of Trade in 1940 was the smallest in 30 years or more. Sales of all futures, as reported by the Commodity Exchange administration totaled 6,850,000,000 bushels, or about 210,000,000 less than in 1939. In 1925 when business was the largest on record sales were 26,895,000,000 bushels.

A large part of the 1940 speculative grain business was transacted in the first half of the year. Volume fell rapidly after the invasion of Holland and Belgium which closed the last major continental European outlet for producing countries' surplus grains.

Sales for all of December were 330 million bushels, not much more than the record one day turnover of 269 million bushels reached on July 20, 1933.

Trading in soy beans set a new all time record, with sales aggregating 134,877,000 bushels, compared with 79,947,000 bushels in 1939.

Sales of grain futures on the board of trade for the last 10 years [in millions of bushels] follow:

	Wheat.	Corn.	*Total.
1940	5,445	898	6,850
1939	5,027	1,444	7,142
1938	5,683	1,495	7,497
1937	10,889	2,546	14,628
1936	7,343	1,996	10,455
1935	7,063	2,219	10,175

POWER BONDS OFFERED.

John Nuveen & Co. and associates are offering to the public a new issue of $3,100,000 of 3 per cent revenue bonds of Consumers Public Power District, northeastern Nebraska division. The bonds, due from 1942 to 1966, will be priced to yield 1.25 to 3 per cent thru the 1946 maturity. From 1957 to 1966, the bonds will be priced at 99¾ to 99½.

U. S. Steel Puts 80 Million Into Improvements in Year

United States Steel corporation expended $80,000,000 during 1940 for improvements and extensions, and as of Dec. 31 the unexpended balance of appropriations authorized amounted to approximately $155,000,000. Extensive facilities have been or are now being installed at certain plants of subsidiaries for production of heavy and light armor plate, shell forgings and unloaded shells and bombs.

105 DEBTORS USE NEW BANKRUPT PROVISION IN 1940

During the last year 105 Chicagoans, burdened with debt but anxious to fulfill their obligations, took advantage of chapter 13 of the new bankruptcy law and, thru the federal courts, made arrangements to pay their debts in full with an extension of time. Referee in Bankruptcy Archie H. Cohen said that a nominal fee, seldom over $15, is charged in such cases.

A total of 2,027 regular bankruptcy cases were filed during 1940, and 1,874 cases were closed. Of the cases closed, 986 were "asset cases" and 552 were "pauper petitions" in which creditors obtained nothing.

A war is loose in the world. Men and metals must be drafted to meet a dire emergency.

The biggest job aluminum has right now is to help defend America. For that job, this nation needs more aluminum than was ever used before.

To provide that amount of aluminum the industry must now more than double, in a matter of months, the production facilities it had built up through more than half a century.

Aluminum Company of America, as part of the industry, has undertaken to carry out now a program of expansion which in normal times would require two decades.

This company alone is investing over one hundred and fifty million dollars in new factories . . . new mills . . . new machinery . . . new dams . . . new power projects . . . new ships.

From the 1939 all-time annual peak production of 327,000,000 pounds, Aluminum Company of America expects to be producing at the rate of more than 700,000,000 pounds per year before the end of 1942.

But in the meantime, defense requirements come first. As an example, the railroads who use aluminum for streamlined trains may have to wait for the aluminum alloys which would be supplied promptly in normal times. The very qualities which make aluminum desirable for streamlined trains are among the factors which make it so valuable for the defense program . . . and which give defense a prior call on the metal immediately available.

If you find it difficult at the moment to get all the aluminum you want, when you want it, you will know that aluminum has gone off to defend your home and your country.

When we supply aluminum for national defense in this crisis, your business and your family are served in an infinitely deeper sense than if the aluminum actually went to you.

And when the emergency is past, there will be more aluminum than was ever available before . . . lower prices . . . and more ways in which aluminum can serve industry and the nation.

When War Is Done

When peace is here . . . when people and markets are once more free . . . you will see such an upsurge in the use of aluminum as to make this in a very real sense an Aluminized America—lighter, brighter, and more efficient.

What will an Aluminized America mean to industry, agriculture, and the American home?

Some of the things it will mean are still locked in the minds of research men and development engineers. But some are very plainly indicated.

In one way or another, they will all grow out of . . .

Aluminum's Economic Advantages

Here are 12 of them:

Light Weight
High Resistance to Corrosion
High Electrical Conductivity
High Reflectivity for Light and Radiant Heat
High Conductivity for Heat
Workability
Non-magnetic Non-toxic
Strength in Alloys
Non-sparking
Appearance
High Scrap and Re-Use Value

PROVIDING VAST DEFENSE FUNDS UP TO CONGRESS

Predict Industrial Gains and Stiff Tax Bill.

put the brakes on inflation. The 7 billions in excess reserves would support a credit expansion of 60 billions, according to officials.

In addition to appropriating for a record contemplated budget of up to 15 billion dollars for the new fiscal year, congress will have its hands full of revenue and monetary legislation. National defense spending alone in 1941 is estimated at 7½ billion dollars, with a total defense outlay of 35 billions in the next five years.

An attempt may be made to balance regular governmental operating expenditures against revenues, but defense expenses will be chalked up to future generations thru treasury borrowing. For this purpose the administration will ask congress again to raise the public debt limit. The last session raised it from 45 to 49 billions by authorizing a special defense debt of 4 billion dollars.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau has said that congress will be requested to remove this partition in the debt structure and raise the entire debt limit by 15 or 20 billion dollars. There will be a controversy assuredly in congress over giving the treasury this borrowing power.

Spending Far Above Income.

Regular government expenditures, excluding defense, run 7 or 8 billion dollars, with revenues only 5 or 6 billions annually. So, if the regular operating budget is to be balanced, enough taxes must be raised this year to make up the difference. A new tax bill, and probably a stiff one at that, is certain. The first step toward raising revenue will come early in the session when Morgenthau requests congress to authorize complete federal taxation of government bonds, at present exempt from normal income taxes and surtaxes up to $5,000.

An attempt may be made to expand this authority to provide for reciprocal taxation of federal, state, and local government obligations, but the treasury is expected to go easy on this because of strenuous state and local government obligations to having their debt taxed by the federal government.

No regular tax bill is expected until after the March 15 income tax returns are filed, providing a gauge to revenues. Twice taxes were boosted by the last session of congress. First, the regular revenue act reduced exemptions for married persons from $2,500 to $2,000 and for single persons from $1,000 to $800. Surtaxes were increased on individuals and the rate boosted for corporations. On top of this was an overall 10 per cent increase in the amount of taxes to be paid. Excise, or "nuisance" taxes were raised.

"Excess Profits" Taxed Heavily.

The second tax bill applied only to corporations by adding on a special levy of 25 to 50 per cent on "excess profits" and raising the normal corporate income tax rate. The two bills were estimated to raise at most 1.9 billions.

The tax bill at the new session can be expected to hit harder at salaries in the lower and middle income groups, by possibly a further cut in exemptions and stiffening of rates. In the higher brackets the rates already are so high they approach the point of diminishing returns. The excess profits tax also may be gone into again for the purpose of preventing war profiteering. Thus, if business improves as predicted by the economists the tax collector will be right around the corner waiting for his cut, which will be substantial.

One of the main bouts of the session will come thru the expected attempt to repeal the Johnson act and thus permit loans to Britain or other countries which have defaulted on their world war debts. Opponents of such aid contend the strain would be too much, considering the financial condition of this government with a pyramiding debt and moves to "draft" money from all individuals for government spending. Aid to Latin American nations will be intensified, according to officials.

Expect SEC Law Revision.

Some revision may be expected in securities laws to encourage investment. The Securities and Exchange commission is working on this with brokers and bankers. But an eagle eye will be kept on the stock markets for signs of a boom. Many projects will be forwarded in the name of defense, including the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway and power project, a thorny subject for many years. Other power projects will be in the making and geographical integration of utility holding companies is expected to be pushed.

Labor is expected to come in for increasing attention, with a possibility that amendments to the Wagner act proposed by a house committee will be revived, despite the shakeup in National Labor Relations board personnel. Demands can be expected, too, for relaxation of the strict provisions of the wage hour and Walsh-Healey acts on the ground they retard defense production. But the administration has indicated resistance of any such move.

TNEC Report Due in Session.

The temporary national economic monopoly committee is scheduled to make its report during the session but any recommendations are not expected to get the attention they would have commanded a year ago. The administration has lost some of its fervor over "trust busting."

The department of agriculture has no definite legislative program but various proposals can be expected for aid to the farmer since he has lost his foreign markets. Besides, Henry A. Wallace will be presiding in the senate where he has a good chance to lobby on behalf of pet agricultural schemes which he espoused as secretary of agriculture.

500,000 INCOME TAX FORMS TO BE RELEASED JAN. 3

About 500,000 income tax return forms for the taxable year 1940 will be released to taxpayers of record on Jan. 3, Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue for the 1st district of Illinois, announced yesterday. He also stated there will be some delay in obtaining the new forms 1121 for reporting excess profits tax under the second revenue act of 1940, and that forms 1120, corporation income tax returns, will not be mailed until forms 1121 are received. However, specific requests for forms 1120 will be met.

BROKERAGE FIRM CHANGES

The following changes in the personnel of Chicago stock and grain firms were announced yesterday at the Chicago Board of Trade:

Jas. H. Oliphant & Co.—Frank L. Van Wie will retire from partnership.

Paine, Webber & Co.—L. B. Leavitt and B. C. Luce retire from partnership.

Clement, Curtis & Co.—Arthur A. Clement will retire from partnership.

Shearson, Hammill & Co.—Edward Shearson will withdraw as partner. Walter Maynard, R. W. Atkins, and A. E. Thurber will become general partners.

A. C. Curry, Grain and Seeds—A. J. Pollak will become general partner.

Wayne Hummer & Co.—J. J. O'Brien will become general partner.

Upon the dissolution at the close of the year of the New York Stock exchange firm of J. A. Acosta & Co., Charles J. Acosta, partner of the dissolved company, and John P. McConnell, also a member, were admitted to general partnership in Morgan Davis & Co. J. A. Acosta and Julian A. Acosta Jr. will retire.

transacted. While the weight of economic opinion holds that such a rise is not likely to occur in 1941, there is less assurance that it will not develop in 1942.

The conditions now exist, it is agreed, that could produce a price level high enough to be recognized as "inflation." These conditions, however, are not new. They have existed for some time but the spark that touches off such a movement has not appeared. The outlook suggests that these conditions will be intensified by the new spending program on which the country is launched.

Reserve Funds Set Record.

The existing supply of deposit money, the greatest on record, is capable of producing a serious price rise if it were freely used. At the same time there exists in the banking system an unprecedented volume of surplus reserve funds that can furnish the basis for a still further price advance.

Existing deposit money is double the amount available in 1926, but the rate at which it has changed hands during the last year was equal to only about 65 per cent of the 1926 rate.

The great growth in the supply of deposit money in the banks has been brought about partly by the government's policy of borrowing from the banks to finance its deficits.

This process will continue with the spending of billions for defense, only part of which will be raised by the new taxes already enacted or in prospect.

The treasury, it is indicated by Secretary Morgenthau, may seek to raise more money by direct borrowing from the public rather than the banks and thus check the growth in bank deposits that results from the present financing policy.

It is held unlikely, however, that the indicated shift in policy will mean that the treasury will give up the ready made market for government securities that the banks furnish.

Gold Boosts Bank Reserves.

The record inflow of gold in recent years has been the primary cause of the piling up of the huge excess of bank reserves. If gold continues to flow in, even at a reduced rate, a further growth in idle reserve funds will occur unless the treasury takes steps to "sterilize" the new imports.

With the inflationary process continuing, the question of price effects is considered a matter of timing. Emergency controls may be imposed that would delay the effects. Spokesmen for the federal reserve board now are speaking publicly of the need for enlarging the board's powers to prevent "inflation."

The key to the price outlook, it is held by some economists, is found in the statistics that show the rate at which deposit money in the banks is changing hands. The bank debits [checks drawn] reported weekly by the federal reserve system furnish the means by which the use of money can be measured. Over the last year the rate has averaged 65 per cent of the 1926 rate. Holiday influences have lifted it recently above 70 per cent of the 1926 average, but there usually is a seasonal decline after the holidays.

Await Spring Debits Rise.

The next seasonal rise in bank debits occurs in the spring of the year. Should this expansion prove greater than seasonal it would be a significant omen. As the slack in the industrial system is taken up by defense operations a marked growth in the use of existing deposit money might signal a general upturn in prices.

Certain commodities may be expected to lag behind in any such general advance. These include products, largely agricultural commodities, in which existing surpluses constitute a drag on prices. But any genuine inflationary movement, due to an oversupply of money in use, would be shared in eventually by these commodities.

This edition is must reading for all who are concerned with the question of how best to prepare America's resources either as a defense against the threat of war or for use in the prosecution of war. Here is an analysis by competent authorities of our situation and of the means by which we may meet this situation.

No subject is more timely. The New York Sun has been fortunate in having obtained the services of many distinguished economists, including Benjamin M. Anderson, professor of Economics, University of California at Los Angeles; Paul F. Cadman, economist of the American Bankers Association, and Fred I. Kent, financier and economist, for a presentation of this subject to the American public.

Their three articles on the broad economic question of the hour form the keystone of this edition. For treatment of particular subjects there will be, for example, a comprehensive article on Taxation by Roswell Magill, another on Money by Edwin W. Kemmerer, another on Prices by Melvin T. Copeland. No important field of economic endeavor will fail of attention in the 40 special articles. Numerous photographs and charts will illustrate the pages.

Each year there has been an extremely heavy demand for copies of The New York Sun's "Voice of Business" issue. To be sure of having the 1941 edition, please fill out and mail the coupon above promptly (inclosing 10 cents for each paper to be mailed by The New York Sun. This includes cost of postage.) Many people also order copies for friends and business associates. This coupon provides a quick, convenient way to do this.

1941 "VOICE OF BUSINESS" ISSUE
SATURDAY, JANUARY 11

TRAFFIC GAINS PROMISE RAILS A BETTER YEAR

Defense Task, Improved Service Aid Outlook.

The railroads enter 1941 with prospects good for a substantial amount of business, both freight and passenger, which should ease some of their financial problems.

Ralph Budd, rail member of defense commission.

As defense activity increases it may be expected that freight car loadings, which provide the bulk of earnings, will average well above 700,000 weekly and may exceed 800,000 on occasions.

Signs are favorable, too, for an improvement in passenger business, which has been seriously hurt by competition from highway and air operations.

Better Service Proves Benefit.

Railroad managements are now reaping the benefits of the many improvements which they made in both freight and passenger services during the last 10 years. J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, says that the roads are in a good position to meet defense demands. By next fall it is expected that they will have at least 160,000 more freight cars in use than the 1,700,000 total of two years ago.

A Chicagoan, Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington roilroad, is the transportation member of the national defense advisory board, which has jurisdiction over the railroads as well as the other agencies of transportation.

Pullman Aids Progress.

A Chicago company, Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, has been one of the leading factors in the development of the prosaic light weight freight cars as well as of the more romantic high speed streamlined passenger trains.

The lighter weight freight cars make possible increased payloads without increases in motive power.

Early this year the Santa Fe railroad is scheduled to place a huge Diesel-electric locomotive in thru freight service. This action is expected to mark one of the most important milestones in railroad history. If the operation is successful the new locomotive may cause a revolution in railroading, according to some railroad men.

The Diesel electric never tires and may be used in 24 hour service, whereas the steam type requires frequent servicing and rarely can be used for more than several hundred miles in daily service. The original cost of the Diesel-electric has worked against its general use for freight service.

Passenger Service Improves.

In the passenger field further developments may be expected in the mass movements of passengers in deluxe coach equipment at high speed and at low cost. Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, Philadelphia, has been a pioneer in this railroad activity. The railroads have lost the greater part of their passenger revenues to the competition of the private automobile. At the same time the air lines have skimmed a good part of the cream of the big spenders normally riding in first class equipment.

To combat these trends the railroads have installed de luxe all coach services between Chicago, California, and New York and between New York and Florida, and the most recent has been the streamlined service between Chicago and Miami.

Canadian Companies Pay Smaller Dividends in '40

New York, Jan. 1 [Special].—Dividends paid by Canadian companies decreased in 1940, according to a tabulation today by Grant Johnston, chairman of the Montreal Curb market. Of 18 industries represented on the Montreal Stock exchange and the Montreal Curb, he reported, 11 showed higher disbursements and 7 showed declines. The 1940 total was $245,056,915, against $249,200,841 in 1939.

CORPORATIONS PAY LARGEST TOTAL OF DIVIDENDS SINCE '37

New York, Jan 1 [Special].—Following the upward course of corporation earnings, dividend payments to stockholders in 1940 were the largest for any year since 1937. The 1940 disbursements amounted to $3,558,703,000, according to the New York Journal of Commerce annual compilation. The total represented a 13 per cent gain over the 1939 total of $3,148,697,000. In 1938 $2,807,205,000 was disbursed.

December dividends — revised upward from preliminary estimates of $579,850,000 to $758,371,000 by special payments, extras and resumptions—lifted the fourth quarter total to $1,206,468,000, compared with $1,139,615,000 in the last 1939 quarter.

Continuance of the rise was indicated in the publication's preliminary estimate that dividends this month will total $253,378,000, a gain of $9,540,000 over payments in January, 1940.

YIELDS LOWEST, PRICES HIGHEST IN BOND HISTORY

Expect Money Rates to Continue Easy.

BY EDWIN STOLL.

Bonds moved into the new year on a course marked by the highest prices and lowest yield in history, and investment bankers predict a continuation of easy money rates and a general lofty level for the near future.

This expectation is based on the heavy government borrowing ahead, the probable extension of limited demand for private funds, and the enormity of existing excess bank reserves.

Further Rise Unlikely.

"Prices of top grade issues are now so high that little, if any, further advance appears probable," Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., asserts. "Secondary classifications may, however, show improvement as some of the heretofore retarded lines or individual companies show an improved status, particularly under the impetus of buying from quarters which might ordinarily be more attracted to the equity market."

Some investment bankers, however, are watching for factors which they predict eventually will reverse the trends of prices and interest rates.

Federal Issues Set Pace.

United States government securities, in prime demand for investment purposes by banks, life insurance companies, and other cash laden financial institutions, swept upward to the highest levels in history as 1940 moved toward its close. Some issues tapered slightly in the final days of the year, but dealers said the price softening was a shading of values as big banks switched from one issue to another to reap realized profits, and was not a sign of weakness.

Paced by the governments, scores of American corporation bonds, including industrial, utility, and railway obligations, also took the upward route in the last half of the year and many recorded new highs for 1940 or longer in November and December trading.

NEW NAMES, NEW JOBS BROUGHT TO FORE DURING 1940

Death Takes Heavy Toll of Business Leaders.

The year 1940 saw many changes in the nation's business personnel. New names replaced olde ones removed from the roster by retirement or death.

Of the new leaders many had come up in the trite but Horatio Alger manner. They filled the shoes in many cases of men who had nursed the industry from its infancy.

John T. Pirie Sr., Walter Chrysler and Rufus C. Dawes, who died in 1940.

The national defense program brought numerous business men into active participation in the management of the federal government. Some corporation executives resigned or obtained leaves of absence from their private positions to devote their full time efforts to this new work. For others the job of helping direct the nation's preparedness program came as an added duty.

Death took its toll of business leaders, many of whom were still active, while others had retired. Among those who died were Walter P. Chrysler Sr., automobile manufacturer; Rufus C. Dawes, Chicago business and civic leader; Walter J. Kohler, chairman of the Kohler company; John Taylor Pirie, chairman of Carson Pirie Scott & Co.; E. H. Maytag, washing machine manufacturer, and L. A. Downs, chairman of the board of the Illinois Central railroad.

Death also took Gates W. McGarrah, who was president of the New York Federal Reserve bank during the crash of 1929; John Raymond McCarl, first United States controler; Sol H. Goldberg, the multimillionaire hairpin king, and Allan A. Ryan, Wall street operator who cornered Stutz Motor stock in 1920, forcing the price from $70 to $724 a share.

Other Leaders Retire.

Retirements and resignations also caused many changes, bringing new executives into the "front offices." Albert Nathaniel Williams was elected president of the Lehigh Valley railroad, succeeding Duncan J. Kerr, forced to retire by illness.

Gordon S. Rentschler was named to the chairmanship of the National City Bank of New York, filling a vacancy created by the death of James H. Perkins. Edwin J. Thomas became president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company after P. W. Litchfield retired, but retained the chairmanship. When Wendell L. Willkie resigned to campaign, Justin R. Whiting was elected head of Commonwealth and Southern corporation.

L. E. Block retired as chairman of Inland Steel company and was succeeded by Edward L. Ryerson Jr. Raymond H. Fogler resigned as president of Montgomery Ward & Co., and Sewell L. Avery, who held that position before, again took the job. Succeeding George L. Harrison, who resigned, Allan Sproul was elected president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Olds Heads U. S. Steel.

Named to the national defense advisory commission were three industrialists—William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors corporation; Ralph Budd, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, and Edward R. Stettinius Jr., chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation. After Stettinius resigned from the U. S. Steel chairmanship, Irving S. Olds was elected to replace him.

Capt. Torkild Rieber resigned as chairman of the Texas corporation, a petroleum concern, "because of certain publicity, detrimental to the company," arising from his association with a German commercial agent.

FIVE FEWER ESTATES ARE FILED IN PROBATE COURT THAN FOR '39

A total of 6,092 estates was docketed in the Probate court during the 1940 fiscal year ending Oct. 31, the annual court report showed yesterday. This was five less than the total filed in the preceding fiscal year. Frank Lyman, court clerk, made the report public.

The claims filed against estates numbered 13,062, or 1,630 more than in the 1939 fiscal year. Gross earnings of the office were $463,971, and the surplus over expenditures which was turned over to the county totaled $129,197. The gross earnings exceeded the similar figure for 1939 by $11,066, but the amount turned over to the county was $1,710 under last year's.

The purchase of $5,027 worth of additional supplies as a result of the new Probate court act which went into effect Jan. 1 was partly to blame for the decrease, Lyman said.

WAR PARALYSIS BLIGHT ON 1940 CURRENCY MARTS

All Trading Suspended in Several Units.

Paralysis as a result of the war in Europe struck the foreign exchange market a hard blow last year. However, all the world's leading currencies except the German mark were active during the first three months as capital fled from nations in the path of Nazi invasion.

Then on April 9, the day after the start of the occupation of Denmark and Norway, President Roosevelt proclaimed the "freezing" order with respect to balances of those two countries here, halting trading in their currencies.

The same "freezing" procedure followed on May 10 for the Low Countries, and the Netherlands guilder faded from the market at 53.08 cents and the Belgian belga at 16.56½ cents. When France sued Germany for peace on June 17 the "freezing" process was invoked by the United States against French balances and credits, and trading in the franc ceased at 2.18 cents.

The British pound sterling was under severe pressure as a result of the collapse of France, but a brief flurry occurred in the Swiss franc as European capital fled to Switzerland. There was also a mild flight of refugee capital to Sweden. English authorities, meanwhile, took further steps to protect the position of sterling by ruling that, effective as of June 8, all export contracts made after that date must be settled in "official sterling," which was then quoted far above the free market rate. Since that time the quotation on free sterling has moved up to the official sterling level.

Packard Reports:

PACKARD, distinguished as co-designer and largest builder of the famous Liberty motor in the war of '17-'18, is already active in the national service.

For more than a year, Packard has been building huge engines for the Navy's newest weapon — the patrol torpedo fleet. These 1350 horsepower giants stem from an aircraft engine design — and are precision-built to aviation standards. Many of these Packard engines have already gone to sea, and many more will soon start their "shakedown cruise."

In the air as well as on the sea

And before long Packard-built motors will be in the air as well as on the sea.

For Packard has been chosen to build the famous aviation motors which power those two swift fighters — Hurricanes and Spitfires. The groundwork for the production of these engines is well under way — and Packard experience will speed their building.

This reservoir of Packard experience — experience in building every type of motor, for everything from tanks to planes — is important. Important to the nation. And important to you, the car buyer.

And what about car production?

At Packard, the nation's defense needs come first — have a clear right-of-way. Fortunately, Packard is big enough to handle all of its present defense assignments and its regular job of motor car production — big enough to keep on doing its part for national prosperity, as well as for national defense, at the same time.

And into its 1941 cars Packard is building the quality and value for which it is just as famous as it is for engineering leadership.

Thanks to this policy, you are assured of a well-built soundly engineered car that has outstanding mechanical ruggedness, as well as outstanding smartness. It is your guarantee of a car that will be unusually economical to run and astonishingly trouble-free.

Before you buy any car, look into Packard's record for operating thriftiness and utter dependability. Then drive the new Packard, give it every test you can devise, and we are sure you'll decide it has everything you want in your next car . . . and at a price that makes Packard ownership easy. $907 to $5500, delivered in Detroit, State taxes extra.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

HURRICANES AND SPITFIRES — two of today's foremost fighter planes — use the Rolls-Royce engine exclusively. It is this famous war-tested engine that Packard has been assigned to build.

THE WATER WASPS OF THE NAVY — powered by Packard. The "Elco" patrol torpedo boat shown above is driven by three 1350 horsepower Packard engines — 4050 horsepower in all. Hundreds of these new super-engines will be produced.

HEIR TO IT ALL — 1941 Packards are heir to Packard's vast experience, and show it. They are marvels of thriftiness and long-lived ruggedness.

STEEL RECORDS FALL AS MILLS BUILD FOR WAR

New Peak in Production Forecast This Year.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

All records for the production of steel in the United States are expected to be broken during 1941 as the nation moves forward at full speed on defense weapons and materials. Production last year was estimated at 66,500,000 tons, which was an all-time high, exceeding the 1929 output of 61,400,000 tons—the previous record—by 8 per cent.

During the last year defense work consisted largely of preparation. This year factories are expected to hum as they turn out large quantities of tanks, rifles, cannon, shells, airplane parts, engines, and hundreds of other defense items made of steel.

To meet the big demand that is certain to be made on them the steel mills have a rated annual capacity of 83 million tons, according to Walter S. Tower, president of the American Iron and Steel institute. Further, there is a marginal capacity of from 10 to 12 per cent above the maximum accounted for in the necessity for closing down parts of plant facilities for repair or improvement.

Total 85 Million Tons.

This additional capacity, which may be used under unusual circumstances, may provide about 2 million more tons, bringing entire production on an annual basis to 85 million tons.

During this year control is expected to be exerted to a larger degree over steel shipments, with priorities in effect to keep this essential raw material moving into defense channels. Application of these priorities may curtail production of steel used for nonmilitary purposes, such as passenger automobiles.

However, a hopeful condition for domestic consumers of steel is the fact the steel industry, foreseeing the additional demands which would be made, has already moved to enlarge its production facilities. New electric furnaces, which produce special purpose alloy products, such as stainless steel, are being built and may add 900,000 tons of annual productive capacity, or 50 per cent. Open hearth furnaces, including two just announced by the Wisconsin steel division of International Harvester company, will be installed during the year and add about 1,500,000 tons of production facilities. Other additions include a few new blast furnaces, hundreds of coke ovens, and new rolling equipment.

Operate at Virtual Capacity.

During the last half of 1940 steel mills were operated at virtual capacity and from all present indications this situation is expected to continue thruout 1941. Capacity operation is expected to result in substantial profits for most of the steel companies, some of which had lean earnings in several years prior to 1937.

During the long period of low production the steel companies undertook large scale improvement programs to minimize unemployment in the industry. It is estimated that about $1,500,000,000 was spent for plant improvements.

This vast expansion, which some regarded unwarranted when undertaken, is expected to work to the advantage of the industry in two ways. First, it puts the big steel mills in position to serve the nation at a time when that need is most acute. Second, it materially strengthens the profit ability of the various companies.

Average Employment 550,000.

The industry employed an average of 550,000 persons during 1940, or about 20 per cent more than in 1929. Wages paid totaled about $950,000,000, or 13 per cent more than in 1929 despite a shorter working week.

In the field of employment the steel companies anticipated the present needs several years ago when they established training courses for high school and college men to fill the many supervisory, executive, and technical positions. This policy supplied the trained personnel that now enables the steel plants to operate day and night.

Close to 90,000 persons are engaged in the manufacture and sale of steel in the Chicago district, which includes what are rated the two largest single mills in the world—the Gary and South Works mills of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation. Steel leads all other industries in the Chicago area, employing more people than the meat packing industry, once the city's largest employer.

11 Million Man Hours Lost in Strikes, Says Iron Age

New York, Jan. 1 [Special].—The magazine Iron Age estimated today that 11,000,000 man-hours of labor had been lost in strikes in this country during the last year. Of 45 principal strikes in the steel, metal working, and other industries covered in the survey 34 occurred in plants having government contracts, the magazine said.

TO PAY ON BRAZIL BONDS.

Ladenburg, Thalman and Company as special agents are notifying holders of city of Porto Alegro, Brazil, 40 year 7½ per cent bonds of 1925, that sufficient funds have been deposited with it to make a payment of 13 per cent of the face amount of the coupons, due July 1, 1938. This amounts to $4.87½ for each $37.50 coupon and $2.43¾ for each $18.75 coupon.

served as presidents of Chicago railroads. They were L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central, Fred W. Sargent of the North Western, and W. B. Storey of the Santa Fe.

AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK

The American National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago announced 1940 net earnings of $332,005, equivalent to $33.20 a share, compared with $295,687, or $29.56 a share, in 1939.

Total deposits at the end of the year amounted to $79,089,872, against $69,611,149 as of Dec. 30, 1939. Demand deposits increased from $57,690,992 to $68,631,136, while savings deposits rose from $5,400,405 to $6,092,428. The bank's total resources increased from $73,855,969 to $84,433,856. Loans and discounts totaled $21,399,701, compared with $16,957,052 at the end of 1939. In a report to stockholders, Lawrence F. Stern, president, observed that the increase in loans more than kept pace with the bank's growth in deposits, with the ratio of loans to deposits being 27.1 per cent, against 24.4 per cent at the end of 1939.

Undivided profits came to $551,035, against $554,030 at the end of 1939. In December the bank's surplus account was doubled by the transfer of $1,000,000 from undivided profits and reserves, bringing the surplus to $2,000,000.

HARRIS TRUST AND SAVINGS

Net profit of the Harris Trust and Savings bank for 1940 was $1,304,921, equal to $21.75 a share, Albert W. Harris, chairman of the board, and Howard W. Fentop, president, reported. For 1939 net profit was $1,235,128, equal to $20.58 a share.

Total deposits on Dec. 31 were $314,405,424, compared with $270,291,607 a year earlier, an increase of $44,113,816, or 16.32 per cent. The sum of $584,921 was transferred from earnings to undivided profits, bringing that item to $4,021,906.

The report showed that the rate of net earnings on the $17,750,941 average capital employed was 7.35 per cent, compared with a rate of 7.15 per cent on $17,268,819 in 1939.

NORTHERN TRUST COMPANY

The Northern Trust company reported 1940 profit of $912,306, equal to $30.41 a share, compared with 1939 profits of $906,914, or $30.23 a share.

Loans and discounts as of Dec. 31 totaled $44,500,036, compared with $38,284,682 on Dec. 31, 1939. Total deposits were $397,232,947, compared with $369,946,356; savings deposits were $82,263,988, against $80,001,286, and holdings of government securities totaled $110,454,878, compared with $103,238,348.

CITY NATIONAL BANK

City National Bank and Trust company of Chicago reported earnings for 1940 of $422,331, equal to $10.55 a share, compared with $364,078, or $9.10 a share, for 1939. Gross income was somewhat higher and operating expense was reduced notwithstanding the added costs of social security taxes and increased federal deposit insurance, according to the report.

"With government bonds and high grade corporate obligations currently selling at all time high levels, the bank has continued to confine its investments to short term securities, thereby minimizing the possibilities of loss thru price shrinkage," Gen. Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the board, and Philip R. Clarke, president, said in a report to stockholders. "Its holdings of United States government securities have an average maturity of less than 1⅓ years.

"Meanwhile the bank has been attaining a noteworthy expansion in commercial loans with every expectation that additional credit accommodations will result from the vigorous effort it is making to finance the needs of business institutions engaged in the work of national defense."

UPPER AVENUE NATIONAL

Profit of the Upper Avenue National Bank of Chicago in 1940 amounted to $93,500, or $31.17 a share, compared with $111,275, or $37.10 a share, in 1939, Henry C. Murphy, president, reported to stockholders.

ACTION TO END MONEY RIGGING IS PRAISED BY CHICAGO BANKERS

A. W. Harris calls action step in right direction.

Leading Chicago bankers last night praised the action taken by the federal reserve board and the board's advisory council. They said adoption of the measures should strengthen the monetary system of the nation.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the board of the City National Bank and Trust company and a former Vice President of the United States, said that the recommendation for the doubling of the maximum reserve requirements would be beneficial.

"Such a step," he said, "would strengthen the foundation of the future credit structure of the nation and at the same time would not lessen the supply of credits now available to business. Were the reserve requirements increased there would still be plenty of credit for business."

Gen. Dawes said that the proposal to finance defense and ordinary needs of the government by the sale of securities to investors instead of to banks probably would cost the government more money but eventually should be helpful to the national credit. He said he considered all the other recommendations "good."

"A step in the right direction," was the comment of Albert W. Harris, chairman of the board of the Harris Trust and Savings bank. Harris said he did not care to make detailed comment on the board's recommendations until he had time to study them further.

Other bankers, refusing to be quoted, said privately that they approved the board's recommendations in general.

New Zealand Makes Large Shipment of Gold by Air

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 1 (AP).—A consignment of $250,000 in gold arrived from New Zealand today aboard the American Clipper. Pan-American officials said it was one of the largest such shipments ever made by air. The gold was consigned to the Bank of America.

BASIC RESERVE BANK RATIOS IN EFFECT 24 YEARS

Gold Influx Causes a Shift in 1936.

The basic ratios of deposit reserves required of the more than 6,300 member banks of the federal reserve system have been in effect since 1917. The federal reserve board yesterday requested congress to raise the reserve requirements of the banks.

Current regulations require that all member banks in the system maintain with the 12 central reserve banks a reserve of 5 per cent against all their time [savings] deposits. Banks in the central reserve cities, New York and Chicago, must keep reserves of 22¾ per cent behind demand deposits [checking accounts]; those in 60 other large cities, 17½ per cent, and those in the rest of the country, 12 per cent.

In Effect Since 1938.

The current requirements, in effect since April 16, 1938, compare with the basic statutory rates of 3 per cent on savings deposits and 13, 10 and 7 per cent for the respective banking groups on checking deposits. The maximum to which these ratios can be raised under the present federal reserve act is twice the basic requirements.

From 1917 to 1936, the federal reserve board did not exercise its powers to boost the reserve ratios. It was able to influence the supply of money and credit by other controls. The heavy influx of gold into this country since 1934, however, caused a mounting volume of excess reserves [reserves of member banks in excess of statutory requirements].

Increased in 1936.

Fearing that the vast excess reserves would become the basis for harmful credit expansion, the reserve board raised member bank reserve requirements by 50 per cent on Aug. 16, 1936. Continued growth of excess reserves caused the board again to lift requirements 50 per cent—one half of the boost becoming effective March 1, 1937, and the other half, May 1, 1937. This brought the ratios to the maximum permitted by law.

The business recession late in 1937, however, led the board to reduce the reserve requirements on April 15, 1938, by about one eighth.

HARDWARE EXPORTS GAIN.

Hardware and allied products exported during November were valued at $5,554,791, 2 per cent larger than in October, the department of commerce announces. The total for the first 11 months of 1940 was $52,468,011, an increase of 30 per cent over 1939 figures.

WAR COSTS HOLD NEW FEARS FOR INSURANCE FIRMS

Threat of Federal Rule Hangs Over Business.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

The ever-threatening danger that the United States may become embroiled in the European war injects a new complication into the outlook for the nation's 35 billion dollar insurance industry.

A year ago leaders of the industry were preoccupied with plans to ward off the threat of federal regulation. Today they are concerned also with the possibility that their mortality losses will increase sharply if this country goes to war. War fatalities would increase the underwriting expenses of life insurance companies at a time when their investment yield is at the lowest rate in history.

The national defense program and the upturn in industrial activity present other problems for casualty insurance companies. Overtime employment and the introduction of new workers into unfamiliar surroundings tend to heighten the frequency of industrial accidents.

Would Increase Accidents.

Acceleration of armament production in the event of war would increase the probability of accidents. Fire insurance companies already have had to indemnify losses on plants engaged in defense work which were damaged or destroyed by explosions.

The insurance industry still is beset by two major worries which have plagued it in recent years—the overhanging threat of federal regulation and the unprecedented low level of return on high grade investments.

Insurance executives, however, are awaiting publication of the long-expected report of the congressional monopoly committee which investigated the life insurance business.

Seek Adequate Return.

The life insurance branch of the industry, with assets of about 31 billion dollars, continues to search for ways to obtain a more satisfactory return on its invested funds. Many companies during 1940 were forced to raise their premium rates. Further upward adjustments are predicted for 1941 if investment returns continue at present low levels. Investment earnings have dropped from 5.03 to 3.54 per cent in the last decade.

Life insurance outstanding at the beginning of 1941 totaled 117½ billion dollars, a new peak, according to an estimate by the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. This total represents a gain of 3.1 per cent during 1940. Life insurance sold last year approximated 12.7 billion dollars, about equal to the total for 1939.

AUTO INDUSTRY REACHES RECORD IN REGISTRATIONS

New York, Jan. 1 [Special.]—Raising motor vehicle registrations to a record peak of 31,950,000, the automobile industry in 1940 set its third highest production record in building 4,476,000 new cars and trucks valued at $3,012,100,000, the Automobile Manufacturers' association estimated today.

Production was 25 per cent above the 3,577,292, domestic output of 1939. Registrations were 4.4 per cent larger than the 30,615,087 vehicles operating in the United States at the end of 1939.

Pending final totals on output the association listed 1940 manufactures as 3,705,000 passenger cars and 771,000 trucks valued, respectively, at $2,413,800,000 and $598,300,000.

Lake Superior Shipbuilding Company Contract Is Near

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1 (AP).—Naval officials said today the formality of signing papers was all that remained to award a contract to the Lake Superior Shipbuilding company, Superior, Wis., for construction of two 10,000 barrel oil tankers.

AMERICA'S GOLD HOARD POSES A VALUE PROBLEM

Four Billion Acquired as Result of War.

has ended if other nations have been drained of the metal?

Spokesmen of the German government, sneering at the gold pile of nearly 22 billion dollars stored mostly at Fort Knox, Ky., have tried to convince us the metal is worthless, altho the Nazi forces are known to have taken the trouble to seize much gold in conquered countries.

Walther Funk, German minister of economics, declared the gold will lose its value because other nations, not having adequate supplies of it, will discard it as a medium of exchange.

"When you play marbles and one fellow wins all the marbles, the game ends," he said. "You have to think of a new game. When all the gold is in the United States and doesn't come out again, the world must think of some other medium of exchange."

Value Is Questioned Here.

Funk's view represented the most radical opinion. However, in the United States, more conservative commentators have questioned the usefulness of the hoarded gold. E. A. Goldenweiser, director of the federal reserve board's research and statistics division, asserted early in 1940: "The gold is of little value now, and its future value is unpredictable." However, he opposed abandonment of the administration's gold buying policy, saying cessation of purchases would create chaos in the exchange market and disturb business conditions and prices.

The treasury pays $35 an ounce for gold, which, until the gold content of the dollar was reduced in 1934, was worth $20.67 an ounce.

Aldrich Urges Free Use.

Nevertheless, Goldenweiser later advised the nation to stop worrying about the gold accumulation. "Gold might lose much of its value if the post-war world is completely unlike the world in which we are living," he said, "but if that comes to pass, the gold loss will be but incidental to other greater losses."

Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of Chase National bank, New York, termed the excess gold a menace to the nation's economic future, and urged that the metal be restored to unlimited circulation in the monetary system.

Termed Post-War Asset.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau and Edwin W. Kemmerer, professor of international finance at Princeton university, defended the gold accumulation as an asset that will be particularly valuable in rebuilding the world after the war.

On Jan. 6, 1940, the treasury's gold assets totaled $17,735,898,882. Latest figures disclosed that three days before the close of 1940, the holdings had soared to $21,981,693,552, or roughly 76 per cent of all the monetary gold in the world. The world stock, including additions resulting from production during 1940, is thought to be about $29,500,000,000.

GUIDE INQUIRIES SHOW INVESTORS LOOK FOR SAFETY

Tribune Service Answers 13,000 During Year.

Marked conservatism was displayed by investors who wrote to the Chicago Tribune Investors' Guide in 1940. The more than 13,000 inquiries answered by the department during the year disclosed that persons with moderate incomes were placing more emphasis upon the safety of their investments than upon the possible profits from price appreciation.

The cumulative total of inquiries received by the Investors' Guide since the service was started in June, 1914, was 457,500 at the end of 1940. The department is one of the oldest of its type conducted by a newspaper of general circulation.

Interest in Defense Industries.

Despite the conservative trend, a large segment of the questions last year was concerned with companies and industries which are direct or indirect beneficiaries of the national defense program.

However, the enthusiasm for war-profit securities was dampened somewhat by the passage of the excess profits tax and the increase in the normal corporate income tax rate to 24 per cent.

New interest in the old age pension and survivors benefits system developed during the year as many investors mapped out their life insurance programs to provide for some form of retirement or family income.

Social Security Inquiries.

In response to this demand for information about the social security law, the Investors' Guide prepared a simplified explanation of its general provisions and forms for estimating benefits. More than 800 of these forms were mailed to readers in the last half of the year.

Insurance companies were the subject of about one-tenth of the inquiries.

Renewed interest in the railroads, stimulated by the highest level of railroad earnings in about a decade, focused on companies emerging from or advancing thru the reorganization process.

Year's Stock Market Dull and Weak.

BY HERBERT VEDDER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 1.—War and taxes hang over Wall street like a pall today as a new year arrives to close the books on the glum, weak stock market of 1940.

With a show of its traditional type of optimism that can be turned to deepest gloom at the slightest hint of an ill wind, the investment and trading community is doing even more pencil chewing than ever. The big question is: which companies, which securities will be benefitted most by national defense activity, hurt least by the inevitably higher taxes that will cut deeper into profits? Also, what will happen when and if peace returns?

New Year Means Little.

To most of the Wall streeters the arrival of 1941 means little more than a change in the number of their calendars. They have been wrestling actively but inconclusively with the war and tax problem since the German invasion of Holland and Belgium last May. They still are at it.

Stock prices plummeted during the German successes of May and early June to strike a two year low. They rallied sharply in mid-June to recover part of their losses, and held firm in the face of France's surrender at the end of the month. Irregular movements, mostly to slightly higher levels, ruled for the rest of the year, except for a dip in November and another in December.

Averages Fall in Year.

THE TRIBUNE'S combined average for 25 industrial and 25 rail stocks showed a net decline of 16.18 points, closing at 93.82. This was the lowest year end level since 1937 and was approximately the same as at the close of 1933 and 1934. The year's high of 111.78 was touched Jan. 3, and the low of 82.32 was reached on June 10. The range of less than 30 points was almost a duplication of that during 1939.

The apathy in trading was reflected even more in withered volume figures. The total of 207,605,359 shares changing hands represented the poorest business year on the exchange since 1921, when the volume was 172,778,535, and was the second dullest since 1918. This compared with turnover of 263,015,799 in 1939 and the all time high of 1,224,990,980 in 1929.

A 24 year low for a full day was set with the 129,650 share turnover on Aug. 19. The biggest 1940 day, May 21, saw 3,939,510 shares change hands, compared with the 16,410,030 record set on Oct. 29, 1929.

A Bad Start in 1940.

The year began with prices drifting to their lowest levels since the "war baby" boom started in September, 1939. A mild recovery still left The Tribune average down 3.66 points for January. A further decline of 0.90 came in a narrow February market. Volume then was lowest since the early '20s.

The sharp May decline brought Wall street its busiest and giddiest month of the year. Volume of 38,968,968,832 shares was the heaviest for May since the recovery boomlet era of 1933. The biggest single day's trading of the year, 3,999,510 shares, came on May 21.

Average Drops 22 Points.

The 22 point drop in the average was the largest for any month since the 33.04 slash in September, 1931. The loss of 15.45 in the first week of the German invasion also was the largest week's drop in almost 10 years, and brought the largest weekly turnover since September, 1939.

The market value of shares listed on the New York Stock exchange was slashed almost 10¼ billion dollars during the month, falling to $36,546,583,208—from $32.35 to $25.26 per share. From a high of 108.60 on May 3 the Tribune average dropped to a low of 82.87 on May 28 when the Belgian capitulation caused a further break.

Net recovery in the last six months of the year was limited to a few points.

BETTS PREDICTS BIGGER YEAR FOR CHICAGO BOARD

Cites 3 Moves to Make It More Independent.

Extension by the Chicago Stock exchange of its "independent pattern of growth" during 1941 was forecast by Arthur M. Betts, chairman of the board of governors. The exchange will be equipped to give greater service than ever before when world and domestic conditions become more settled and normal security trading returns, he declared.

The organization last year took three definite steps to increase volume and to gain stature, stimulated by its clash with the New York Stock exchange over the latter's ban on its members dealing on other exchanges in stocks also listed in New York.

Lengthens Trading Day.

These measures were the lengthening of the trading session, waiving of the original listing fees for a time, and the appointment of new Chicago odd lot dealers and specialists who would not be subject to the rules of the "Big Board."

Full lot volume has increased 17.2 per cent since the addition of half an hour on Saturdays and an hour on other days to the trading period, Betts said.

Volume on the stock exchange was the lowest in decades, but the Chicago mart decline from 1939 was less than that of all listed trading. Transactions during 1940 involved 6,850,000 shares, compared with 8,420,000s hares, exclusive of 904,050 rights, during 1939.

May Most Active Month.

Dollar volume for the first 11 months last year amounted to $141,553,430, against $178,028,869 for all of 1939.

Under the influence of the flurry caused by the Nazi invasion of the Low Countries, May was the most productive month. Turnover totaled 1,055,000 shares, more than double the 399,000 shares of June when the market sank into the doldrums again. Trading during May involved $22,747,020, compared with $16,172,197 in April and $9,686,573 in June.

WAR BOOM SENDS CANADA ACTIVITY INDICES TO PEAKS

Material Orders Nearing Billion Mark.

BY GEORGE SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 1.—Due to the persistent demands of war the index of Canada's industrial activity is now at an all-time peak to date. The idex of employment at the beginning of November was also at a new high, and there were numerous signs to suggest that industry has not yet caught its full stride.

Canadian Finance Minister Ilsley.

Government war orders are the key to its unprecedented pace. As of Nov. 11, the orders placed totaled $849,000,000, of which $540,000,000 was for Canadian account and $309,000,000 for British. These figures cover purchases of war equipment and supplies and do not include soldiers' pay, which is bulking large in Canada's increased spending power, which, in its turn, has pushed up to a new peak.

Provides Needed Capital.

Neither do these figures include the government's program of capital assistance to industry, in which 146 projects have been started at a proposed cost of $255,000,000. Many of these plants have been completed and are in operation.

J. L. Ilsley, minister of finance, recently stated that the increase in Canadian employment, from the beginning of the war until October, 1940, was 350,000 persons, not including some 200,000 men under arms. When industrial expansion reaches its peak during the coming year, war products will be produced to a money value now estimated at between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 annually.

Assets of chartered Canadian banks in 1914 at the outbreak of the world war totaled $1,568,000,000. At the beginning of the present war they totaled $2,406,000,000. On Oct. 31, 1940, they stood at $3,711,000,000.

Bank Loans Expanding.

Current bank loans, which reflect the tempo of industry, have increased sharply. On Aug. 31, 1939, they were reported at $816,000,000. By Oct. 31, 1940, they had increased to $1,024,000,000. This increase in loans in Canada since the war began was not equaled during the entire four years of the 1914-'18 war.

Canadian industrial activity and spending power have undoubtedly increased and, assuming a continuation of the war, they are scheduled for still higher levels. But already checks have been applied to domestic spending power along lines which interfere with war effort.

On Dec. 2 the minister of finance introduced a new budget which imposed taxes designed, in part, to check what appeared to be a sharp trend toward steeply increased popular purchasing unrelated to the war.

Bans Many Import Items.

The government has also sought to offset the natural tendency toward an inflationary movement by discouraging individual spending by prohibiting imports of a long list of articles which formerly came from the United States and other countries and thru heavy taxes on luxuries.

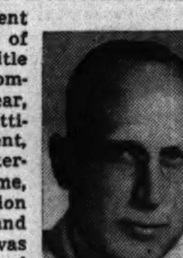
These measures have, on the whole, served the nation's economy very well so far; tho with expenditures running around $3,000,000 a day the longer range effect of war on Canadian economics still has to be decided.

Utility Industry Revenues Gain 5.4 Per Cent Over '39

New York, Jan. 1 [Special].—Revenues of the electric power and light industry in 1940 aggregated approximately $2,413,000,000, an increase of $124,000,000, or 5.4 per cent over the 1939 total, the Edison Electric institute reported today.

GAINS IN REALTY HELP BOOST CHICAGO TITLE AND TRUST EARNINGS

Increased real estate transactions in the Chicago area contributed to the improvement in earnings of the Chicago Title and Trust company last year, Holman D. Pettibone, president, reported yesterday. Net income, after provision for reserves and depreciation, was $1,285,433, equal to $10.71 a share, against $1,170,355, or $10.26 a share, in 1939.



Holman D. Pettibone.

Real estate sales cleared thru the company's escrow department in 1940 increased 19 per cent in number and 35 per cent in value over those of 1939, he said. In the trust division, he said, it is "increasingly difficult to earn a satisfactory return on funds available for investment in bonds or mortgages" but net income from investments in stocks and improved real estate has risen.

"There is an evident trend to select Chicago trust companies to serve as trustees for business enterprises whose main offices are in Chicago," he observed. The company is in its 94th year.

'TWAS A RECORD TWELVEMONTH IN MANY INDUSTRIES

Here Are Some Major Achievements.

Some of the major achievements of industry in 1940 were as follows:

Steel production rose to 66,500,000 tons, topping the previous record of 61,432,000 tons in 1929.

Machine tool manufacturers, twice as busy as in 1939, produced $400,000,000 of lathes, drill presses and other tools in establishing a new record.

With a total output of around $625,000,000 of goods, airplane makers nearly tripled the previous record made the year before.

More automobiles and trucks were in use than ever before, while automobile sales approached the 1929 peak.

Americans bought or produced more radio sets, aluminum, oil burners, coal stokers, cigarets, paper, manufactured foods, dairy products, electrical appliances and printed matter than in any previous year.

The federal reserve board index of industrial production indicated more goods of all types were produced for each person than ever before.

ILLINOIS RECORD FOR WATERWAY FREIGHT IS SET

Carter Jenkins, state waterways engineer, said yesterday that waterway traffic in Illinois in 1940 set a record.

"The 1940 shipping volume set a new high for all time in Illinois waterway annals," he said. "Packaged freight, paper, sugar, grain, petroleum products, and coal, have been shipped by water from Gulf and Mississippi valley points in unprecedented quantities, and large volumes of goods have been sent downstream to southern points."

Jenkins estimated that more than 7,000,000 tons of shipping will be shown when the final tonnage reports of the Illinois deep waterway system for the year are compiled.

Plan 2 Ships to Convert Into Airplane Carriers

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1 (AP).—The maritime commission announced today its intention to order two 35,000 ton possenger vessels with a speed of more than 24 knots and "capable of quick conversion into aircraft carriers." The ships will be 759 feet long and, with aircraft carrier use in mind, will have stacks on the starboard side.

Official Weather Forecast

The United States weather bureau forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

INDIANA: Cloudy and colder Thursday, rain in north and east; fair and slightly colder Friday.

UPPER MICHIGAN: Rain or snow Thursday, slightly warmer in extreme east; cloudy and colder Friday with occasional light snow.

MINNESOTA: Cloudy, snow in north central and east, colder Thursday; Friday fair in west and south, cloudy northeast, colder in north central and east.

OHIO: Rain and warmer Thursday; rain and colder Thursday night; Friday generally fair and colder except some snow flurries and colder in northeast.

PLANE MAKERS NEAR QUANTITY OUTPUT GOAL

	Jan. 1, 1940.	Jan. 1, 1941.
Square feet of factory working space	11,983,896	22,300,000
Productive workers	60,000	165,000

The East.

Bell Aircraft, Buffalo, N. Y., increased floor space from 210,000 to 435,000 square feet; personnel from 1,160 to 4,300.

Brewster Aeronautical, Long Island City, N. Y., floor space from 170,000 to 850,000 square feet; personnel from 960 to 6,700.

Curtiss Aeroplane, Buffalo and St. Louis, floor space from 799,000 to 949,000 square feet; personnel from 4,981 to 11,600.

Fairchild Aircraft, Hagerstown, Md., floor space from 84,000 to 105,000 square feet; personnel from 485 to 1,210.

Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore, Md., floor space from 1,103,000 to 1,663,000 square feet; personnel from 13,000 to 17,500.

Republic Aviation, Farmington, L. I., floor space from 200,000 to 230,000 square feet; personnel from 1,350 to 2,650.

Vought-Sikorsky, Stratford, Conn., floor space from 300,000 to 370,000 square feet; personnel from 1,600 to 4,500.

The West.

Boeing Aircraft, Seattle, Wash., floor space from 921,000 to 1,636,000 square feet; personnel from 6,500 to 10,000.

Consolidated Aircraft, San Diego, Cal., floor space from 961,500 square feet to 1,700,000 square feet; personnel from 3,200 to 14,000.

Lockheed Aircraft, Burbank, Cal., floor space from 668,000 to 1,139,205 square feet; personnel from 7,400 to 17,400.

North American Aviation, Inglewood, Cal., floor space from 600,000 to 1,012,680 square feet; personnel from 4,800 to 8,500.

Northrop Aircraft, Hawthorne, Cal., floor space from 13,000 to 516,000 square feet; personnel from 73 to 2,600.

Ryan Aeronautical, San Diego, Cal., floor space from 80,000 to 160,000 square feet; personnel from 600 to 1,500.

Auto Makers Given Rôle.

The year is noteworthy for the appearance of automobile manufacturers in the aircraft field as parts producers. This has not been seen since 1918, when these same manufacturers were asked to assist in production.

Henry Ford is building 3,000 Pratt & Whitney Double Wasp engines of 2,000 horse power each. The Packard Motor company is tooling for 67 million dollars' worth of Rolls Royce Merlin [British] aircraft engines to be used jointly by Britain and the United States.

General Motors already is engaged in the motors business thru its Allison Engine division at Indianapolis. And crankshafts and connecting rods of the Allison liquid cooled V-12 motor powering the United States' latest pursuit planes are made in General Motors plants at Detroit.

Other Companies Lend Hand.

Studebaker corporation and Chrysler corporation are being asked to assist in engine parts making. Continental Motors corporation and the Lycoming division of Aviation corporation also are soon to be working almost exclusively on aircraft motors.

In the vast boom that has come to the airplane and engine manufacturers, the tidy advances made by the commercial air lines—the Cinderella portion of the industry in 1939—have been almost overlooked. Nevertheless the air lines have increased their total miles flown, passengers carrier, and their profits. These would have been higher except for a series of accidents during the last quarter.

While accurate reports are not available, it is indicated now that every one of the 18 air line operators will report a profit for 1940. A number will shave the red line closely.

T. W. A. in Big Comeback.

The greatest comeback of the year was that of Transcontinental & Western Air, with its four motored Stratoliners. These ships, first pressurized transport planes, and first four motored land planes to go into regular service in the United States, apparently have set a new style that will be followed by most of the major lines this year when the production model of the Douglas DC-4 becomes available.

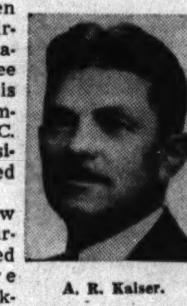
The safety record set by the air lines during the last three quarters of 1939 and the first half of 1940 undoubtedly is responsible for the financial showing of the transport companies. The outlook for 1941 is not good, despite public interest in aviation at large, unless safety can again be emphasized by another long period of accident-free flying.

City Residential Building 32 Per Cent Above 1939

The city building department reported to Mayor Kelly yesterday that 2,098 family residences were built in 1940, 32 per cent more than in 1939. The report said there was an increase of 23.5 per cent in the total number of buildings erected compared with 1939. The total cost of buildings erected in Chicago in 1940 was $39,694,346.

A. R. KAISER NAMED TAX CHAIRMAN FOR STATE TRADE GROUP

A. R. Kaiser, general manager of the tax department of Sears, Roebuck & Co., has been appointed chairman of the taxation committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, Roy C. Ingersoll, president, announced yesterday.



A. R. Kaiser.

Other new committee chairmen appointed for 1941 are George D. Wilkinson, president of Cribben & Sexton, ways and means committee; H. E. Newcomet, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, transportation committee; Bentley G. McCloud, vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago, finance and budget committee, and L. E. LeVerone, vice president of the Stein, Hall Manufacturing company, interstate trade barriers committee.

Five other committee chairmen were reappointed. Ingersoll said that Kaiser will have the help of a committee of 40 other business men in working out a tax modernization program.

YEAR'S INCOME PAYMENTS MAY TOP 74 BILLIONS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1 (AP).—The department of commerce estimated today that income payments to individuals spurred by increased pay rolls in defense industries, may reach more than $74,000,000,000 for 1940, compared with $70,096,000,000 for 1939.

The actual figure for the first 11 months of 1940 was $66,897,000,000, but the department said its income index is expected to close the year at the highest point since the first quarter of 1930.

The 11 month total included: Salaries and wages, $42,758,000,000; dividends and interest, $8,050,000,000; management income and net rents and royalties $13,399,000,000, and social security benefits and direct relief $2,690,000,000.

The department said income payments to individuals should not be confused with "the national income," which the administration often has said it wanted to boost to at least $80,000,000,000. It defined national income as the "value of the net commodity and service output of the nation's producing enterprises."

C. I. O. UNIONIST'S PLANE SPEEDUP PLAN REJECTED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1 (AP).—The Reuther plan for utilizing automotive industry facilities to turn out 500 warplanes a day was termed impracticable today by defense production experts.

The plan, calling for use of idle automobile plants and machinery to stepup aircraft production, was suggested by Walter Reuther, director of organization for C. I. O.'s United Automoble workers at General Motors plants, and submitted to President Roosevelt.

Production experts said that various difficulties made it impossible to adopt the plan, but asserted the facilities of auto plants would be enlisted in plane production under present schedules as rapidly as other elements in the industrial situation would permit.

TVA RECEIVES 15 MILLIONS FOR POWER IN YEAR

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1 (AP).—The Tennessee Valley authority reported to congress today that it had received $15,285,000 from its power operations during the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1940.

This, it said, yielded an income after all expenses except interest equal to a return of 3.6 per cent on the authority's power investment.

TVA, the report continued, sold approximately 3,600,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity during the year. The directors claimed that under TVA resale rates all classes of customers saved approximately $9,000,000.

WAR INTENSIFIES TRADE PROBLEMS OF LATIN NATIONS

Lack Dollar Exchange to Boost U. S. Purchases.

South America, salesmen's "land of mañana" [tomorrow] where business men never make a decision today if they can put it off, is facing some serious problems in its commercial dealings with the rest of the world as a result of the European war.

A situation which international trade authorities consider critical has developed in most South American countries from the difficulty of finding markets for the goods they have to sell and raising foreign exchange to pay for the goods they buy.

Here are some of the complications that have arisen from the war to plague Latin nations in their foreign commercial dealings:

1. Because its markets in Europe have been shattered, South America has lost about 60 per cent of its foreign exchange producing export trade.

Turns to United States.

2. South America, which in the past has bought its imports in Europe to a large extent because of traditional economic and cultural ties, no longer can buy in important quantities from any old world country except England, and has had to turn to the United States for manufactured articles.

3. But South America, on the whole, cannot raise enough United States dollars to buy all the import goods it needs. That is because most of the Latin nations have not been able to sell goods in this market in sufficient quantities. Chicago exporters estimate that this country could double its sales to South America if the nations there could raise the dollars with which to buy from us.

4. South American nations have increased their trade with the United States, but the range of immediate expansion is limited because many of their important exports are of the kind which the United States produces in excess and puts on the world market.

Loans Tried As Stimulant.

In efforts to stimulate trade, the Export-Import bank of Washington, D. C., a federal agency, has extended many millions of dollars of loans and credits to the Latin neighbor nations, but some trade authorities have questioned whether such expedients can be of permanent value.

United States exporters have encountered numerous barriers in their efforts to increase trade with South America. The barriers take the form of intricate exchange controls, import licensing systems, tax regulations, quotas, and other devices to produce or save foreign exchange for international payments.

Another difficulty which United States exporters experienced was the blocked currency device which Germany and England used in South America in their efforts to capture that market. By this device, Germany bought South American goods and made payment in "aski" marks which could be used by the recipient only to pay for German goods.

In the case of England, the same principal was applied to sterling, but with an additional provision that the sterling could be used to pay dividends and interest on South American securities held by the British.

Credits Are Problem.

A related barrier that has hindered expansion of trade between this country and South America is the problem of credits. South American merchants generally demand more time in which to pay for goods than do business men in this country. In the past, European nations extended such long-time credits as a matter of course.

Practices vary in different South American countries, but credit ranging from 60 to 120 days is common, Chicago exporters said. But that is not the whole problem of credit. After the buyer has said "mañana, mañana" to the salesman several times, met him socially and otherwise managed to put off a decision, he agrees to make payment within a specified time in the national currency to a bank, usually the national bank of the country [because of exchange regulations].

Delayed Many Months.

When the bank has received the payment, it has to wait until it can obtain United States dollars to pass on to the United States seller of the good.

In the face of all these barriers, trade between America and its Latin neighbors has increased since the European war began. In the 12 months to Sept. 1, 1940, covering the first year of the war, United States exports to Latin America, including Mexico and Central America as well as South America, climbed 42.4 per cent to $789,500,000, from $554,600,000 in the preceding 12 months. Imports into this country from Latin America increased to $649,400,000, from $499,900,000 in the preceding 12 months.

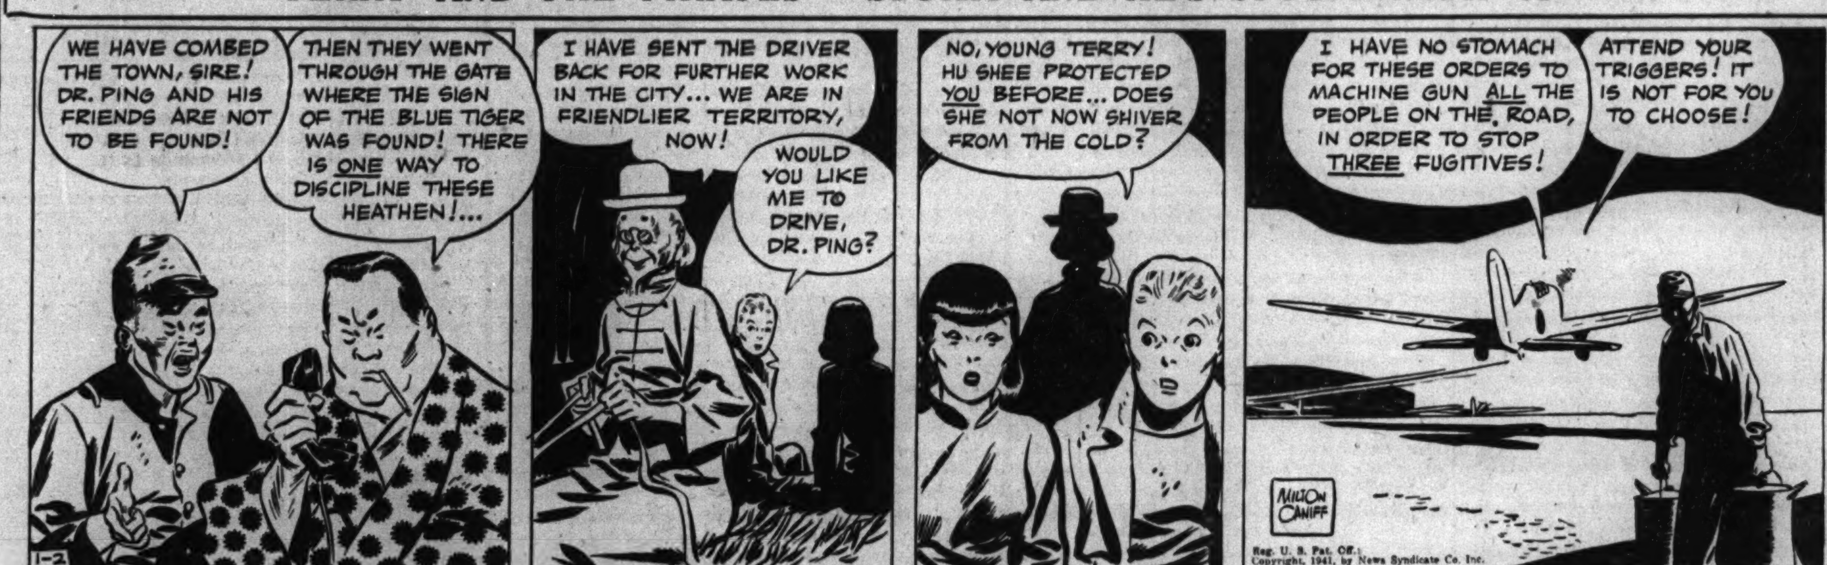
TERRY AND THE PIRATES — STUKA AND HE'S STUCK WITH IT



WE HAVE COMBED THE TOWN, SIRE! DR. PING AND HIS FRIENDS ARE NOT TO BE FOUND!
THEN THEY WENT THROUGH THE GATE WHERE THE SIGN OF THE BLUE TIGER WAS FOUND! THERE IS ONE WAY TO DISCIPLINE THESE HEATHEN!...
I HAVE SENT THE DRIVER BACK FOR FURTHER WORK IN THE CITY... WE ARE IN FRIENDLIER TERRITORY, NOW!
WOULD YOU LIKE ME TO DRIVE, DR. PING?
I HAVE NO STOMACH FOR THESE ORDERS TO MACHINE GUN ALL THE PEOPLE ON THE ROAD, IN ORDER TO STOP THREE FUGITIVES!
ATTEND YOUR TRIGGERS! IT IS NOT FOR YOU TO CHOOSE!
